SULZER MEASURES MARKED FOR DEFEAT

Leaders Plan to Kill Direct Nominations and Wall Street Bills.

TO HOLD UP NOMINATIONS

Until Up-State Service Commissioners Are Chosen—Governor Favors Murtaugh Compensation Bill.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 22.—With the legislative session drawing to its close, the Democratic leaders to-day took the situation firmly in hand and agreed upon a definite programme, which will spell defeat for the Sulzer Direct Nominations bill and some of the Governor's other pet measures.

Here is the organization programme, briefly outlined:

To adjourn sine die on Friday, May 2.

To defeat the Direct Nominations bill providing for the abolition of the State Convention and doing away with the designation by party committees for preferred places on the primary ballot.

To kill in the Senate Judiciary Committee the Governor's bills providing for the incorporation of the New York Stock Exchange and other Exchanges and the bill limiting the rate of interest on call loans to 15 per cent. per annum.

To adjourn without passing any too radical a workmen's compensation act.

To offer no objection to any of the nominations sent to the Senate by Gov. Sulzer so far, except possibly the nomination of John Mitchell for Labor Commissioner and Judge John B. Riley for State Superintendent of Prisons, to succeed Col. Joseph F. Scott.

To defer a favorable report on acceptable nominations until the time when all the Governor's nominations have been sent in.

This last agreement is to guard against any departure on the part of Gov. Sulzer from the present arrangement that the two vacancies on the Public Service Commission for the Second District shall be filled by the appointment of George M. Palmer, Democratic State Chairman, and William E. Leffingwell of Watkins, both of whom are out-and-out organization men, entirely acceptable to Charles F. Murphy. If the Governor fails to appoint these men, the organization leaders may enter upon reprisals which will result in the defeat of some of the men whose nominations have already been sent to the Senate.

Opposition to Eugene M. Strouss.

Gov. Sulzer to-day added another appointee to the list sent to the Senate at the session last night. He is Eugene M. Strouss of Rochester, who was nominated for the vacant position on the State Hospital Commission. The Governor early in the session nominated Milton Gibbs, a Rochester lawyer, for this place. Mr. Gibbs was defeated by a unanimous vote of the Senate after an investigation by the Senate Finance Committee, in the course of which Mr. Gibbs was compelled to admit on the stand that he had "held out" damages allotted through a settlement out of court from some poor Italian clients.

Mr. Strouss is a lawyer and a member of the anti-Tammany faction in the Democratic organization of Monroe County. This faction now controls the Monroe organization, but Thomas E. Finucane, former Democratic State Committeeman from the district and one of Murphy's political cronies, still wields strong influence with the organization element in the Senate, and there is no doubt that pressure will be brought to bear to bring about the rejection of Mr. Strouss by the Senate. Mr. Strouss had the indorsement of George E. Noeth, Chairman of the Monroe County Democratic Committee, and of Louis H. Antisdale, the Rochester editor, who is looked upon as the real leader of the Progressive Democrats in the county.

Direct Nominations Bill Introduced

The Governor's Direct Nominations bill was introduced in the lower house to-day. Under the rules, bills can be introduced in the Assembly at this stage of the session only by unanimous consent. There was no objection, however, when Assemblyman Mark Eisner of the Seventeenth (New York) District asked permission to present it. When it was offered last night an objection was interposed by Assemblyman John R. Yale (Republican) of Putnam. The Governor said to-day that he was rather proud of having a reactionary like Mr. Yale offer objections to his bill.

In the Assembly the Sulzer bill was referred to the Committee on Rules. If such a course is deemed the wise one to pursue, this famous committee will undoubtedly have nerve enough to hold it in a vice-like grip and wait for the Senate bill to come over to the House, which in all probability it never will. Speaker Smith said to-night that the Assembly procedure with regard to the Governor's Direct Nominations bill had not been decided upon as yet. In the Senate a programme has been mapped out. It is the intention of the organization leaders in the upper house to have the Judiciary Committee report the bill in its original form and to defeat it after a debate on the floor. The general opinion expressed to-night is that direct nominations on the Sulzer pattern have not a chance in either house.

Progressives for the Blauvelt Bill.

The Assembly to-day hurled defiance at Gov. Sulzer by passing by an overwhelming vote the Blauvelt bill, which takes some of the kinks out of the present direct primary law, but does not change it in any of its essentials. Above all, it does not provide for the abolition of the State Convention, nor does it to any appreciable extent curtail the power wielded by party organizations in working their sweet will via what is a direct primary route after a fashion. The Governor has made it perfectly plain that he is opposed to the Blauvelt bill, and that he intends to veto it when it comes to him for approval.

The Assembly passed the Blauvelt bill by a vote of 104 to 21. The affirmative vote was furnished by Democrats and by Progressives. All the latter, with the exception of Assemblyman Schaaps, Progressive leader in the lower house, who happened to be absent, voted for the bill. Only four Republicans were recorded in its favor—Baumes of Orange, Gillett of Yates, Knight of Wyoming, and Wood of the Fulton-Hamilton district.

Before the bill was passed the Assembly voted down, 36 to 79, six amendments offered on behalf of the Republican minority. One of these amendments provided for the making of all nominations by petition, thus abolishing the party designating committees, which have been a powerful weapon in the hands of the bosses while the present primary system has been in force.

Some inkling of the Governor's strength in the Assembly was given through the declaration of members that they reserved for themselves the right to vote for a more drastic primary law if it should come before the

MAY WIRTH BADLY HURT.

Barnum & Bailey Champion Rider Dragged Around Circus Ring.

Miss May Wirth, who appears on the programmes of Barnum & Bailey's Circus as "the champion bareback rider of the world," was seriously injured last night when she was thrown from her favorite white Arabian horse Juno. While the big crowd in the tent at Wyckoff and Myrtle Avenues, Brooklyn, where the show is now being presented, looked on helplessly, Miss Wirth was dragged around the ring four times.

Miss Wirth appeared in the centre ring to do her act at 10 o'clock. She was greeted by a great outburst of applause when she successfully did a double somersault on the back of her horse. Then as she was bowing to the crowd and about to leave the ring her foot slipped. In falling she caught her right foot in a rope stirrup used by circus attendants who cling to the horse during part of the performance. The frightened animal started on a wild dash about the ring.

Before the attendants could stop the horse Miss Wirth was tossed a dozen times against the wooden embankment and dragged back into the ring. Once she was pulled beneath the feet of Juno; and half the people in the audience rose to their feet in horror. Miss Wirth was unconscious when she was rescued, and there was a deep wound over her right ear. Her body was a mass of bruises. Dr. Grabill, the circus physician, said that while no bones were broken, Miss Wirth would be unable to appear again for two or three weeks. Miss Wirth was born in Australia, eighteen years ago, and is an orphan. She is a favorite with the circus crowds, and her act is billed as one of the features.

WATCH YOUR CHECKS.

If Money Is Drawn on Series of Forgeries, Bank Is Not Responsible.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 22.—A trust company is not liable for loss of money through failure of principals or agents to give proper attention to their checking accounts, according to a decision of the Court of Appeals to-day. Judge Hiscock wrote the opinion.

The case was that of J. Hewitt Morgan and Rudolph H. Kissel, as trustees, against the United States Mortgage and Trust Company, to recover $34,675 alleged to be due them from funds which they had on deposit as trustees. The trust company answered that the entire amount had been checked out on twenty-eight checks, which were found to be forgeries. The case has been tried twice. On the first trial, before Justice William S. Andrews, the plaintiffs received a judgment of $23,667, which was reversed. In the second trial, before Justice Edgar S. K. Merrill, a verdict was directed for the defendant on the ground that the plaintiffs were guilty of contributory negligence in the management of their deposit account in not discovering the forgeries.

The plaintiffs were trustees of the estate of David P. Morgan, and the forgeries were committed by James P. Hennessey, a clerk of Kissel, who had charge of his personal and trustee accounts. The trustees used a rubber stamp in signing checks. This stamp was in the possession of Hennessey and was used by him. The forgeries were of Morgan's name in addition to the rubber stamp.

When the checks were returned from the trust company they were received and filed away by Hennessey. The court held that the trustees were negligent in not scrutinizing such checks as were returned after payment.

SIMS INQUIRY BEGINS.

Several Witnesses Describe Banker's Attack on Representative.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—The Congressional investigation of the assault upon Representative Sims by C. C. Glover, a banker, got under way to-day before the committee appointed by Speaker Clark.

Mr. Sims described the incident in detail. Capt. Charles McAllister of the Revenue Cutter Service testified he heard Mr. Glover say to the Congressman, shaking his fist in his face, "You are a damned lying scoundrel," and then saw the banker strike Mr. Sims in the face. Sherman Allen, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, testified that Mr. Glover called the Representative "an infamous liar."

The committee will report to the House by Saturday.

Representative Ben Johnson of Kentucky said Mr. Glover had expressed regret to him several days before the trouble that there was a law against duelling because he desired to challenge Sims to combat. Mr. Glover was not present at the hearing, but sent a letter to the committee.

It explained that "in a moment of passion" he had taken the law in his own hands, and that he desired "in the fullest and most emphatic manner to disclaim any intention of showing disrespect to the House." He added, however, that he reserved the right to fall back upon a decision of the Supreme Court.

NEEDS ENGLAND'S CONSENT

Only Thus Can Canal Treaties Be Abrogated, Legal Experts Say.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Senator Chamberlain's resolution for the abrogation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, in the opinion of the State Department officials, will be confronted with the contention that neither that treaty nor the Clayton-Bulwer treaty can be abrogated by the action of the United States without the consent of Great Britain.

These treaties, the officials point out, are in the nature of civil contracts, and where one party, the United States, for instance, has acquired a valuable consideration under their terms, it cannot escape the liability without the full consent of the second party. Diplomatically and according to the phraseology of international law the status of the United States, they hold, is one of "National servitude."

Legal officers of the Government seem to be of the opinion that nothing can be done by the President or Congress toward terminating the treaties except by the consent of Great Britain or under the terms of an agreement.

DIES TO ESCAPE ARREST.

Fletcher, Palmist, Takes Poison as Police Wait for Him.

BOSTON, April 22.—"Fletcher the Palmist" committed suicide to-day by poisoning. His full name was John W. Fletcher. He was known widely here and in New York, from which latter city he came to Boston several years ago.

Charges of a grave character were made against him recently, and this afternoon two policemen went to his office on Boylston Street with a warrant for his arrest. When they made known their errand Fletcher excused himself for a moment. Going to a rear room he swallowed a dose that killed him quickly.

OPENS GRAFT TRAIL INTO HEADQUARTERS

Three Police Officials Involved by Confession of Lawyer Rouss to Whitman.

INDICTMENT IS EXPECTED

Rouss Says Sweeney Retained Him to Defend Fox—Gives Names of Sipp Bribers.

When Jacob Rouss, the lawyer, went over to the side of the District Attorney Mr. Whitman gained one of his strongest allies in his graft investigation. Yesterday Rouss wrote out the last chapter of the most remarkable graft tale that has yet reached Mr. Whitman's ears. The lawyer met the District Attorney at the Bar Association and delivered his manuscript. After the conference it was said that the graft trail into Police Headquarters was now so clear that the indictment of at least one high police official whose name appears on the official roster of the department was certain.

Rouss, it was learned, really involved three men at Police Headquarters. It was said that the two others collected money through sources other than gambling and disorderly houses, indicating a trail which was a little foreign to Mr. Whitman's present investigation, but the first man, it was said, was the man with whom the various district agents of the "system" had their dealings. It is this man whom Mr. Whitman has been trying to indict for the last six months. As a result of Rouss's complete story Mr. Whitman appeared very much elated last night.

For the last ten or fifteen years there have been few police cases involving scandal of one kind or another that did not pass through the hands of Jacob Rouss and his partner, the late Louis Grant. With Grant's death, Rouss faced a crisis in his career, for his name had already become enmeshed in Mr. Whitman's net. It seemed almost certain that his big business as a police lawyer would cease. Mr. Whitman realized that he must get control of Rouss and have the advantage of his vast knowledge concerning police matters. That is why he set about to investigate Rouss's career. The investigation had only turned a few pages back when startling things were revealed.

"If you don't tell me everything you know," said the District Attorney to Rouss when he had gathered in some of the odds and ends of his former transactions, "I'll do with you what I did to Hartigan and Robinson."

Rouss Flies to Cover.

The conviction of Robinson was the last straw for Rouss, it appears. He hastened under cover and yesterday's meeting at the Bar Association was the climax.

"If Judge Whitman ever longed for the greatest power on earth to help him in his investigation," said a member of Mr. Whitman's staff yesterday, "his wish was fulfilled in the capture of Jacob Rouss. That man can tell more about the crooked work in the Police Department in an hour than any ten other lawyers could tell in a year."

The manuscript which Rouss delivered to the District Attorney was in the form of affidavits. There were a great many of them, it was learned. Mr. Whitman will use the affidavits in lieu of placing Rouss before the Grand Jury.

Aside from giving up a Police Headquarters official, the next most important admission made in these affidavits was that Rouss was retained by ex-Inspector Sweeney to defend Patrolman Fox when the latter was indicted for extortion. Fox was accused of collecting for Walsh. Fox confessed to collecting $72,000 graft money. Capt. Walsh confessed later that he had divided this graft money with Sweeney. Suspicions were never absent as to Rouss's retention by Sweeney, but until yesterday there was no actual substantiation. Through Rouss the District Attorney now hopes to be able to show just why Sweeney wanted Fox represented by "the best police lawyer in town."

That Rouss fully earned his counsel fees is not to be doubted. His work constitutes another chapter of his manuscript. In this chapter Rouss admitted that he had received $1,250 from Patrolman Fox to keep George A. Sipp in New Jersey; that he had passed this money on to Edward J. Newell, another lawyer, after deducting several hundred dollars for his services, and that Newell thereupon passed the money on to Sipp.

In every detail, in fact, did Rouss corroborate Newell. Rouss did not cease to play an important rôle as a "go-between" after Sipp got his money from the system. It was to Rouss that Newell telephoned for instructions from Newark after Howard Sipp, son of George A. Sipp, refused to sign an affidavit stating that he had never seen any money passed to his father.

"Shall I give Sipp the money without the affidavit?" asked Newell of Rouss.

"I'll find out and let you know," replied Rouss.

Rouss Went to Sweeney.

Yesterday Rouss admitted that it was Sweeney that he went to "find out." He further said that Sweeney had told him to tell Newell to release the money without the affidavit.

Finally Rouss told Mr. Whitman the names of the men who contributed to the Sipp bribery fund. These names were not disclosed yesterday, but it is no secret that ex-Inspectors Sweeney, Hussey, Murtha, and Thompson were mentioned. Another affidavit fully covered this phase of the case.

There is no doubt, after yesterday's disclosures, that Rouss will be District Attorney Whitman's star witness in the conspiracy case against the four Inspectors, which will be called for trial on Tuesday morning. Mr. Whitman will have Walsh, Fox, Newell, and Sipp, of course, but the defense has already made it clear that an attempt will be made to exclude the testimony of these witnesses as that of accomplices. The defense will not be able to show, it is thought, that Rouss also was an accomplice.

Even with Rouss added to his list, however, Mr. Whitman has at least four more witnesses against whom no allegations can be made. Two of them, it was learned yesterday, were Mrs. Walsh and Miss Mischel, nurse in the Walsh home. These two women overheard a conversation in Capt. Walsh's bedroom pertaining to the conspiracy to keep Sipp out of the State, and they will tell on the stand what they heard.

Ashley Shea, the gambler; Abraham Jacobs, and his partner, "Butch" Gladstone, were witnesses yesterday before the Grand Jury. They told of crooked stuss games in Harlem, and further involved Sergt. Peter J. Duffy. More indictments are expected against Duffy to-day. When several of the jurors asked how stuss was played "Butch" Gladstone called for a pack of cards and gave a vivid demonstration.

Commissioner Waldo yesterday dismissed from the force Patrolman Thomas F. Robinson, convicted for extortion. Robinson was convicted by a

WOMEN IN SUBWAY FLEE BEFORE MICE

Then Three Small Boys Easily Obtained Seats in a Crowded Car.

A Van Cortlandt Park subway express that pulled out of the station at Brooklyn Bridge last evening at 6:15 o'clock was crowded to the doors with lawyers, clerks, brokers, stenographers, and other toilers from all the office buildings in that part of town. Every strap was taken, and all the available breathing space seemed to be in use for the accommodation of extra passengers. Wedged in amid all this weary humanity were three small boys who looked as though they might be office boys. One of them carried carefully under one arm a box of blue cardboard about the size of an ordinary shoe box, and all three seemed to be in high spirits. Their eyes sparkled mischievously, and one man, jammed in next to the boy with the box, watched them curiously.

The car had hardly cleared the Brooklyn Bridge station, and was just getting up speed as it approached Worth Street, when he saw the boy with the box crouch down as best he could in the crowded aisle, lift the lid, and tilt the box. Out of it leaped and tumbled a small army of little gray mice. To the astonished spectator it looked as though twenty of the little animals jumped down among the feet of the passengers—a fact that was soon discovered, for above the din of the train could be heard a chorus of frightened squeaks.

The women in that part of the car detected the presence of their ancient enemies before many of the men had even peered over the sides of their newspapers to see what all the commotion was about, and this commotion spread with the shrieks of "Mice, mice," that were augmented by the chorus of the mice themselves.

Women who had, through chance or gallantry, obtained seats climbed on to them with amazing dispatch. Those who were depending on straps depended on them still more thoroughly and actually lifted themselves from the floor of the car. They "chinned" themselves on the loop handles. Others were forced to content themselves with lifting their skirts and screaming, while many simply broke pellmell for the adjoining cars. Some of them had no very clear idea what had happened. They just wanted to get out, and the result was that within one minute after the boy lifted the corner of the box cover in the crowded car there were great patches of vacant seats for the standees.

Seated in a row, with every outward evidence of contented innocence, were the three small boys. On the floor were several dead mice. They had been trampled to death in the miniature panic, while the others must have got into corners and fled into the tube when the doors opened at Fourteenth Street.

There were only one or two passengers in the car who knew who the offenders were. One of these was a stout, fatherly looking man who did not report to the conductor, but satisfied himself in the matter by boxing their ears once around.

BLOWN UP IN POWDER MILL.

Three Killed, Several Injured, and Building Scattered to the Winds.

Special to The New York Times.

LAKE HOPATCONG, N. J., April 22.—An explosion of 2,100 pounds of black powder in the packing house of the Atlas Powder Company, a mile from Larding, N. J., yesterday afternoon so completely destroyed the building that wreckage was strewn half a mile, and nothing remains on the spot where the building stood save a great hole in the ground. Three men, at work in the building, were killed and several injured. The explosion was felt for miles.

The dead are Thomas Sossong, 30 years old, of Ledgewood; William Messler, 21 years old, of Ledgewood, and Philip Quinscki, 20 years old, of Stanhope. The latter was married and leaves a widow and two small children.

The three men killed were inside the building engaged in packing shotgun shells. The packing building is several hundred feet from the other buildings. The men injured were outside, and most of them were knocked down by flying missiles.

There was no notice of the coming explosion. There came a great report and the building lifted from its foundation was scattered over a great territory. Windows at the end of the lake, four miles away, were broken.

One theory to account for the accident is that a primer of one of the cartridges hit something and set off the charge. Packing is not considered as hazardous as some other lines of powder manufacturing.

The Atlas Powder Company is a subsidiary company of the Du Pont de Nemours Powder Company. After the accident Superintendent William Eddy refused all information regarding the accident. Men who formerly worked for the company believe the amount of powder in the packing house had been underestimated.

Fragments of the bodies of those killed were picked from the limbs of trees and walls and fences.

ICE KING'S FLEET ADVANCES

Big Bergs Seen by Ships as Spring Warmth Moves Northward.

NEWPORT, April 22.—The advance of the icebergs under the warming influences of Spring is noted in the report of the revenue cutter Seneca, now on ice patrol duty in the North Atlantic, which was received here by wireless to-day.

"The eastern limit of the bergs now is latitude 45.34 north, longitude 41.22 west," the message said. "The southern limit is latitude 44.30 north, longitude 48.30.13 west.

"Large bergs are reported by the steamer Numidian, thirty miles north and west of Flemish Capes. Heavy fog on Banks; moderate southeasterly winds."

RICH WOMEN BEGIN A WAR ON CANCER

Mrs. Sage, Mrs. F. W. Vanderbilt, and Mrs. Speyer Helping to Plan National Campaign.

Steps were taken at a meeting of well-known physicians and laymen called yesterday afternoon by Dr. Clement Cleveland to organize a National Anti-Cancer Association and to begin a campaign of education on the prevention of cancer similar to that which has been carried on against tuberculosis.

Among the physicians who attended the meeting and who have been engaged in the movement for some time past are Dr. Henry E. Coe, President of the American Gynecological Society; Dr. Robert Abbe, one of the foremost cancer specialists; Dr. Joseph D. Bryant, Dr. Charles L. Gibson of St. Luke's Hospital and Dr Joseph Brettauer of Mt. Sinai Hospital.

Among the women at the meeting were Mrs. Frederick W. Vanderbilt, Mrs. Robert G. Mead, Mrs. E. R. Hewitt, President of the Women's Municipal League; Mrs. James Speyer, Mrs. Robert C. Black, Mrs. George C. Clark, Mrs. H. Winthrop Gray, Mrs. V. Everit Macy, Mrs. Robert W. de Forest, Mrs. Russell Sage and Mrs. F. F. Thompson.

The leading purpose of the organization is to educate the public to recognize the early symptoms of the disease. The general plan discussed yesterday provided for magazine articles, leaflets to be distributed through Boards of Health, social workers and women's clubs, special instruction on the subject in nurses' training schools and lectures. The campaign of education is addressed chiefly to women, as they are afflicted by cancer twice as often as men. By reason of the general ignorance of the first symptoms, most of the sufferers are not treated at a time when a cure is possible.

The Committee on Organization appointed yesterday will ask the co-operation of the Physicians' Congress, which meets next month at Washington. The members of this committee are Dr. Le Roy Broun, James Speyer, V. Everit Macy, George C. Clark and Frederic L. Hoffman.

Addresses were made at the meeting by Frederic L. Hoffman, statistician of the Prudential Insurance Company, and Dr. Broun, who is chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means of Educating the Public and the Profession on the Necessity of Early Recognition of Cancer. Dr. Livingston Farrand of the National Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, told of the work which had been accomplished by that organization.

IGNORED WRECK TESTIMONY

Gus C. Roeder Says He Offered Evidence in the Schroeder Case.

Special to The New York Times.

CORNING, April 22.—Gus C. Roeder, a New York newspaper man, testifying at the Schroeder inquiry to-day, said he had offered to District Attorney E. C. Smith important evidence in the Schroeder case, but that Smith proceeded with the dismissal of the indictment without calling for the testimony.

"I told the District Attorney," said Mr. Roeder, "that I had the affidavits of persons who could give testimony of a nature that he desired. I went to Hornell in November by appointment with the District Attorney, when the case was to be tried. He told me that the trial would be postponed for two weeks, and that he would expect me to return and testify. He gave me to understand that the wreck trial was sure to proceed. I went back to New York, and two days later I read that the Schroeder case had been dismissed at Mr. Smith's request."

BOMB CAUSES A PANIC.

Sixty-first of Year's Series Exploded in Sixth Street Hallway.

Manhattan's sixty-first bomb since the first of the year was exploded at 10:35 o'clock last night in the hallway of the tenement at 326 Sixth Street, wrecking the entrance and the stairs. It was apparently aimed at the store and household of Frank Mezzatesti, grocer, a first-floor tenant, who had been threatened for his failure to contribute to the east side blackmailers.

The explosion produced an immense commotion, for of the twenty families in the house only four were Italians. The Italians, according to the police of the Fifth Street Station, who have to handle most of the bomb cases, are becoming so used to the explosions that unless they are actually blown out of bed or blown away from the dinner table they no longer become excited. But the unseasoned families in the Sixth Street tenement were panic-stricken, and Capt. O'Brien needed all his staff to soothe them. No one was hurt.

GOVERNOR TALKS TO MINERS

Hatfield Promises Aid in Settlement of Kanawha Coal Strike.

CHARLESTON, West Va., April 22.—Gov. Henry D. Hatfield addressed a special convention of West Virginia miners to-day and urged the acceptance of his recommendations of several days ago for a settlement of the coal strike throughout Kanawha County. The Governor's plan for adjusting the labor trouble, which controversy has been marked by rioting, bloodshed, and three proclamations of martial law, included the right of the miners to a check-weighman, a nine-hour day, a ton of 2,000 pounds, and prevention of discrimination.

Cheered when he entered the miners' convention hall, Gov. Hatfield said:

"I want you to accept the proposal I have made, and when you have done so I intend to use all the power of my office in enforcing compliance with its provisions by both the operator and miner."

The convention went into private session after the visit of Gov. Hatfield. A decision by the miners is expected by to-morrow.

SCUTARI ENTERED BY MONTENEGRINS

Long Siege of the Powerful Fortress Ended, Says Cettinje Anouncement.

BULGARS MENACING GREEKS

Both Sides Are Rushing Forces to Salonika, Which Both Nations Are Claiming.

CETTINJE, Wednesday, April 23.—It is officially announced here that the Montenegrin forces have entered Scutari.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Wednesday, April 23.—M. H. Donohoe, The Daily Chronicle's special correspondent at Salonika, sends a dispatch showing that the danger of an outbreak of war between the allies is increasing. He says that, while professing the most pacific intentions toward each other, Greece and Bulgaria are rapidly drifting in the direction of war, Salonika being the prize in dispute. There is a possibility of a lamentable conflict unless the powers intervene to settle the dispute.

The Greeks declare themselves ready to hold Salonika against Bulgaria at all costs. They have mobilized every available soldier, and are now rapidly concentrating in the field in defense of the threatened city, in case the Bulgarians attempt to wrest from them the prize won from Turkey. The Bulgarians are preparing for emergencies. It is estimated that they have 90,000 soldiers facing the Greeks.

LONDON, April 22.—Pending the conclusion of a formal armistice covering the operations of all the allies, the Montenegrins have been renewing their desperate efforts to capture Scutari.

There is no confirmation of the story from Trieste that, owing to the exhaustion of food supplies, the commander of Scutari was endeavoring to negotiate for its surrender, but a Belgrade dispatch says that the Montenegrins then had all the Servian heavy artillery before Scutari and were employing it in their present attack, although the Servian troops had either left or are leaving that district.

A report published at Bucharest says that under the settlement arranged at St. Petersburg Rumania will receive Silistria, with about two miles of territory around the town, and the right to erect fortifications.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 22.—The Greeks and the Servians to-day concluded an agreement with Turkey similar to that made between Bulgaria and Turkey, by the terms of which hostilities are to be suspended for ten days.

The Greek and Turkish Governments have also agreed to begin the repatriation of Turkish prisoners of war. The first batch of 5,000 has been sent to the Turkish seaport of Mersina, in Asia Minor. The conditions of the agreement stipulate that the men must not take part in further military operations, and that the Greek transports must not be molested by Turkish warships.

Vessels have been placed at the disposal of the Turkish Government by Greece for the conveyance of 3,000 Mussulmans who desire to emigrate from Salonika to Scalanova in Asia Minor.

VIENNA, April 22.—A Trieste dispatch to the Neue Freie Presse says that the Austro-Hungarian Military Attaché at Cettinje, wishing to proceed to Cattaro, found the frontier closed against him. He was stoned and insulted by Montenegrins at Cettinje. The Austrian Minister has sent a protest to the Government.

CROWDED OFF ELEVATED CAR

Press So Great That Gate Burst and Passenger Fell on Third Rail.

John Gabla, a bookbinder, living at 242 Irving Avenue, Brooklyn, was pushed from the platform of a Ridgewood elevated train standing at the Manhattan end of the Brooklyn Bridge last evening and fell into the pit, coming into contact with the third rail. His hands were badly burned by electricity and his back was wrenched by his fall. Aided by Patrolman Murphy of the Bridge A Station, he walked to the Volunteer Hospital, where he was treated by Dr. Mutcher, after which he went home.

According to Gabla, he was standing on the car platform and the press of the crowd around him was so great that the guard gate was burst open. He was against the gate, and when it opened was thrown into the pit.

NAMED CATS IN HER WILL.

Miss Saxton Made Provision for the Care of Two Pets.

RIVERHEAD, L. I., April 22.—Miss Martha Isabel Saxton of Port Jefferson, who died recently, bequeathed a piano, private desk and some pictures to her cousin, Miss Isabel C. McLean, provided the latter would look after my two cats, Buttons and Muggins, during their lifetime."

In the event that Miss McLean did not survive the testatrix, the will made further provision for the disposition of the cats in this clause:

"I ask my dear friend, Anna Maria Tooker, to see that said cats, Buttons and Muggins, are chloroformed, for which kindness I give and bequeath my cabinet sewing table."

The will has been admitted to probate by Surrogate Nicoll of Riverhead.

HARVARD MAN SELF-SLAIN.

Lucien D. Tennant Found with Bullet Hole in Head on Bridge.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 22.—Lucien D. Tennant, 25 years old, of Terre Haute, Ind., a first-year student in the Harvard Graduate School, was found dead with a bullet hole in his head and a revolver lying beside him, on the West Boston Bridge to-day.

The Medical Examiner reported that the man undoubtedly committed suicide. Tennant was graduated from De Pauw University last year. He had been ill for several weeks.

New Yorker's Gold Dinner Service Admired by King George.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 22.—The King and Queen spent to-day visiting six famous pottery factories in the Stoke-on-Trent district. At Messrs. Minton's, the King was particularly interested in and closely examined the magnificent dinner service in raised gold with a chased pattern in rose du Barry being made for Elbridge T. Gerry of New York.

The cost of the service is $150,000, being at the rate of $150 a plate.

JUDGE IS RECALLED.

First Application of California Law Is Successful.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—The first application of California's new law for the recall of judiciary has been successful. By a margin of 815 votes Police Judge Charles L. Weller, accused of incompetency, was removed from office at a special election here to-day, and Wiley F. Crist, an attorney, put forward by women voters, who were chiefly active in the campaign, was named as Weller's successor.

The total vote was less than 61,000, while the city's normal vote is over 100,000.

SUES MACKAY ON A POOL.

Ex-Broker Complains of Being Sold Out in Mexican Central.

W. L. Stow, who sold his seat on the Stock Exchange in June, 1908, following the failure of his firm, W. L. Stow & Co., began suit yesterday in the Supreme Court for an accounting against Clarence H. Mackay, Henry Clay Pierce, F. H. Prince, and others. He alleges that in 1907 he joined with them in the formation of a pool in the stock of the Mexican Central Railroad. The pool, he said, included some 40,000 shares.

Stow, through his attorneys, Pace & Stimpson, of 29 Broadway, complains that 17,800 shares of the stock were sold without the knowledge of all the members of the pool, and that no accounting was ever made of the remaining shares. The defendants had filed no answer yesterday. Prior to selling his seat Stow had been a member of the Stock Exchange since 1882.

AIRSHIP IN GUNFIRE TEST.

Army Man, 5,000 Feet Up, Rights Machine the Vibrations Rock.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 22.—Lieut. Samuel McLeary, United States Army Aviation Corps, remained in an army aeroplane over the armored cruiser Maryland to-day during target practice with 8-inch guns to test the effect of vibrations on the stability of the machine. The test was made at an altitude of 5,000 feet, and, although the machine rocked dangerously each time the guns were discharged, the aviator succeeded in righting it.

During the firing Lieut. McLeary also tested a new range-finder device, swooping down as near the cruiser as possible after each shot and signaling to the range-finding officer the distances determined by the aid of the new device.

PATHOS KILLED A JESTER.

Gordon Heartbroken When Bernhardt Audience Wouldn't Laugh.

CHICAGO, April 22.—Cliff Gordon, the comedian who was found dead in a hotel last night, evidently was disheartened because he could not make his auditors laugh after they had wept over Sarah Bernhardt's playlet.

Gordon attempted it during an afternoon performance and failed. It seemed to affect him, for he said to the manager of the theatre:

"The people sat in their seats stolid and mirthless. I could not get them and had to quit. Any comedian who tries to follow Bernhardt will die."

The manager tried to cheer him up; told him to have a rest and try again at the night performance. Gordon went to his room and when he did not appear for his act in the evening a call boy was sent to his hotel. The door of Gordon's room was broken open and he was found dead upon the floor. He had taken a heavy dose of some cold cure. A physician said Gordon also had a weak heart.

DIOGENES' DAY OF TRIUMPH.

Meets Not One, But Seven Honest Men When He Finds $3.

Diogenes and his lantern went into a saloon at Twenty-seventh Street and Third Avenue, last night, and there discovered half a dozen honest men in front of the bar and one behind it.

Diogenes is a Greek. He is a peddler, living at 217 East Twenty-seventh Street, and his full name is Diogenes L. Worenzoff. His lantern hangs from his watch chain as a fob. He found the honest men after he had picked up one $1 and one $2 bill from the saloon floor. No one claimed it He asked all present if they had lost $3, and when each pleaded not guilty he took the cash to Lieut. Thompson, at the East Thirty-fifth Street Station, saying it was not his, and he therefore did not want it.

The Lieutenant promised to store the money in the lost property room until it was called for, or until by the "statute of limitations" it went to the police pension fund.

JUST MISSED WILSON'S AUTO

Street Car Stopped Within a Few Inches of the President's Car.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—President Wilson and his youngest daughter, Eleanor, were being congratulated to-day on a narrow escape from accident while automobiling last night.

Just as the President's automobile turned a corner at Peace Monument, near the Capitol, a street car was brought to a sudden stop within a few inches of the Presidential motor.

The President was somewhat disturbed by the incident, but did not stop. The motor cycle men trailing the President took the name of the motorman, but the subject was dropped today by the White House.

CALIFORNIA FIRM ON HER LAND BILL

Gov. Johnson, Answering Wilson Appeal, Indicates Offensive Clause Will Stay.

YET OFFERS CO-OPERATION

Simpler Measure in Preparation Will Still Exclude "Aliens Ineligible to Citizenship."

WASHINGTON RETAINS HOPE

The President, Reassured, Will Now Await Developments at Sacramento.

Special to The New York Times.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 22.—In answer to a personal appeal from President Wilson that the State refrain from any alien land legislation discriminating against the Japanese, Gov. Hiram W. Johnson sent a message late this afternoon to the President, in which he asserted that the State did not intend to embarrass the Federal administration by its legislation on this line.

In the face of this statement, it seems certain, however, that Gov. Johnson and his party leaders in the Senate favor a bill, excluding from land ownership in the State all aliens, ineligible to citizenship under the laws of the United States. Such a law will probably be passed despite the obections from Washington, it was said to-night.

Gov. Johnson's message to the President was as follows:

> Sacramento, Cal., April 22.
> The President, Washington, D. C.:
>
> Immediately upon receipt of your telegram of this date, it was transmitted to both houses of the Legislature. I think I may assure you it is the desire of the majority of the members of the Legislature to do nothing in the matter of alien land bills that shall be embarrassing to our own Government or offensive to any other. It is the design of these legislators specifically to provide in any act that nothing therein shall be construed as affecting or impairing any rights secured by treaty, although from the legal standpoint this is deemed unnecessary.
>
> If any act be passed, it will be general in character relating to those who are ineligible to citizenship, and the language employed will be that which has its precedent and sanction in statutes which now exist upon the subject.
>
> I speak, I think, for the majority of the Senate of California; certainly I do for the voting power of the State, when I convey to you our purpose to co-operate fully and heartily with the National Government and to do only that which is admittedly within our province without intended offense or invidious discrimination.
>
> HIRAM W. JOHNSON.

A Crucial Phrase.

The phrase in the Governor's message, "If any act is passed it will be general in character relating to aliens ineligible to become citizens," is taken to mean that only legislation affecting Japanese and all others who cannot become naturalized will be passed, and that such a programme was outlined to leaders of the Senate in a conference held this afternoon in the Governor's office before the telegram was sent to Washington.

The belief is held by the Governor that a State law of this nature would not be in contravention of any existing treaty.

Senator Newton Thompson said this afternoon that he was working on the draft of another alien land bill which would apply only to those ineligible to become citizens. This bill, which he expects to have in shape in a couple of days, will be much shorter than the present Birdsall measure, and will deal with only one phase of the question, making it impossible for ineligible aliens to hold land in this State.

Senator Thompson said the President evidently misunderstood the attitude of the California Legislature.

"I do not understand how Washington gets the idea that we intend to violate any of the treaty obligations of the Government. Every bill we have considered seriously has a clause stating that the treaty rights of every foreigner are to be guaranteed under the Alien Land act."

Opposition to the Administration programme will come from the Democrats, aided by a few Republicans, who are opposed to anti-alien legislation of any kind. The Democrats will seek to strike out the words "ineligible to citizenship" in any bill considered, and on this point the real fight on the measure will be waged.

Senator Leroy Wright, Republican, does not believe in any legislation at the present time in view of the fact that Japan has kept the agreement of 1907 to restrict the emigration of her laboring people to this country.

Bill May Come Up To-morrow.

It is not expected that the pending anti-alien bill will be reached on the file until Thursday, and no action can be taken until that time.

President Wilson's message to-day called forth little comment. The Democratic minority had already formulated its views, largely in accordance with Bryan's message, and the Progressive Republican majority, as shown by Gov. Johnson's response, declined to regard the President's telegram as a demand upon the Legislature to enact a particular kind of bill.

WASHINGTON IS HOPEFUL.

Thinks Tenor of Johnson's Message Promises Relief of Situation.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Administration officials are inclined to take an optimistic view of Gov. Johnson's response to-night to the emphatic appeal of President Wilson, sent early to-day, for a modification of the alien land laws now before the California Legislature.

While on its face the message from Sacramento seems to indicate a purpose on the part of Gov. Johnson and those legislators who are pushing the alien land measure to conform to President Wilson's wishes and thus end the present international friction, it is not clear that the assurances of the Governor have really changed the situation.

"If any act is passed," says the Governor, "it will be general in character, relating to those who are ineligible to citizenship."

What this phrase means is not quite clear to officials here. The main objection of the Japanese Government to the land bills, as originally introduced, was that while they enabled aliens to acquire land by becoming citizens, they specifically mentioned aliens “ineligible to citizenship,” as not entitled to the benefits of any features of the proposed law. As Japanese are not eligible to citizenship, this was regarded as a direct discrimination against Japanese subjects, and therefore an affront to Japan.

In his telegram to Gov. Johnson on Friday, Secretary Bryan suggested that the objection to the proposed legislation would be minimized by eliminating the words “ineligible to citizenship.” But Gov. Johnson's statement that the law, if enacted, would be “general in character relating to those who are ineligible to citizenship” may mean, and some officials here are inclined to think it does mean that there will be no specific reference to those who cannot become citizens.

Even if the modifications in the pending legislation do not meet all the objections urged against it for international reasons, it is felt here from the tone of Gov. Johnson's dispatch that the foundation has been laid for a satisfactory adjustment of the difficulties that have beset the Government in connection with California's legislation. The feeling is very general here to-night that the question will be adjusted in a manner that will leave Japan no substantial cause for offense.

The President's Appeal.

Prior to the receipt of Gov. Johnson's telegram, the concern felt by President Wilson and his counselors was as great as it was yesterday. That concern was emphasized by the action of the President in making a direct appeal over his own signature to the Governor and the legislators at Sacramento and the people of California generally, worded as follows:

> Washington, D. C., April 22.
> I speak upon the assumption, which I am sure is well founded, that the people of California do not desire their Representatives—and that their Representatives do not wish or intend—in any circumstances to embarrass the Government of the United States in its dealings with a nation with whom it has most earnestly and cordially sought to maintain relations of genuine friendship and good will, and that least of all do they desire to do anything that might impair treaty obligations or cast a doubt upon the honor and good faith of the Nation and its Government.
>
> I therefore appeal with the utmost confidence to the people, the Governor, and the Legislature of California to act in the matter now under consideration in a manner that cannot from any point of view be fairly challenged or called in question. If they deem it necessary to exclude all aliens who have not declared their intentions to become citizens from the privileges of land ownership they can do so along lines already followed in the laws of many of the other States and of many foreign countries, including Japan herself. Insidious discrimination will inevitably draw in question the treaty obligations of the Government of the United States.
>
> I register by very earnest and respectful protest against discrimination in this case, not only because I deem it my duty to do so as the Chief Executive of the Nation, but also, and the more readily, because I believe the people and the legislative authorities of California will generously respond the moment the matter is frankly presented to them as a question of National policy and of National honor. If they have ignored this point of view, it is, I am sure, because they did not realize what and how much was involved.
>
> WOODROW WILSON.

Cabinet Approved Message.

The President's appeal to the Californians was drafted yesterday and was submitted to Secretary Bryan. It was agreed between them that the matter was of such importance that it would be wiser to sleep on it and bring it to-day to the Cabinet meeting, which approved it.

Several Democratic members of the California delegation in Congress called on President Wilson this morning and repeated the assurances previously given that there was no intention among those likely to control the Legislature to adopt any form of a bill that would be out of harmony with the existing treaty between the United States and Japan.

Mr. Wilson was very earnest in his insistence that California owed it to the good of the Nation to do nothing that would be in violation of the treaty rights of Japanese subjects in that State. It was apparent from what the California Congressmen said when they left the White House that they had been deeply impressed by the President's argument.

It was said to-night that the President was reassured by Gov. Johnson's declaration of a “purpose to co-operate fully and heartily with the National Government and do only that which is admittedly within our province without intended offense or invidious discrimination,” and was much more hopeful of seeing the California situation satisfactorily cleared up.

The Administration will now adopt a waiting attitude. With Gov. Johnson's assurances before him, the President will probably take no further action pending developments in California.

CALLS THEM LAND GRABBERS.

Editor McClatchy Tells of Plan Japanese Follow in California.

It is no surprise to California that President Wilson does not like what the legislators of California are doing to bar out the Japanese, according to V. S. McClatchy, proprietor of the Sacramento Bee, who is here to attend the convention of the Newspaper Publishers' Association at the Waldorf-Astoria. Mr. McClatchy insists that the people of California have not only fully measured the possibilities of interference from Washington, but that they are prepared to go ahead regardless of such interference and regardless of all protests from Tokio and everywhere else. At his rooms in the Hotel Gotham last night the California editor talked to a TIMES reporter about the situation in California.

“It is a sectional and racial problem,” said he, “and you people in the East can no more gain a true measure of it than the Northerner could measure the negro problem of the South.

“I will give you one example of our problem. Outside of Sacramento there was a little town called Florin. Now an old man in a buggy used to come to our office for papers for Florin. He took away a hundred or so papers each morning. The buyers of those papers were Americans engaged in strawberry culture. The strawberries from Florin went out in car loads. To-day the old man is gone from Florin and the rural delivery route he operated has gone with him. I passed through the old townsite and found it exclusively a Japanese town.

“What happened? Why, simply this: The owners of the strawberry patches had to have labor at harvest time or their crop would be destroyed and go to waste. And labor in California is no trifling matter. To obtain it is the great problem of the land owners.

“There came to Florin one group of laborers different from all the rest. They had no families clinging to their heels and demanding fairly settled conditions. They were regimented. They had their recognized leader. Now, these laborers—Japanese, of course—were willing to underbid the labor market, whatever that market was. They had a set, determined policy, and that policy was, to destroy labor competition by supplying the cheapest labor. In the course of time, Spanish and Italian and Portuguese labor left that part of the country. Such labor, moving in family groups, had encumbrances that the light-moving Japanese did not have.

“But there was method in the Japanese labor invasion. Once they had freed the country from competitors, their attitude of suppliant application for jobs changed. The former willing servants became incessant, persistent demanders. They demanded leases of the strawberry patches or no work. And they held a club over the owners. It was the club of an organized labor body which could withhold the harvest from the owners. Leases were signed.

“That was merely a second step. Once they had established the lease system, they demanded still more. And they used the same club of a monopoly power over the labor market. They practically lifted those fields from their American proprietors. The Americans have gone, and this rich strawberry country is in the hands of Japanese owners.

“Now, that is merely an example. We do not propose in California to become a Japanese colony, and we do not propose to have the Federal Government hand us over to that sort of exploitation. We know they would not if they understood, and Californians were much delighted at President Wilson's statement that California was acting within her rights.

“Only this morning I read in THE TIMES a letter from a Japanese. It attacked our [illegible] time, admitted that Americans could not own property in Japan. Now we find that the Federal Government itself has enacted for the Government of the District of Columbia a statute which is exactly as drastic as the statute we seek to enact. We have found that five or six of the States also have passed laws fully as drastic as ours.

“In these States there was no protest, because no active Japanese colonizing policy was being carried out. Why should the Nation ask California to make a sacrifice of herself? California knows her business in this matter, and she is proceeding along business lines.

“It isn't only in strawberries. It's in potatoes and in prunes, and in oranges. All the way from Oroville to San Diego the Japanese are forcing the issue. They have seized the Vaca Valley, which is the richest valley in the State and the earliest to reach the market with Spring vegetables. Once they get a hold in a neighborhood, they make it as obnoxious as possible for white owners who cling to their land. Land values all around them fall rapidly, and no laborers are to be had for white men's farms.

“In the cities it is the same story. They pay a handsome price for one good house in a residential neighborhood. They pack this house with the foot-loose laborers, and neighbors move away. As the land values sag the Japanese buy, and soon you have a Jap town in full swing. In Sacramento they have five or six city blocks which they obtained in this manner.

“The East will make a great mistake if they think this matter is mere fanaticism or is factional to any class. The richest and the poorest men in California join in the same sentiment toward it. It pervades all political parties. Our Legislature is overwhelmingly Progressive, yet Democrats and Republicans are as earnest as the Bull Moosers in the matter.”

As to other laborers, Mr. McClatchy said the completion of the Panama Canal might mean permanent relief from dependence on the Japanese, since 300,000 immigrants had already been booked for passage to California from Mediterranean ports.

JAPAN'S LAND LAWS.

Foreigners Can and Do Own Realty There, as Dr. Teusler Proves.

Dr. R. B. Teusler, Director of St. Luke's Hospital of Tokio, is in the city for a few days, and is staying at the Hotel Seville. He has lived in Tokio for fourteen years, and is thoroughly conversant with the Japanese land system. He is a landowner there himself in the form of having a lease for 999 years. Speaking of the California agitation, Dr. Teusler said last night:

“In the first place, under Japanese law there are at least two methods whereby foreigners may own land in Japan. The first is by the right of superficies. This gives the title clearly and legally to the purchaser for 999 years. The only possible restriction on this form of ownership which might arise would be if a mine or oil were discovered on the property. That is, as the title indicates, the owner under this form of purchase has all rights to the use of the surface of the ground. He may build on it, use it for agricultural purposes, or use it in any other way that he likes. Should he ever find a mine on it, some especial arrangement would have to be made with the Government.

“The second way for foreigners to hold land in Japan is by the forming of a ‘shadan.’ This is a group of three or more foreigners, legally incorporated and constituted to hold land in fee simple anywhere in Japan for the purposes mentioned in the articles of incorporation.

“There are several ‘shadan’ now existing in Japan and holding extensive taracts of land all through the country. As already stated, full title to the land is given under the laws regulating the formation of the ‘shadan,’ or juridical person, and the land is held permanently.

“For all practical purposes the title to land for 999 years is permanent possession. I myself own land under the title of superficies and have many friends who hold land under the same form. Therefore, the statement that foreigners cannot own land is not true and should be corrected.

“The old statement that as a nation the Japanese are not honest we frequently see quoted in American papers. The correctness of this statement will not bear anything like honest investigation. As a physician I have come intimately into touch with thousands of Japanese in the past fourteen years in all walks of life, and I have certainly found them quite as honest as Americans I have dealt with in my own country, if not a little bit more so. It is surely a fact which cannot be disproved that graft and dishonesty on the large scale, as we know it here in America, do not exist in Japan in any circles.

“Recently while on the California Coast I was told that the Japanese were overrunning the whole of the State, and it was intimated that unless certain legislation was instituted they might some day own all of the State. After careful investigation I cannot find that they own as much as 25,000 acres. What is 25,000 acres in a State of 158,360 square miles? And it has taken them twenty-five years to acquire this much. The problem from that standpoint does not seem alarming.

“It must be remembered that Japan has her own recent possessions to colonize and does not favor, but, quite the contrary, strongly opposes her citizens coming to America.

“The troubles of a certain section of California should not be allowed to overshadow and imperil the interests of all the rest of the United States, and there are many American citizens and large American interests and much American money invested in Japan and the East which certainly claim more consideration than they seem to be receiving.

“If any anti-Japanese bill pases the California Legislature the results will be much more deplorable than to drop the matter now, unless the Supreme Court should decide the bill unconstitutional. This would settle the matter once for all and be its best solution.”

JINGO TALK, SAYS CAPT. UYENO

Japanese Attache Scoffs at the Talk of a War.

Among the passengers who arrived on the Atlantic Transport liner Minnetonka from London yesterday morning, was Capt. Uyeno of the Japanese army, military attaché of the Japanese Embassy in London. Capt. Uyeno, who remained in New York just long enough to catch a train for the West on his way to Tokio, scouted the idea that such a thing as war between the United States and Japan was possible as a result of the alien land bills now before the California Legislature. In Capt. Uyeno's opinion, all the war talk in both countries comes from the jingo element, and does not reflect the sober thought of the best citizens of other nation.

“Such a thing as war between America and Japan,” said Capt. Uyeno, “is impossible. Such a thing will never happen. There is a war element, if you care to call it that, in all countries, but the best element in Japan, as in all other countries, is for peace, and Japan to-day entertains nothing but the friendliest feelings for the United States. In a great many instances all of this jingo talk is the work of sensational office seekers in both countries who desire for purposes of their own to draw popular attention to themselves.”

Capt. Uyeno was inclined to view the proposed legislation pending in California, as not so unjust as it has been painted. He said that Japan had an alien land law, and if the Californians wanted one, he did not see who was to stop them or who was to question their right to enact such legislation.

A fellow passenger of Capt. Uyeno was Capt. Oliver Edwards of the Fifth United States Infantry, who has been observing the French army manoeuvres. He has nothing but words of praise for the French military organization.

PARTY'S TARIFF AIMS TOLD BY UNDERWOOD

Explains Causes Leading to Democratic Revision in Reintroducing Bill.

HOUSE DEBATE ON TO-DAY

With Night Sessions, Will Last Five Days—Conference to Show Strength of Senate Opponents.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—The Underwood Tariff bill was reported to the House to-day from the Ways and Means Committee by a strict party vote of 14 to 7, and will be called up in the House to-morrow.

There will be general debate for five days, half of this period to be controlled by the Democrats, the balance to be allotted to the Republicans and Progressives. To expedite matters, the House will meet at 11 o'clock in the morning, and remain in session until 11 o'clock at night for the five days. Then the bill will be taken up under the five-minute rule for reading an amendment.

Chairman Underwood filed with the House to-day the report of the Democratic majority of the bill, explaining the Democratic position on the tariff. This report was prepared by Mr. Underwood and is signed by himself and the thirteen other Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee.

Discussing the urgent need of tariff revision, Chairman Underwood says in his report:

“The committee expresses its deep sense of the urgency of the tariff question, its belief in the necessity of the urgency of prompt and thorough action, and its certainty that a remedy for exising conditions is earnestly demanded by the public.

“The present condition of the revenue legislation of the United States is the resultof many years' adherence to the protective tariff policy. This tariff policy is the result of peculiar circumstances and in no way represents the choice of the people.”

Chairman Underwood asserts that the tariff situation resulting from fifty years of high protective rates has gradually become intolerable, and five years ago the dissatisfaction with the prevailing duties expressed itself in so unmistakable a manner as to lead to a revision. Mr. Underwood says that conditions of production and of business have changed greatly, so that the old rates upon many commodities, even if at first defensible, have become obsolete.

The Underwood report gives figures to show that the increase in wholesale prices in 1910 over 1897 was about 93 per cent. for farm products, 46 per cent. for food, 35 per cent. for clothing, 48 per cent. for metals and implements, 23 per cent. for drugs and chemicals, 24 per cent. for housefurnishing goods, 46 per cent. for commodities, and 44 per cent. for miscellaneous articles.

In close conjunction with the advance in the cost of living, Mr. Underwood asserts, and with the practical reservation of the field of domestic production to the manufacturers in the important lines, should be considered the development of industrial combinations or trusts.

“There is another serious condition,” Mr. Underwood continues, “which must be directly attributed to the tariff, but of which little is usually said. This is the existence of obsolete plants and methods in many lines of industry, old machinery and out-of-date methods being continued in operation for years after they have been practically eliminated elsewhere.

Obsolete Machiery Used.

“President Taft's Tariff Board showed that the paper-making machinery of the United States is less efficient than in Canada, owing to rapid advances in industrial methods, and that this is sufficient to put us at a disadvantage with our greatest competitor, necessitating, from the protective point of view, the maintenance of an offsetting tariff which would enable the payment of interest upon machines that should have been long since relegated to the scrap heap.

“In the cotton textile industry the Tariff Board found some machinery still in operation which was fully sixty years old, while in the woolen industry a similar but far worse condition existed. There is rarely a highly protected industry in which a considerable percentage of the plants and machinery are not hopelessly behind the times. The demand for high protective duties is necessarily based upon the supposed requirements of these plants, for in nearly every line of business the modern and most efficient establishments are able to hold their own against any foreign competition.”

The probable income-producing power of the Underwood bill has been worked out by Treasury experts, and is given by Mr. Underwood in comparison with Government revenue figures for 1912 as follows:

RECEIPTS.	1912.	Underwood Law, First Year.
Customs	$311,321,672	$267,000,000
Internal revenue	321,612,199	322,000,000
Public land sales	5,392,797	5,000,000
Miscellaneous	53,451,797	52,000,000
Postal revenue	246,744,016	280,000,000
Total	$938,522,481	$926,000,000
DISBURSEMENTS.
Civil	$172,256,794	$175,000,000
War Department	148,795,422	169,000,000
Navy Department	135,591,959	148,000,000
Indian Service	20,134,840	20,000,000
Pensions	153,590,456	180,000,000
Int. on public debt	22,616,300	22,790,000
Postal Service	248,312,211	280,000,000
Total	$901,297,979	$994,790,000
Surplus	37,224,502	1,335,000
Deficit to be cared for by income tax		$68,790,000

The surplus of $1,335,000 mentioned in the second column is the difference between the amount the income tax will raise, ($70,125,000,) and the deficit to be met by that impost, ($68,790,000.)

With reference to the income tax, the report remarks that as occasion required Congress would raise or lower the rate in such a manner as would prevent either a deficit or a surplus on the Treasury.

$70,125,000 From 425,000 Incomes.

In its estimate of the amount to be raised by the income tax the committee presents a table showing that 126,000 incomes between $4,000 and $5,000 will pay $630,000 tax; 178,000 incomes between $5,000 and $10,000 will pay $5,340,000; 53,000 incomes between $10,000 and $15,000 will pay $4,240,000; 24,500 incomes between $15,000 and $20,000 will pay $3,185,000; 10,500 incomes between $20,000 and $25,000 will pay $2,100,000; 21,000 incomes between $25,000 and $50,000 will pay $9,666,000; 8,500 incomes between $50,000 and $100,000 will pay $11,560,000; 2,500 incomes between $100,000 and $250,000 will pay $11,650,000; 550 incomes between $250,000 and $500,000 will pay $6,743,000; 350 incomes between $500,000 and $1,000,000 will pay $9,191,000, and 100 incomes of over $1,000,000 will pay $5,826,000; a total of 425,000 incomes to be taxed $70,125,000. In addition 288,352 corporations will pay $37,000,000, the total income tax to be collected thus realizing, at the rates fixed, $107,125,000 in revenue annually.

By a strict party vote the Senate Finance Committee decided finally to-day that no public hearings will be given upon the Tariff bill when it reaches the Senate. Interested persons will have a full opportunity, however, to file briefs or statements with the committee bearing on any of the tariff schedules. The Democratic members of the committee will confer to-morrow with Democratic Senators from Pacific Coast and Rocky Mountain States who are opposed to the free sugar and free wool provisions of the new bill. A number of Western Senators, including Senators Myers of Montana and Ashurst of Arizona, will not participate in the conference, as they have decided to support the free wool and sugar programme if it is approved by the House.

MISSING IRA MAY WRITES.

Brooklyn Boy Says He Has Been Robbed and Tortured.

Two postal cards, telling of tortures and calling for help were received yesterday at the home of Solomon May, head of the May Thread Company of 529 Broadway. Mr. Solomon's nineteen-year-old son, Ira E. May, disappeared on Saturday afternoon, and the cards were in the handwriting of the missing boy, and had been in his possession before he left home. Their arrival at the May home at 622 East Third Street in the Parkville section of Brooklyn served to further mystify and alarm his father and brothers, who have come to the conviction that the boy has been kidnapped. The mother is in a state of collapse. Last night, Mr. May said that his suspicion rested upon some business rivals, who had grown very bitter toward him and had threatened to do him serious injury.

Both postal cards were mailed at the West Park Station in Philadelphia on Monday noon, and the Philadelphia police have been asked to investigate. The first was simply addressed to “May” and bore this message:

“Help! They are killing me. They are holding me against my will. I don't know where I am.”

It was signed Ira. The other was brought to the May home by Mrs. Thal of 1,657 Forty-third Street, Brooklyn, whose daughter, Sallie Thal, was a close friend of the missing boy. The postal had been addressed to the girl, and it read:

> Help. I am held against my will. They are torturing me. I don't know where I am. They robbed me.

It was signed Ira. The two postals stirred the deepest alarm, for the Mays could not understand their having been written in any other than genuine distress, although they were equally puzzled to guess how, if the boy was held in restraint, he had been able to dispatch such messages to his family.

The boy's movements on Saturday have been traced with only partial success. He was to have visited several firms to make collections of money, but he visited none of them. He was to have gone to the Jefferson Bank on the Bowery, there to deposit $150 and cash a bearer's check for $50. The money was deposited and the check cashed, but whether by Ira or not they could not learn.

Assuming, however, that it was he who cashed the $50 check, the police have wondered whether the possession of this little sum on a Saturday afternoon had not started the boy off. Mr. May, on the other hand, jeers at the idea of a deliberate runaway, for the boy was of regular habits, and furthermore, he had considerable money in his room at home, which, the father believes, he would have taken with him had he planned to run away.

The boy had with him when he left home Saturday morning a ring set with five diamonds, which could have been converted quickly into a tidy sum. He was a graduate of De Witt Clinton High School.

CRAWFORD WILL ADMITTED.

Surrogate Cohalan Decides Pencil Changes Do Not Alter It.

Helen and Marion Crawford, who contested the will of their father, who died in November, 1912, leaving a $40,000 estate, lost their case yesterday when Surrogate Cohalan admitted the will to probate. The will gave $10,000 to each of them. Had it been upset their shares would have been almost doubled. The contest was based on the contention that the will, made Sept. 17, 1909, had been revoked by pencil cancellations and interlineations. Surrogate Cohalan said:

“All these marks, cancellations, and alterations are in lead pencil, and, according to the evidence, were made by the testator after he had executed the original document. The typewritten words and figures of the original instrument can be read through the light pencil lines.

“It seems to me that he made the alterations in pencil so that he might have at hand a convenient draft for a new will when he came to execute another. He had the paper in its altered condition in his possession for a long time, and for all that any one knows he may never fully have decided to make a new will.

“It is not reasonable to suppose that the most solemn act provided for by law can be done away with by a few strokes of a pen or pencil. As a safeguard against fraud the rule has been established that a will cannot be revoked by the cancellation or destruction of only a part of the will.

“It is important to bear in mind that the signature was not cancelled, destroyed, or injured in any way. The four typewritten pages executed by the decedent on Sept. 17, 1909, without the alterations and pencil marks thereon, will be admitted to probate as his last will and testament.”

FRANK HOLLEY HOME AGAIN.

Coffee Broker Disappeared a Month Ago, Can't Tell Where He's Been.

Frank Holley, a coffee broker, who lives with his sister, Mrs. Edward H. Hudson, at 309 West 101st Street, and had been missing since March 22, returned home yesterday afternoon. He was unable to give an account of what he had been doing while the police and his relatives have been looking for him. He believes he was a victim of amnesia. When he woke up yesterday morning he found himself in a rooming house at 142d Street and Eighth Avenue, and he believed he had been living there a great part of the time. He telephoned to his sister, telling her he was safe and would return home immediately. Mr. Holley will start to-day for his country home at Manchester, Vt., where he hopes to regain his lost health.

WHO OWNS $5,000 FOX BAIL?

It Lies in City Chamberlain's Office Waiting for Claimant.

In the City Chamberlain's office there is $5,000 for some one who has the nerve to claim it. The money is in the form of five crisp one-thousand-dollar bills, and the bills are not marked. There are no strings to the money at all, in fact. The $5,000 has been there for weeks and not a soul has called for it. If some one does not call for it soon District Attorney Whitman will request of the Corporation Counsel that the money be given to the flood sufferers or that it be devoted to some other charitable purpose.

Those who know the history of that $5,000 believe that it will be many a weary day before the owner will call for it, in spite of the fact that the terms of surrender are most simple. These are the circumstances:

On Jan. 8 Paatrolman Eugene Fox was indicted for collecting graft in Harlem. District Attorney Whitman was just beginning his graft investigation then. He demanded $5,000 bail and Fox furnished the cash.

“Where did Fox get $5,000 in such a hurry?” was asked of Louis Grant, partner of Jacob Rouss, who represented Fox in court.

“I gave it to him,” replied Mr. Grant.

“And where did you get it?” Mr. Grant was asked.

“Why, I found it on my desk,” faltered the lawyer. “I don't know how it got there.”

On Feb. 3 Fox pleaded guilty and confessed to wholesale graft collections in Harlem. Nearly every day thereafter Fox came to District Attorney Whitman's office to chat a while. Every attendant in the Criminal Court building has come to know Fox since then, and Mr. Whitman sees no reason why the $5,000 bail should be continued.

All that will be necessary for the owner to recover his money will be to sign an affidavit swearing that the money belongs to him. Mr. Whitman will then investigate the alleged owner's statement, and, if satisfactory, will release the money.

“Does the admission by Lawyer Rouss that his firm was engaged by ex-Inspector Sweeney to defend Fox have any bearing on that $5,000?” District Attorney Whitman was asked yesterday.

The District Attorney said that he was too busy to talk about the matter.

BRYAN TO SHACKLE MARS AND BACCHUS

No Wine at His Table; the Cold Compress of Compulsory Delay for the War God's Brow.

FIGHTING MAD? WAIT AWHILE

A Scheme of Treaties Providing for Six Months' Delay of Intended Hostilities, for Cooling Off Purposes.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—The Hon. William Jennings Bryan, Secretary of State and advocate of individual sobriety and international peace, has employed the powers of his high office to complete the overthrow of two of the pagan gods deposed by the Emperor Constantine some sixteen hundred years ago, but nevertheless able at odd times since then to attract votaries in considerable and sometimes alarming numbers.

Bacchus was the first victim. Diplomatic circles were in animated discussion to-day of Secretary Bryan's dinner party the other night to some forty distinguished members of the Diplomatic Corps, at which unfermented grape juice was served in place of the variety of wines formerly supplied on such occasions. What the diplomats said was confidential, and therefore not for publication, but it may be stated with certainty that diplomacy has had no such shock since Bismarck introduced truth-telling into the trade.

But Mars got the real blow, for the Secretary has set out to abolish war. He has had informal conferences with Democratic Senators of the Committee on Foreign Relations and will lay before the committee in secret session to-morrow a detailed plan which he believes will contribute largely to the peace of the world.

The plan, which calls for treaties with all countries, is very different from the general arbitration treaties which President Taft, through Secretary Knox, negotiated with Great Britain and France.

The central idea is not arbitration, but delay. Instead of the elaborate provisions of the Knox treaty for a joint high commission of inquiry—which the Senate resented as an infringement upon its treatymaking powers—Mr. Bryan favors treaties with all the nations of the world under which, when anything resembling a cause for war arises, the disputants will be bound to refrain from overt acts for a designated period, perhaps six months or perhaps a year.

This breathing spell, as Mr. Bryan plans, will be used for further negotiations, with a view to settling differences. At the same time—and this is the Secretary's major consideration—the two nations will cool off. No third power will act as mediator, except on rare occasions, and special delegations from the disputing powers will conduct the investigations during the days of grace. It is still to be decided whether the findings of fact of these delegates will be published for the sake of their moral effect in forcing an adjustment of differences or will be regarded as confidential for the guidance of the executives of the disputing powers.

This plan has been one of Mr. Bryan's favorite ideas for several years. When President Taft was pushing his arbitration treaties in the Senate, Mr. Bryan communicated his plan to him. But Mr. Taft rejected the suggestion and adhered to his treaties until the Senate emasculated them by amendments.

Mr. Bryan has already discussed his plan fully with President Wilson and obtained his indorsement. This means that if the Committee on Foreign Relations and the Senate show a friendly spirit all the powers will be approached with a view to the negotiation of treaties putting the plan into effect. Not counting the two ill-fated treaties of the Taft Administration, ratifications of which were never exchanged, there are now in force 25 separate treaties of arbitration between the United States and foreign nations, but they have always been regarded as being only a very short step in the direction of world peace.

In taking up his plan with the Committee on Foreign Relations, before negotiating the treaties, Mr. Bryan followedoa course diametrically opposite to that of Mr. Knox. The treaties with Great Britain and France were negotiated in complete secresy, and the first intimation the Senate had of them (aside from statements in the newspapers,) came when President Taft submitted them for ratification. Senate resentment was in large measure the cause of the harsh treatment those treaties received. The Senate has felt since the days of Secretary Hay that its constitutional privilege of “advising” in treaty matters is as important as its right of “consenting” to the treaties once they are made. Col. Bryan's first step was to discuss his plan informally with Democratic members of the committee. They gave a general approval, and in the last few days he has made a tentative draft of his plan and given copies to the committee members to prepare them for his fuller proposal to-morrow.

Some Republican Senators, unregenerate in defeat, are inclined to view Mr. Bryan's plan for negotiating new treaties as inopportune. Senator Chamberlain's resolution is now pending before the committee, calling for the abrogation of two treaties with Great Britain, and they seem to think that should be disposed of before other treaties are broached.

WORLD SCIENTISTS MEET.

Hear About Effect of Sun Spots on the Earth from Dr. Hale.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—The feature of the fiftieth annual meeting of the National Academy of Sciences, which opened here to-day in the presence of distinguished scientists from the United Staes and Europe, was the address of Dr. George E. Hale, Director of the Mount Wilson Solar Observatory, who discussed the effects of sun spots on the earth. The earth's magnetic poles, Dr. Hale said, were by no means uniform, and changed in their character as though revolving about the geographical poles, over which they were located about thirty degrees. The earth's magnetism, he pointed out, fluctuated as though in harmony with the change of the sun spots.

Prof. Ira Remsen, President of the Academy, proposed that the Federal Government make more frequent resort to the academy for scientific advice, thus constituting the body a clearing house for scientific work and knowledge.

Prof. Arthur Schuster, Secretary of the Royal Society of London, urged the use of the International Association of Academies as a proper means of promoting scientific work, pointing out the frequent overlapping of research work so long as academies and students of each nation work independently.

Mrs. Wilson and Miss Jessie Wilson, wife and daughter of the President, were present.

The members of the academy and guests attended a reception to-night given by the Regents and Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution.

TO TEST CANAL WITH FLEET.

Atlantic Warships to Go Through to Pacific When Waterway Is Ready.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Plans are being formed for the mobilization of the Atlantic Fleet on the Pacific Coast next Fall or early Winter. The fleet will cruise through the Mediterranean this Summer, and it is desired to send the ships through the Panama Canal as soon as it is completed in order to determine how well and how quickly this may be accomplished in case of necessity.

Secretary Daniels, after a conference with Secretary Garrison, who three days ago telegraphed Col. Goethals for definite information, finds that the Chief Engineer expects that the water will be turned into the Culebra cut in October, and that one flight of locks at each end of the canal will then be ready for use.

Col. Goethals said the opening of the canal had always been predicated on the condition of the slides and the completion of the locks. If in October, when the water is turned in at Culebra, slides do not prevent, it will be possible to pass vessels through. Col. Goethals is confident of being able to pass vessels through by the end of the year, at all events.

It is planned to send the Fram through the canal, if possible, on her way to be used in Amundsen's arctic cruise, and that ship will be the first, after the old battleship Oregon, to go through. Col. Goethals, however, gives no positive assurances as to the time when the canal may be used because of the uncertainty of slides at Culebra.

BATTLESHIP FLEET COMING.

It Will Again Be Lined Up in Hudson a Week Before Decoration Day.

President John Purroy Mitchel of the Board of Aldermen was notified by Gen. James Grant Wilson, President of the National Maine Monument Association, last night that the Navy Department had ordered the entire Atlantic Fleet, with the exception of two battleships, to New York to take part in the dedication of the Maine monument on Decoration Day. The fleet will come to New York with a new commander-in-chief, a new fleet flagship, and a new fourth division commander.

The number of vessels that will steam into the Hudson several days in advance of Decoration Day will be about nineteen battleships, twenty destroyers, and a dozen naval auxiliaries. The flag of Rear Admiral Charles J. Badger, the new commander-in-chief, will fly from the superdreadnought Wyoming, and the Connecticut, the famous around-the-world flagship, will be seen as the second vessel of the Fourth Division under command of Rear Admiral Frank E. Beatty, another newcomer among the Atlantic Fleet flag officers.

The coming battleships also include the Arkansas, Florida, Utah, North Dakota, and Delaware, the dreadnoughts South Carolina and Michigan, and the first line battleships Vermont, Louisiana, New Hampshire, Virginia, Georgia, Nebraska, New Jersey, Rhode Island, Kansas, and Ohio. The Minnesota and Idaho will be missing, being on duty in Mexican waters.

JURIST FINDS 13 CENTS.

Justice Gavegan Sees Pocketbook on Pavement—Gives It to Police.

Supreme Court Justice Edward J. Gavegan last night found a pocketbook lying on the sidewalk in Broadway, near Thirteenth Street. The Justice promptly took his find to the nearest policeman, Edward J. Delehanty of Traffic Squad B. The policeman received the pocketbook unopened and carried it to the Mercer Street Station.

There, when Lieut. Bauer took the liberty of examining its contents, it was found to contain 13 cents, a key, and a receipt from the Columbus Hospital in favor of Nikola Carmacci.

PASSES SUNDRY CIVIL BILL.

House Adopts Measure Taft Vetoed, Exempting Labor from Trust Law.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—By an overwhelming vote the House passed to-day the Sundry Civil Appropriation bill, with provision to prevent the use of funds appropriated to carry out the anti-trust law for the prosecution of labor unions and farmers' co-operative organizations. An attempt to strike out the two provisions which caused former President Taft to veto the measure in the last days of the Sixty-second Congress was defeated by a vote of 47 to 198.

The Indian Appropriation bill, which failed at the last Congress, also was passed.

SULZER MEASURES MARKED FOR DEFEAT

house. Only five Democrats and four Progressives made this reservation in the course of the debate.

Senator Brown Criticises Sulzer.

Gov. Sulzer began his day by summoning the Senate Judiciary Committee before him soon after he reached the Executive Chamber this morning. He told the members, first of all, that he wanted a public hearing on his Direct Nominations bill. Minority Leader Brown of the Senate, who is a member of this committee, demurred on the ground that it was too late in the session to hold public hearings, and took the Governor to task for not supporting his bill, which contained practically all the provisions contained in the bill which now—in pamphlet form—bears the Governor's name. The Brown bill was introduced very early in the session.

Senator Brown, after entering his protest, left the conference. After he had gone it was decided to call a public hearing on the bill for Saturday afternoon.

Gov. Sulzer to-day authorized the publication of a number of messages he had received since he issued his first direct primary call, approving the stand he has taken. Some of these messages were from country editors. A few were from men active in politics or civic organizations.

Supporters of the Sulzer Primary Bill.

A few of the more prominent men who responded were Charles H. Strong, President of the City Club; Canon Chase of Brooklyn, James E. Kelly, Chairman of the St. Lawrence County Democratic Committee; Charles E. Clark, Chairman of the Allegany County Democratic Committee; John P. Kelly, Democratic County Chairman of Rensselaer; M. J. Callanan, Democratic County Chairman of Clinton, who holds some contracts on the Capitol construction; William Townsend of Utica, member of the Democratic State Committee; A. S. Townsend, Democratic County Chairman of Putnam; ex-Controller Fred W. Hinrichs of Brooklyn, John J. Hopper, Chairman of the Independence League, and L. J. O'Reilly, private secretary to William R. Hearst.

After discussing the Direct Nominations bill, the Governor told the members of the Judiciary Committee that he wished to have the Murtaugh-Jackson Workmen's Compensation bill—the measure favored by the labor unions—passed, and that he wished to have the Stock Exchange Incorporation and 15 Per Cent. Call Loan bills enacted as well. It was said by one of the Judiciary Committee members that the Governor more than intimated that he would veto the Foley Workmen's Compensation bill, which has the indorsement of the State Insurance Department, if the Legislature should happen to pass it.

In a speech to a delegation of labor men who appeared at the Executive Chamber this afternoon the Governor broke what he has declared to be one of his “invariable rules” not to discuss the course he would pursue with reference to bills until they were actually before him for approval, and in language that was not particularly guarded said that he favored the Murtaugh-Jackson bill. This measure, which was drafted by former Secretary of State McDonough, has been opposed bitterly by large employers as well as by the casualty insurance companies. It has been amended somewhat since its introduction.

The effect of the Governor's outspokenness will probably be that no Workmen's Compensation bill will be passed at the present session.

The two principal Wall Street bills which are pending before the Senate Judiciary Committee, it is said to-night, are almost unanimously opposed by members of the committee.

J. H. FLAGLER CALLS MARSHALL PINHEAD

SCORNS ADMINISTRATION

Says Men Now in Congress Can't Make a Living in Their Professions Before Liberal Club.

The minimum wage was discussed last night at a dinner of the Liberal Club in the Hotel Brevoort. John H. Flagler, a Director in several large corporations, one of the principal speakers, made the subject serve for a decided opinion of the present Democratic Administration and for a presentation of his views on the tariff. He called Vice President Marshall a “pin headed demagogue,” and predicted that before four years had passed the old party war cry, “bring on the fatted calf,” would be raised. That is the way he put it.

Mr. Flagler has of late years been active as President of the Hegeman Corporation which runs a chain of large retail drug stores. He was formerly identified with the steel business, being the actual founder of the National Tube Works. He is a Director in banks and trust companies here.

“I do not believe in the present Administration in Washington,” said he, “because to my mind they are not men of practice. They ignore tabulated statistics, they ignore the truth and facts. What can we expect from such men now in Congress, many of whom could not earn a living by thei rprofession at home, but somehow manage to get into Congress. They have only commenced their demonstration, and before the four years are pa[illegible] with hands outstretched, I think, you will hear the old party war cry: ‘Bring on the fatted calf!’

“What we want are men like Washington, Lincoln, and Cleveland who govern themselves above party lines. Where can we find such men to-day? Certainly not with the calibre now controlling and administering the affairs of this country, particularly the Vice President, who already is proving himself a demagogue of the ‘pinhead’ type.

“This political revolution of passing the reins of the country from one party to another I do not call a triumph. If Roosevelt had not split the Republican Party there would not be to-day in Washington such men as are called upon to administer the affairs of this great country. I do not think it is going to be a good working partnership with the people or States. It is not going to be scientifically a working business Administration, for already they are violating the natural law and the benefits for mankind.

“They are handicapping both capital and labor from conditions of growth and improvements and natural progress.

“The tariff question does not belong in politics. Many people know it, Mr. Wilson knows it, Congress knows it. But neither dare admit it. Mr. Wilson is a cultured, intellectual gentleman, but not a great, broad, intelligent, practical man, and as for his running mate, God help us if Mr. Marshall should become the Chief Executive.”

Mr. Flagler advocated a National Board of Trade to regulate the tariff.

“It must be composed of merchants in the several States,” he said. “There will be no importers' committee of ways and means, headed by a Mr. Underwood, as now working in Washington, but a real American Board of Trade.

“A tariff of revenue only makes no pretension of helping the wages of a working man.

“The present method by which the tariffs are decided upon is absurd. A Congressional committee calls together manufacturers and asks them the cost of their material, their profits, and other questions. Figures, they say, can prove anything. So can a committee of politicians. The growth of the country and facilities of production should be taken into account and modifications of the tariff should be made at intervals whether a Republican or Democratic Administration is in office.

“I have had experience at Washington where I tried to keep ignorant politicians from robbing the company in which I was connected. I believe the tariff should be modified as to bring the least harm to all—to capital and to labor.

“I have been before Democratic committees many years ago and I know what it means. They show too little regard for the interests of the workingmen. They themselves continue to draw salaries, whatever the tariff may be, and by their thousands of workingmen may be deprived of a livelihood.

To-day the Importers' Committee have taken off the duty on rails for the benefit of the foreign capital and the foreign workingman. Every rail so dumped free on American soil is going to take just so much away from our own workingman, and we are by this act made the dumping ground of the surplus made in England, Belgium, and Germany. Wonderful brains have this Importers' Committee of Ways and Means shown to foreign manufacturers, and who are now prepared to flood our country with their surplus of whatever nature this committee makes free.

“The tariff of this country has been a barrier against a lower standard of living and has made labor what it is to-day.”

District Attorney Whitman arrived late and spoke briefly. The Rev. Percy Stickney Grant, who presided, introduced Mr. Whitman as the chief argument New York City has for believing in Divine Providence. Mr. Whitman said that it did not follow that conditions that had always existed in the cities of this and other countries must always exist or that problems must forever remain unsolved.

Abram I. Elkus, counsel for the Wagner Factory Investigation Committee, declared that one of the great needs of the present day was training and education. He said he was an optimist, and believed that the world was getting better. Mrs. Rheta Childe Dorr told of the working of the minimum-wage law in England.

FIRE ENGINES IN A CRASH.

Horse Is Killed as Engines Come Together on Way to a Blaze.

One horse was killed and six firemen were badly shaken up, when two fire engines, answering an alarm for a small fire in Jersey City last night, ran into each other at the corner of Union Street and Garfield Avenue.

One of the engines was coming along Union Street, the other along Garfield Avenue, and as they crashed into each other one of the horses got its feet caught in the wheels of the other engine, and was so badly injured that he had to be shot immediately. The three firemen on each engine escaped with a bad jarring.

Speakers at Efficiency Meeting.

Stories of the building up of great businesses were told last night at the April meeting of the Efficiency Society at the rooms of the Aldine Club. The speakers were F. H. Ralston, General Sales Manager of the Butterick Publishing Company; R. B. Wattley, auditor of the United Cigar Stores Company, and Paul V. Bunn, General Manager of The Home Pattern Company. William R. Willcox, ex-Chairman of the Public Service Commission, was recently elected President of the Efficiency Society and presided at the meeting last night.

Gallagher Calls the Leagues Country's Most Audacious, Autocratic Trusts.

HE SUGGESTS PROSECUTION

Representative Demands Special Investigating Committee—Ty Cobb's Case Before Senator Smith.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Representative Gallagher of Illinois introduced a resolution to-day calling for an investigation by a special committee of the interests controlling the great baseball leagues of the country. The Representative characterized the baseball organizations as the “most audacious and autocratic trusts in the country,” and suggested in his resolution that the Attorney General be directed to investigate baseball contracts, with a view to prosecutions for violations of the Sherman Anti-Trust act.

Mr. Gallagher's action is thought to have a close bearing on the case of “Ty” Cobb and his fight with the Detroit club of the American League. Cobb is a native of Georgia, and friends of his in that State have forwarded the papers in his case to Senator Hoke Smith to enlist his assistance. The Senator said to-night that he had just received the papers, but had not had time to study them. He is waiting to see what course the House will pursue with the Gallagher resolution.

Representative Gallagher has corresponded on the subject of alleged baseball abuses with Horace Fogel, formerly owner of the Philadelphia National League team. In one of his letters to Mr. Gallagher Mr. Fogel said:

> I think you have struck the popular chord in the movement against the baseball trust, as the public at large are sour on the methods of this monopoly, and you will have the people with you in demanding the investigation.

The Gallagher resolution would direct the special committee to investigate “the operation and practices of the baseball trust” to ascertain whether unjust discriminations have been practiced in favor of or against players; whether players are now or have been prejudiced, coerced, or restrained from the exercise of their just rights to enter into contracts of a fair and equitable nature, and whether such a combination has been effected among baseball magnates throughout the country as would preclude competition and operate in restraint of trade.

CINCINNATI, April 22.—August Herrmann, Chairman of the National Baseball Commission, issued the following statement to-day regarding the proposed investigation by Congress:

“This resolution is practically the same as the one introduced by Congressman Gallagher last year. We have nothing whatever to fear. In fact, we rather invite a thorough and exhaustive examination of the whole matter, fully believing that if this is done nothing but good can result to the game.

“All of the actions of the National Commission are open and above board. Nothing is concealed. The principles of the National agreement protect all who are interested in the game—the players, club owners, umpires, and officials, as well as the patrons. Without the provisions of the National agreement, the game could not and would not be the National sport of the country, such as it is.”

CLERGY DISCUSS MORGAN'S WILL

Dignitaries of Church of England Give Opinions on His Confession of Faith.

DEAN WELLDON'S CRITICISM

People Should Not Regard a Man's Belief as Important Because He Is Rich.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Wednesday, April 23.—The Daily Express has invited expressions of opinion from churchmen on the confession of faith contained in J. Pierpont Morgan's will. The Right Rev. J. E. C. Welldon, Dean of Manchester, writes:

"It will not, I think, be argued that a millionaire cannot be saved, or that he can be saved in any other way than a pauper. There is no essential incompatibility between Christianity and finance. To treat Mr. Morgan's profession of faith as though it were a fact of peculiar interest or importance because he happened to possess enormous wealth is to misunderstand the nature of the Christian religion."

Archdeacon Sinclair, Canon of St. Paul's Cathedral, writes:

"The question is, How far is the practice of business methods in accordance with the teaching of Christianity? Business on a large or on a small scale calls out certain excellent qualities—honesty, integrity, justice, mental ability, perception, courage, perseverance, diligence, steadfastness, foresight, prudence, and judgment. It enables a man to do innumerable acts of kindness, to be generous on a large scale, to practice the great virtue of patriotism, to give employment to multitudes who might not otherwise obtain it, to give vitality to the nerves and sinews of people, to encourage every branch of art, science, and learning.

"All this seems to me to be true of Mr. Morgan, who was well known to myself and the members of my family. I always heard his integrity maintained by those who had a right to speak, and I believe on good grounds that his employes were treated not only with justice, but with generosity.

"In high finance there must be elements of competition and combat. Those who enter the arena must be prepared to meet risks. The accumulation of great wealth does not necessarily mean that others have lost it. It is more reasonable to say that they have not gained it, and if any have lost it in competition it would need strict proof to show that they lost it unfairly.

"Nor is it wise to cavil at the vastness of a fortune. In high finance, when handled by a man of extraordinary genius and vast organizing power, the profits must be rapid and enormous. The question is how they are employed.

"Mr. Morgan cared little for display. He enjoyed a family life of unbroken happiness. He supported hospitals, Church institutions, and philanthropic agencies with lavish generosity. To London he gave the electrical installation in St. Paul's Cathedral, at a cost of £17,000, ($85,000,) and would have spent more, for he wished an additional supply of light. His wonderful library and art collections were amassed with a view to the public advantage.

"It is mean at all times to be jealous of great fortunes, and especially when they are used as admirably as that of Mr. Morgan. We are told it is hard for those that have riches to enter the kingdom of heaven, but we are not told that it is impossible."

The Rev. C. Silvester Horne sees no reason to doubt the perfect sincerity of Mr. Morgan's confession of faith, and regards it as his clear testimony that the best things of life are what money cannot buy, namely, a good conscience, a pure heart, and an enlightened, loving spirit.

"If you press the question," concludes Mr. Horne, "whether such vast accumulations are consistent with Christianity, I can only say that in my judgment no truly Christian State would allow any individual, however good, to be possessed of such power, such almost unlimited control of finance."

The Rev. F. B. Meyer thinks that, although Mr. Morgan was regarded as a religious man, most people were startled by the explicit statement of his faith contained in his will. He adds:

"There is more religion in the world than we suppose, and it is clearly possible for a Christian man to hold his own with the keenest business men of his time. When next young men tell me that it is impossible for a conscientious man to compete against modern business methods, my triumphant answer henceforth will be to quote this remarkable instance to the contrary.

"That this expression of belief was not intellectual merely, but radical, appears from the munificence of Mr. Morgan's generosity while living and the minute thoughtfulness of his bequests now that he has passed."

MORGAN WILL ADMITTED.

Heirs Not Cited to Appear—Appraisal to Begin Soon.

J. Pierpont Morgan's will was admitted to probate yesterday by an order of Surrogate Cohalan, after the witnesses to the document had appeared before Probate Clerk Washburn to make sworn statements of its execution. As the heirs signed waivers, they were not cited to appear in the proceedings.

The work of appraising the estate will begin as soon as the Surrogate has assigned one of the eight appraisers from the office of the Deputy State Controller to the work.

NOW FOR PLUMELESS HATS.

Tyrant Man Responsible for "Murderous Millinery," Says Mme. Grand

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 22.—Featherless hats provided one of the features of the exhibition and conference opened in London to-day for the purpose of bringing together societies and individuals interested in the suppression of cruelty to animals.

The millinery exhibits are intended to prove that women's hats may be both beautiful and fashionable without the aid of feathers and plumes, the plucking of which, it is said, causes unnecessary pain to the birds. A hat with a large plume made of grasses, stiffened and colored, won general approval from fashion experts. Ribbons played a great part in the trimmings. Other exhibits fashioned in the shapes of plumes and feathers proved most effective.

Mme. Sarah Grand, acting as first Chairman of the series of conferences, dealt with the question of "murderous millinery." Man, she said, was at the bottom of the whole mischief. Behind the evil traffic in birds' plumage was the commercial organization. She appealed to women to emancipate themselves from the tyranny of being dictated to by men as to what they should wear.

KIPLING AS A DRAMATIST.

His One-Act Play, "The Harbor Watch," Praised by London Critics.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 22.—Rudyard Kipling made his début as a dramatist this afternoon, when his one-act play, "The Harbor Watch," was produced at the Royalty Theatre with great success. The characteristic Kipling humor pleased the audience, and laughter followed almost every phrase.

The critics hope that Mr. Kipling will write other plays and promise him a big future as a dramatist.

CENTENARY ENVOYS COMING

British Representatives to Confer on Peace Celebration Plans.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 22.—A delegation from the British committee for the celebration of the Anglo-American peace centenary will sail for New York on Saturday to consult the American and Canadian committees regarding the programme.

The delegation, which is headed by Lord Weardale, includes Sir Arthur Lawley, Sir George Reid, (representing the Commonwealth of Australia,) Earl Stanhope, Sir Herbert Maxwell, the Hon. Neil Primrose, and Morton Frewen.

The King, who is taking considerable interest in the visit, will receive the delegation on Friday.

SLUMP IN ART VALUES.

Low Prices at Rouart Sale Lead to Belief That It Has Set In.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, April 22.—The sale of the third portion of the Henri Rouart art collection was concluded at the Hôtel Drouot this afternoon. As was the case yesterday, surprisingly low prices were obtained. The total for the two days was $16,962.

The highest price paid to-day was given for a study of an Italian village by Corot, which realized $620. "Paris: la Butte Montmartre," by Lépine, brought $540, and a fine Pissarro, "The House of the Painter Pierre at Monfoucault," was sold for $500.

A study of flowers by Diaz de la Peña was knocked down for $420, a sketch by Corot for $340, and another painting by the same artist, of his favorite Forest of Fontainebleau, for a similar sum.

In art circles the question whether a slump in values has set in is being discussed. Certainly the low bidding at the Rouart sale, though partly explained by the fact that the Rouart family bid in a large number of the lots, seems to indicate that a reaction from the enormous prices that ruled at sales last season has begun.

TOP FALLS OFF MOUNTAIN.

Gardens and Orchards in South France Destroyed—No Lives Lost.

FLORAC, Department of Lozère, France, April 22.—The crest of Mount Rochefort, dominating this town, fell off to-day. An enormous mass of rock, estimated to measure 30,000 cubic yards, rolled for a mile and a half into the valley, destroying fields, gardens, and orchards. Its passage was marked by a frightful grinding noise. It stopped at the outskirts of a village.

No one was killed.

NEW CUBAN CABINET.

Cosme de la Torriente, ex-Minister to Spain, Secretary of State.

CHAPARRA, Oriente Province, Cuba, April 22.—Gen. Juan Marie Menocal, the newly proclaimed President of Cuba, to-day authorized the announcement of the composition of his Cabinet, as follows:

Secretary of Interior—AURELIO HEVIA, lawyer.

Secretary of Treasury—LEOPOLDO CANCIO, lawyer.

Secretary of Public Health—ENRIQUE NUNEZ y PALOMINO, Professor of Medicine at the National Universiay.

Secretary of State—COSME DE LA TORRIENTE, ex-Minister to Spain.

Secretary of Justice—CHRISTOBAL DE LA GUARDIA, lawyer.

Secretary of Agriculture—EMILIO NUNEZ, merchant.

Secretary of Education—EZEQUIEL GARCIA y ENSENAT, University professor.

Secretary of Public Works—JOSE R. VILLALON y SANCHEZ, ex-Secretary of Public Works.

The selections agree with the reports which have been in circulation for some time.

Gen. Menocal intends to return soon to Havana.

Lady Scott's Work Shown.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 22.—A bronze bust of Premier Asquith, executed for the Reform Club by Lady Scott, has been added to the International Society's exhibition in London.

GERMAN AEROPLANE LANDS IN FRANCE

Second Unwelcome Visit by Air Route—Allowed to Return After Several Hours.

FRANCE MAKES A PROTEST

Asks That Measures Be Taken to Avoid Such Incidents, and Germany Agrees to Prevent Them.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, April 22.—Two German Army officers in a military biplane landed this morning in French territory at Arracourt, about nine miles from Luneville, where the Zeppelin airship recently descended, and not far from Nancy, where German visitors a few days ago were mobbed by a French crowd.

The French inhabitants remained calm and there were no unpleasant scenes. The airmen were allowed to fly back to Germany in the evening.

The French Government is protesting in Berlin against these blunders of German airmen. The official account of the latest frontier incident, given by the Minister of the Interior, says:

"The officers stated that they left Darmstadt for Metz at 5 o'clock in the morning, and lost their way in the mist. They did not know they were in French territory until they landed and questioned the inhabitants. The military authorities agreed that the landing was due to force majeure.

"Instructions have been sent to our Ambassador in Berlin to call the attention of the Imperial Government to the repeated landings of German aircraft in France near the frontier and to direct attention to the serious inconveniences which might result from these regrettable incidents. M. Cambon has been directed to request the German Government to take measures to avoid a recurrence of these acts.

"Pourparlers are in progress between the two Governments with the object of arriving as promptly as possible at an agreement with regard to the procedure to be applied in the event of difficulties arising between them concerning aeronautics."

The biplane that descended in France is one of four which left Darmstadt this morning for Metz, about 130 miles away. Of these four none reached its destination.

When the biplane landed in a field about 300 yards from the village the granddaughter of the Mayor of Arracourt ran up, and the pilots asked in French, "Where are we, little girl?" She replied, "In France, of course."

An energetic oath came from the Captain, and his brow clouded as he realized that he had "fallen into the hands of the enemy."

Shortly afterward the biplane was surrounded by French policemen and customs officers, who placed the airmen temporarily under arrest.

At noon, while a large crowd of civilians and soldiers from frontier garrisons was standing around the aeroplane a Zeppelin airship suddenly came into sight, and for half an hour skirted the frontier, finally disappearing. Its appearance gave rise to much comment.

NANCY, April 22.—The German aeroplane ascended and left Arracourt without any manifestation on the part of the large crowd which watched its departure.

The German officers thanked the Sub-Préfect for the care he had exercised to protect the aeroplane, and asked him also to convey their thanks to the French Government.

METZ, April 22.—The two military aviators who were forced to make a landing in France this morning recrossed the frontier and arrived here this evening.

BERLIN, Wednesday, April 23.—The Nordeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung says:

"The German Government has taken steps to prevent a recurrence of landings by German airmen beyond the frontiers. The Government is conferring with France for the purpose of reaching an agreement regarding aircraft navigation."

EDITOR'S SON KILLED.

J. M. Marlowe, Whose Father Heads Daily Mail, Dies Autoing.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 22.—John Morrison Marlowe, an undergraduate of Cambridge University, eldest son of Thomas Marlowe, editor of The Daily Mail, while driving an automobile near Histon, Cambridgeshire, on Monday night, collided with a cart, the shaft of which struck Marlowe, killing him instantly.

THE IMPERATOR REFLOATED

Great New German Liner Ran Aground in Elbe Despite Precautions

HAMBURG, April 22.—The new Hamburg-American Line steamship Imperator, 900 feet long, ran aground in the Elbe this morning. She was proceeding from the Vulcan Shipbuilding Yards for the lower Elbe to make ready for her official trial trips, when she groundded off Altona.

The Imperator was floated this evening and proceeded on her journey.

The great liner started at the highest stage of the morning tide, and it was feared that there would be barely enough water under the most favorable conditions. Four powerful tugs, two ahead and two astern, kept the vessel in mid-channel, but in spite of this she touched bottom.

BERLIN, April 22.—It is announced that Emperor William has postponed his proposed trip on the steamship Imperator on her trials.

Mishap to Imperator Is Denied.

The officials of the Hamburg-American line received to-day a cable from Hamburg announcing the arrival of the S. S. Imperator in the lower Elbe and stating that she would proceed on her trial trip at once. The dispatch emphatically denied the report that the Imperator had grounded and explained that owing to strong east winds and the low water resulting therefrom it was deemed advisable to anchor the vessel near Altona for several hours.

CREMATE DUNCAN CHILDREN

Ceremony Is Attended by Literary and Artistic Celebrities.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, April 22.—Amid scenes more mournful than in any Greek tragedy in which their mother had ever danced, the bodies of Dorothea and Patrick, the children of Isadora Duncan, were cremated to-day at Père-la-Chaise Cemetery, together with the body of their nurse, Annie Sim.

In the morning the three bodies reposed on a catafalque in the middle of the large studio in the Duncan villa at Neuilly. Very early more wreaths began to arrive to swell the mass of flowers already covering the coffins. A little before 10 o'clock men and women famous in the artistic and literary life of Paris began to assemble, and by 10 A. M., when the funeral ceremony began, the studio was thronged.

With Miss Duncan were her brothers, Raymond and Augustine, and her sister, Elizabeth. Others in the studio were Jules Claretie, Jean Mounet-Sully, Gabriel Astruc, Baron d'Estournelles de Constant, Jeanne Granier, Marie Leconte, and Yvette Guilbert.

Thirty children, dressed in white, Miss Duncan's dancing pupils, filed into the studio, at one side of which was the famous Colonne Orchestra.

The orchestra rendered Grieg's "Death of Ase," followed by a Bach aria and a Mozart ancante. Then the cortège of 200 mourners began the journey across Paris to Père-la-Chaise.

Owing to delay in the cremation formalities, due to the short notice given, it was nearly three hours before the bodies were reduced to dust, the mourners in the meantime wandering about in the cemetery.

On arriving at the cemetery, Miss Duncan was assisted into the main crematorium by Raymond Duncan, who was wearing a flowing mauve robe and sandals. Miss Duncan, who wore a motoring cloak and veil, was in a condition so weak and pathetic that two women rushed forward from the dense crowd around the crematorium to aid her.

In the furnace room masses of white roses and lilies were thrown. Miss Duncan remained there twenty minutes for a last look at her children, and was then assisted to an automobile without waiting for the cremation.

'LIFELONG DEMOCRAT' WENT

Woman Clerk Had Been a "Black-and-Tan Republican" Under Taft.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Ingenuity and political influence have failed at least one woman employe of the Federal Government.

As Assistant Secretary Williams of the Treasury Department was about to transfer a woman clerk to another department he received a hurried telephone call from two prominent United States Senators asking him to postpone action until they could indorse their constituent's protest. Personally to-day they presented her claims to recognition from the Democrats on the ground that she was a suffragist, steeped in Democratic principles, for the triumph of which she had worked during the campaign.

Mr. Williams listened attentively and then shoved before the Senators a cumulative file of papers covering the case, including letters from this now "lifelong Democrat" to officials of the preceding Republican Administration, in which she sought preferment on the ground that she was a "black-and-tan Republican." She was transferred.

CENSUS APPOINTMENT SNAG

Senate Republicans to Halt Harris's Nomination in Durand's Place.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—A number of Senate Republicans announced in a party conference to-day that they proposed to hold up the nomination of W. J. Harris of Georgia as Director of the Census to succeed E. Dana Durand.

The conference failed again to agree on any general plan as to President Wilson's appointments, but decided to oppose changes in the Consular Service, which they regard as a classical branch of Government service.

The conference will be resumed on Thursday.

Greek Catholic Bishop in America.

BUDAPEST, April 22.—The Hungarians residing in America who belong to the Greek Catholic Church will soon have a Bishop of their own. The new Primate of Hungary, Dr. Johann Csernoch, with the support of Cardinal Merry del Val, Papal Secretary of State, has succeeded in inducing Pope Pius to consent to the establishment of a Bishopric of the Greek Catholic Church in America.

Scott Memorial Fund Here, $5,830.

The American Branch of the Scott Memorial Fund, of which Rear Admiral Peary is President, now has $5,830. Since the publication of the list of subscribers last week Henry Clews, Treasurer of the fund, has received these sums: National Geographic Society, $500; George W. Colton, $25; Samuel M. Schafer, $25; E. S. Mullins, $10; Henry Wellington Wack, $5; S. J. Townsend, $5; Jacob Rossbach, $5; A. L., $2; Joseph H. Prisk, $1. Mr. Clews hopes to have $10,000 when the fund closes at the end of April.

REICHSTAG INQUIRY INTO ARMS SCANDAL

Commission to be Appointed, but It Will Not Have Power to Subpoena Witnesses.

SOCIETY LEADERS INVOLVED

Son-in-law of Adolphus Busch Director of Accused Company and Prince von Donnersmarck Another.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, April 22.—The Budget Committee of the Reichstag voted today to appoint a Parliamentary Commission of Inquiry into the armaments scandals.

The Socialist Party made a fruitless attempt to have the commission clothed with similar interrogatory powers to those possessed by the Senatorial Titanic and Congressional Money Trust Committees in the United States. A majority of the Budget Committee voted down the proposal, it being asserted that the power to summon witnesses and compel testimony could not be conferred without a special law.

It would begin to look, therefore, as if the commission's inquiry were already destined to be a nebulous affair.

The country is staggered by the scandals involving the Krupps and the Deutsche Munitions und Waffenfabrik. It is the latter concern which is specifically accused of attempting to influence the Paris press to print false reports of French military preparations in order to exercise "moral pressure" on public opinion in Germany.

The owners and managers of the Munitions und Waffenfabrik rank as high socially as the heads of the Krupp concern. One of the managing directors, who signed a letter seeking to "inspire" the French press, is Dr. von Gontard, son-in-law of Adolphus Busch of St. Louis, who was raised to the Prussian peerage in 1911 by the Kaiser. The Gontards' home in Berlin is a meeting place of the aristocratic social set of which royal Princes are leaders.

One of the Directors of the same company is the multimillionaire Silesian magnate, Prince Guido Henckel von Donnersmarck, a great friend of the Kaiser, who has often visited the Prince's country house as a guest.

The newspapers are publishing figures showing that in the year in which the company began its agitation in France its dividends increased from 20 to 32 per cent., and the price of its shares rose from 290 to 575.

The position of the Imperial War Minister, Gen. von Heeringen, was further shaken to-day by the action of the Budget Committee of the Reichstag in rejecting the War Office's proposal to erect a new building for the Kaiser's Military Cabinet. It came to light that Gen. von Heeringen had made a private deal with a banker named von Winterfeld to put up a building in exchange for some property owned by the War Office before the latter had gone through the form of obtaining the Reichstag's sanction.

The Budget Committee denounced the deal as a brazen flouting of the Reichstag's prerogative and refused to sanction the transaction. The banker concerned will probably sue for damages.

POPE'S ENVOY AT MALTA.

Cardinal Ferrata Will Open the Eucharistic Congress To-day.

VALLETTA, April 22.—Cardinal Ferrata, the Papal Legate to the Eucharistic Congress, which is to be held here and over which he is to preside at its opening to-morrow, landed this afternoon from the British torpedo gunboat Hussar, coming from Sicily. He was received with acclamations by the vast crowds which thronged the bastions and the harbor front.

Amid the ringing of bells in all the churches in Valletta the Papal Legate drove through the richly decorated streets to Floriana, where a reception in his honor was given by the Archbishop of Malta, the foreign dignitaries, and the clergy.

The Cardinal subsequently attended a brief service at St. John's Cathedral and drove from there to the Archbishop's palace, where he will reside during the Congress.

New Chinese Loan Negotiations.

LONDON, April 22.—A group of London financiers received a telegram today notifying them that the Chinese Government was ready to negotiate with the "five-power group" a loan of $125,000,000 at 5 per cent.

LAWRENCES MAY COME HERE

England Fears an American May Buy Great Collection of Drawings.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 22.—Great alarm is felt in English art circles over the probability of the great collection of Sir Thomas Lawrence's drawings formed by Edward Duveen going to America. An exhibition of these drawings will be opened to-morrow at the Edward Gallery by Prince Alexander of Teck.

The collection consists of sixty examples of every period. It includes an astoundingly mature portrait of himself, when a graceful, curly headed boy, and another of his sister Anne, drawn when he was 12 years of age, as well as many executed in the closing years of his life. The drawings are valued by Edward Duveen at $75,000, a price which, though formidable, is not excessive when one considers the scarcity of Lawrence's drawings and their average quality, which is vastly superior to that of his oil paintings.

The best drawings recall the infinite subtlety, precision, and cleanness of Ingres. They are unrivaled by those of any other British artist. Some of the less highly finished drawings are first ideas of famous portraits, like those of Miss Farren (in the Morgan collection) and the Calmady children. Sir Thomas considered the latter painting his masterpiece; yet the drawing is in some ways more beautiful than the finished picture. Among the most exquisite portraits are those of Lady Blessington, John Flaxman, a Raeburnlike Margaret Carpenter, and an almost impressionist, loosely handled Mrs. Bannister (née Harper) and Countess Gower, (afterward Duchess of Sutherland.)

It took Edward Duveen fifteen years to bring together the collection, which is unique and forms a splendid demonstration of a comparatively little known phase of a brilliant artist's achievements.

THE POPE WANTS TO WORK.

Obeys Doctors' Orders Reluctantly—Health Continues to Improve.

ROME, April 22.—The Pope sat up for two hours to-day, after which Dr. Amici, acting on instructions from Prof. Marchiafava, forced him to return to bed, which the Pontiff did reluctantly. Dr. Amici remained in the sickroom for a considerable time to make certain that his orders were carried out.

The Pope continues to express impatience for the resumption of his ordinary life, but the physicians insist upon absolute rest, at least for another fortnight. They declare that another relapse in such a case would be inexcusable, both for the patient and the doctors.

The Pope was much less troubled by his cough to-day, and he was also without fever. As this was the sixth successive day on which his temperature had not risen above normal, the physicians decided that they would shortly be able to limit their visits to once daily.

The Osservatore Romano to-night, for the first time since the Pope fell ill, appears without any news relating to the Pontiff's health. An attendant at the Vatican, however, gave out the following bulletin:

> The Pope's temperature is normal. He cannot yet be considered quite convalescent, but is near that stage. He has not yet regained his strength, but it is hoped that his strong constitution will lead him soon to complete recovery.

Cardinal Merry del Val, the Papal Secretary of State, to-day received a pilgrimage from the Diocese of Cambrai, France, conducted by Bishop Delamaire, who brought with him a bronze group representing the Virgin carrying a patient who had been carried before her. The Bishop said that the pilgrims desired to present the group to the Pope and asked that it be taken to his bedroom as a good augury that the Virgin would smile upon the sick Pontiff and relieve him of his infirmities.

The Papale Secretary, in expressing his thanks, said: "The pilgrims are children of France, which, notwithstanding its many sins, is to be considered always the oldest daughter of the Church. The pilgrims who have come to Rome commemorate the liberty granted by Constantine to the Church, and they must pray that the same liberty be granted again to the Church in France."

An American pilgrimage led by John J McGrane of New York, comprising about one hundred, of whom a score are ecclesiastics, arrived here this evening by special train from Naples. They expressed great regret to hear that the Pope's condition was such that it would be impossible for him to receive them in audience, but they have not given up hope that they will at least see the Pontiff.

Lord Alfred Douglas Loses.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 22.—In Lord Alfred Douglas's libel action against Arthur Ransome and The Times Book Club the jury to-day returned a verdict in favor of the defendants. The action was brought owing to a book on Oscar Wilde written by Mr. Ransome, which, Lord Alfred asserted, contained libelous statements regarding him.

GREAT TRADE BOOM AIDS LLOYD-GEORGE

Announces No New Taxation in Budget Speech, Though Expenses Have Risen.

NO SIGN OF A REACTION

Believes Europe Is About to Have Unparalleled Prosperity—Deplores Cost of Armaments.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 22.—The fear that Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd-George would have to announce new taxation in his Budget speech to-day was not fulfilled, although the increased expenditure on armaments, national insurance, &c., makes it necessary to raise £7,000.000 ($35,000,000) more than the estimated revenue of last year.

The Chancellor calculates that he will be able to do this without placing any new burden on the taxpayers. This fact is due to two prime causes—first, the extraordinary prosperity of the country; second, the unexhausted harvest of the new taxes of the famous Budget of 1909, which achieved a success beyond the Chancellor's highest hopes. These taxes have not yet come to full fruition, but they produced last year some £25,000,000.

The Chancellor took an extremely optimistic view of the future. He said the past year, despite the coal strike and bad harvest at home and the nervousness caused by the Balkan war, had been one of unparalleled trade, and, basing his calculations upon the widespread inquiry for goods, said he saw no reason to suppose that Great Britain had even now touched the high-water mark.

"I am justified," he said, "in forecasting my revenue this year on the assumption that we have entered the most glowing year that British trade has ever seeen."

After pointing out that the most disquieting factor to-day was the trouble in the Near East, and referring to the money stringency on the Continent as a result of the nervous tension, the Chancellor proceeded:

"My inquiries show me that there is greater confidence, a greater feeling of buoyancy, than existed a few weeks ago. The general feeling is that the greatest danger is over. Undoubtedly what constituted the greatest element of irritation has been almost entirely eliminated, and it is felt that in a very short time peace will be restored and we will get normal conditions.

"The waste of the war will, of course, have to be repaired. That will take time, but the trade boom has been so high, the prosperity of all these countries has been so great, and the flood has attained such dimensions that it will not take long to repair the devastations of the war, and the countries of Europe will enjoy prosperity such as they never witnessed before.

"That is the conclusion, I am glad to be able to say, to which business men have come. I am not giving my own views; I am giving what I have gathered from business men in all parts of the country."

The Chancellor traced the course of expenditure since 1861, when Gladstone introduced a budget of £70,000,000. The expenditure was then £2 8s. 6d. per head of the population. It is now £4 6s. 2d. The largest individual increase since 1861 has been on armaments. The year 1861 represented the high-water mark of that date in the cost of armaments. Shortly afterward the expenditure on the army and navy rose by £3,000,000 a year. It was in 1861 £28,285,000. It is now £74,544,000.

Since, said Mr. Lloyd-George, he had had the privilege of occupying his present office the expenditure on armaments had grown by £15,000,000, and he could see no prospect of this great and menacing increase coming to an end unless there were some fundamental change in the attitude and policy of the nations concerned.

THOUGHT TOO OPTIMISTIC.

Lloyd George Criticised for Not Preparing for a Rainy Day.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Wednesday, April 23.—The Opposition newspapers, while welcoming the fact that Mr. Lloyd-George has not imposed fresh taxation, unanimously express the fear that the Chancellor in his budget speech was overoptimistic regarding the future.

One paper accuses him of indulging in daring speculation on the chances of a large increase in the yield of existing taxes; another describes his estimate of the revenue of the current year as "an example of guesswork on a gigantic scale," while a third calls it a "great gamble in futures."

The Times says there is amazement on the Unionist side that Mr. Lloyd-George should have reckoned on all conceivable increases in revenue in the current year.

It is pointed out by critics on both sides that no allowance is made for a rainy day.

LIVES LOST AS LEVEE GOES.

Rations Issued for 10,000 Flood Sufferers Along Mississippi.

VICKSBURG, Miss., April 22.—One hundred thousand rations were issued to-day by Capt. W. B. Baker, U. S. A., for 10,000 persons who are expected to suffer at various points north of here as a result of the Woodlawn crevasse in the Mississippi River levee. This city will be the site of a relief and refuge camp. Gov. Brewer has ordered that State Guard tents be sent here.

The water from the crevasse has invaded Mayersville and Rolling Fork. Other small places soon will be inundated. The last train on the Yazoo & Mississippi Valley Railroad, service on which was suspended north of here today, carried a carload of supplies.

At least two lives were lost when the Woodlawn levee broke. An old negro and a negro boy were swept away. Several hundred persons who rushed to the levees were rescued by the packet steamer Ben Hur. The Government steamer Nakimos arrived at the break to-day and immediately sent out rescue crews with gasoline launches and skiffs. The crevasse had widened to more than a thousand feet at noon and the levee was crumbling rapidly at both ends of the break.

JACKSON, Miss., April 22.—Gov. Brewer estimated to-day that 75,000 acres would be flooded by water coming through the crevasse in the Mississippi River levee near Mayersville.

NEW ORLEANS, April 22.—From Vicksburg north to Helena, Ark., the Mississippi has remained almost stationary during the last twenty-four hours, but the river continues to rise from Natchez south to the Gulf. It is believed the danger stage will not be approached near Baton Rouge until May 1.

This $67.50 Outfit for the Auto Driver at $48.50 is proving to be the most popular innovation we ever have announced.

¶ And there is one important thing for you to remember in connection with this offering. It is this: The fact that this announcement comes from the Saks' Auto Shop is the only guarantee you need as to quality. It is also the only guarantee of its kind that you can get. We mention this because we take it that even a low price cannot interest you unless you know the reputation of the house behind it.

Briefly, this is what the outfit consists of Norfolk or Pleated Suit, made of worsted or whipcord, with long or short trousers, and excellently tailored throughout.

Single Breasted Overcoat, made of worsted or whipcord, with inverted side pleats and convertible collar. A very smart looking model, that is cut on entirely new lines.

Motor Caps, to match suit or overcoat.

Cowhide Leggins, of superior quality.

Black Auto Gloves, that will give good service.

The Laying on of Hands

¶ How many men are familiar with the hand that smoothes, as if by magic, the tell-tale wrinkles that reveal the unskilled tailoring of average clothes?

¶ And how like a guilty conscience those wrinkles reappear to mock the tailor's futile folderol when next you put the garment on.

¶ In Saks clothes there is no laying on of hands—no swift, deft touches to pull an obstinate garment into temporary submission—because there is no need of it.

¶ Saks clothes are made to fit, without any pulling and stretching or any such unspeakable nonsense as that immemorial bromide: "That'll disappear after you have worn it a little while."

¶ And no matter how you are built, small, medium or large—no matter what liberties Nature has seen fit to take with your person—in every model, in every fabric, and at every price, Saks & Company has your measure to a T.

BELGIAN WORKERS WIN; STRIKE TO END

Committee Will Report to Parliament on New Franchise Scheme.

MONDAY WILL BRING PEACE

King Albert Largely Responsible for Government's Acceptance of the Compromise.

BRUSSELS, April 22.—Owing in great part to the advice of the King, the Government to-day accepted the compromise proposed by the Liberal leader, F. Masson, and the great strike for manhood suffrage, which, on account of the remarkable discipline maintained, the solidarity of those who joined in the movement, and its skillful organization, is unique in history, will be called off on Thursday.

Only a week ago the Belgian Premier declared: "No Government could yield to a strike of this nature. To yield would be to abdicate."

Nevertheless, the strike seems to have made sufficient impression upon the Government to induce it to unbend from its uncompromising attitude far enough to insure the termination of a situation which has already cost the country many millions and is daily driving away from the manufacturers customers they may never win back.

The decision to accept the compromise was reached yesterday by the Cabinet, and the Premier announced in the Chamber of Deputies to-day that the Government had made M. Masson's motion its own.

When the Chamber of Deputies met this afternoon there was a tense feeling of expectancy. The conciliatory motion of the Liberal leader was taken up immediately.

Deputy Liebaert, a Clerical, proposed an additional clause reading, "The Chamber disapproves and condemns the general strike."

Premier de Broqueville accepted the motion as amended, and asked the other members of his party not to suggest any changes.

The Socialist leader, Emile Vandervelde, then spoke, saying: "We, the Deputies of the Left, support M. Masson's motion for a compromise. It remains for us to convoke a Socialist congress, which alone has the power to decide whether the strike shall end or not; but we have the conviction that the adoption of the motion will be a step in advance."

The first part of the motion was then adopted unanimously by the Chamber.

The Socialists voted against the second part of the motion, but it was carried by the Conservatives and Liberals, the vote standing 124 to 39. The Socialists abstained from voting when the vote on the two parts of the motion were taken together. In that way it was carried by a vote of 138 to 2.

The Socialists generally appear to be satisfied with the result. M. Destrée said that the second part of the motion was unimportant. "It was," he added, "tantamount to saying that the clubbed repudiated the club."

The Socialist members were escorted from the chamber by an imposing body of strikers. Later some of them delivered speeches. M. Vandervelde, the Socialist leader, summed up the situation thus:

"No doubt you are not enthusiastic. You expected us to hand you universal suffrage on a silver salver. You are furious because we could not do so. But there are people a good deal more furious than you—the band of fanatics who had to swallow de Broqueville's declarations, when in the midst of the strike he was obliged to speak out more clearly than he had ever done before and had to vote a Liberal motion paving the way for a revision of the Constitution.

"You have gained a victory, but it is not a question of victor or vanquished. The great fact is that the morrow will bring revision and justice."

It is said to-night that an extra-Parliamentary Committee will be appointed by the Chamber and the King to consider and report on the question of constitutional revision. This committee will be composed of Deputies and eminent scientists, jurists, and others.

A caucus after the session of the Chamber decided to call a meeting of the General Strike Committee to-morrow, which will convoke a national congress of the Socialist Labor Party, comprising 1,300 representatives of all the unions on Thursday. This is empowered to terminate the general strike.

There is undoubtedly much dissatisfaction among the rank and file of the strikers, who feel that they must wait too long for the desired reform. But the leaders are unanimous in their wish to end the strike. M. Vandermissen, the general secretary of the strike, declared that it was a more complete victory than could be hoped for after a week's demonstration. The leaders also realize that it would be practically impossible to keep the men from going back under the circumstances.

There is little doubt that by Monday the struggle will be ended, except possibly in the case of the coal miners, who now threaten to strike for higher wages.

It is reported this evening, on the authority of a member of the Cabinet, that there will be a dissolution of Parliament in 1916, so as to give the new electoral system, the details of which will have been worked out by that time, a fair start. This would be impossible otherwise, as ordinarily the Chamber is elected one-half at a time.

The day passed quietly in all the strike districts.

Among the strike contributions to-day were a subscription of $700 from the Young Turks of Constantinople and another of $1,000 from the Austrian Socialists.

Man and Wife Killed by Gas.

James Griffith, 45 years old, and his wife, Mary, who was five years his junior, were found asphyxiated by illuminating gas yesterday morning in a rooming house at 379 Pearl Street, Brooklyn. The husband was in bed, while the wife was seated in a chair. It is supposed that wind coming through an open window extinguished a jet which they had left burning on retiring for the night. The couple came to Brooklyn from Albany on Sunday to visit a brother of the husband.

5,000 WOULD WED GREEN.

Rich Woman's Son Regrets Expressing Desire for a Wife.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. LOUIS, April 22.—Col. E. H. R. Green, son of Mrs. Hetty Green, was here to-day on his way from New York to Texas. The Colonel still is a bachelor. It was two years and a half ago that he told of his desire for a wife—an old-fashioned, modest, stay-at-home, fireside woman, who would not think too much about his money nor keep a weather eye on possible alimony.

But the trouble was that the girls all spoke at once. The Colonel knew they couldn't all be the kind he wanted, and he became pessimistic as to his chance of finding the right one anywhere in the lot when fully 5,000 applied.

"I suppose I never shall live down those unlucky words," he said, in referring to the interview which he gave in the Fall of 1910. "I still am getting letters and photographs from women of all ages, complexions, and stations in life. But I know better than to take any of them seriously. I'm a shopworn piece of goods, and I wouldn't be a bargain for any husband hunter.

"Wherever I stop, when I enter a hotel or a restaurant I see people nudging each other, and hear them say in stage whispers that there is the millionaire that is looking for a wife and can't find one."

Col. Green, who is a standpat Republican and a leader of his party in Texas, talked in a foreboding strain of the effect he thought tariff revision might have on the country's business.

"Tariff revision, in its effect on the business interests," said the Colonel, "is like a dose of calomel. You know, calomel makes you pretty sick.

"We're letting in too many foreigners—a million or so every week."

The Colonel did not stop to figure how many ships it would take to bring over a million persons a week.

Col. Green expressed his opinion of the late J. P. Morgan by saying that Mr. Morgan's equal in financial genius was not likely soon to appear. Mr. Morgan's greatest success, he said, was in winning the confidence of the men who controlled British and foreign capital and credit. His son, Col. Green added, was an able man, but was likely to be known through life as "Morgan's son." The Colonel remarked that he knew what it was to be known chiefly as the son of a famous person.

MARION WYLLY RETURNS.

Found Search for Career Harder Than Humdrum Life at Home.

Making her way in the world proved even a harder task than living the "humdrum life" for Marion J. Wylly, the nineteen-year-old girl who ran away from her home on Monday. She called at the residence of Mrs. Henry W. Hodge, a friend of her family, at 51 East Eighty-second Street yesterday morning and confessed that she was willing to give up her ambition and go back to her home at 128 Frelinghuysen Road, Brighton Heights, Staten Island.

Before leaving her home Miss Wylly, whose father is in the West, wrote a letter in which she told her stepmother that she wanted to make her way in the world, and get away from what she called a humdrum existence on Staten Island. It was this letter that caused the police to conduct an all-night search for her.

It was Mr. Hodge who notified the police of the girl's disappearance at the request of Marion's stepmother, and it was to the Hodge house that the girl went when she found her slender purse empty, and the battle of life harder to fight than she had expected.

About 9 o'clock yesterday morning the doorbell of the Hodge house rang, and the trim maid who answered the call found Miss Wylly on the doorstep. A minute later she had her arms around Mrs. Hodge's neck and was sobbing out the story of her disappointment. Miss Wylly, who is pretty, is a violinist of merit. When dissatisfaction with home life decided her to leave home, she determined to enter upon a musical career.

"It was simply the case of a girl who was so temperamental that she did not want to be bound by home life, and who thought her place was in the world," said Mr. Hodge, last night. "Marion is now with her family on Staten Island. She went to the home of her uncle in West Sixty-ninth Street after leaving home, but found that her uncle was out of town. The house is one in which roomers are taken. The landlady, who must have known the girl, gave her a room for the night.

"Her father is not wealthy, and Marion, the eldest of the family, may have become dissatisfied because she had to look after the other children. She wanted to make her way and carve out a name for herself. She is home now, and that is the end of her story."

WOMEN BURN BOATS AND FIRE A CHURCH

Only an Accident Prevents the Destruction of a Historic Edifice in Kent.

MAGISTRATE TO SUFFRAGIST

"Stick to the Needle and Drop the Revolver," His Advice—Zelie Emerson to be Operated Upon.

LONDON, April 22—An "arson squad" of militant suffragettes succeeded last night in burning down the Handsworth Park boathouse, in a Birmingham suburb. Four pleasure boats and a large quantity of equipment were destroyed.

With the opening of the boating season, attempts to destroy skiffs and shells are expected, and along most of the rivers and lakes a close watch is kept by special patrols night and day for suffragettes bent on destruction.

Another "arson squad" made an unsuccessful attempt to set fire to the historic parish church at Minster-in-Thanet, Kent, which is one of the oldest in the United Kingdom, and contains many pre-Reformation relics. Bad ignition of the fuse attached to a package of inflammable material and explosives caused the suffragettes' plans to fail. As usual, no clue was found to the actual perpetrators of the outrage.

"You had better stick to the needle and drop the revolver," was the Police Magistrate's advice to Annie Bell, the suffragette "sentinel," arrested outside Holloway Jail on the night of April 9, during the imprisonment of Mrs. Pankhurst.

Miss Bell, on whom there was found a revolver with which, she said, "if any man had interfered with me I would have shot him," was sentenced to-day to three weeks' imprisonment. She refused to be bound over to keep the peace for a year and told the Magistrate "Your advice is not of any use at all."

Zelie Emerson, the militant suffragette of Jackson, Mich., who recently underwent a "hunger strike" in Holloway Jail, left London for the country to-day. She will enter a sanitarium to prepare for an operation for appendicitis, which is to be performed in two weeks. Before the train drew out of the station she said:

"I want the operation to be performed as soon as possible so that I can regain my health and take my place again in the battle line here. I shall not return to America. I feel the fight has been practically won there. It is only beginning here.

"Suffrage comes first, but I expect as the result of my experience in Holloway Jail to take up the question of prison reform, which is badly needed here.

"I was probably treated no better and no worse than the other prisoners. My stay in jail was one long period of extreme torture and pain as the result of forcible feeding. So intense was the pain that I was hardly aware of the pain resulting from appendicitis."

The destination of Miss Emerson has been kept a secret. By the orders of the physician she is to see nobody until a fortnight after the operation.

Suffragettes and reporters laid siege to Mrs. Emerson in an effort to obtain an interview with her daughter, but she would not say anything except to the Associated Press.

The girl bears evidence of the severity of her suffering, and is evidently in a condition of extreme nervousness.

Personal property belonging to Beatrice Harraden, the author, was sold at auction here this evening owing to non-payment of income tax. Miss Harraden stated that she had refused to pay the tax as a protest against the deception practiced by the Government on the suffragettes, which led the suffragettes to militancy, and as a protest against forcible feeding and the "Cat and Mouse" bill.

Sleeping Cars Overturn; Two Hurst.

RAVENNA, Ohio, April 22.—Two sleeping cars attached to a Baltimore & Ohio passenger train bound from New York to Chicago overturned near here at noon to-day. Charles Stewart, a San Francisco attorney, and his wife, and Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Poppleton of Cleveland were injured. Stewart's shoulder was broken.

GOODMAN ESTATE, $114,708.

Said to Have Been $3,000,000—Bequests to Many Charities.

Patrick Goodman, who upon his death, on Aug. 7, 1911, was said to be worth $3,000,000, left a net estate, as disclosed by the appraisal filed yesterday, of $114,708, most of which was in mortgages. He also held 150 shares of the Consolidated Gas Company stock, valued at $21,112.

By the terms of the will these charitable institutions received bequests::

Five hundred dollars each to St. Joseph's Seminary, St. Francis's Home for Incurables, and Corpus Christi Monastery of the Sisters of St. Dominic; $1,000 each to Home for the Aged, Sisters of the Poor, Mission of the Immaculate Virgin, University of Notre Dame, and the Church of the Immaculate Conception; $250 each to Misericordia Hospital, Convent of the Sisters of the Good Shepherd, St. Joseph's Home for Consumptives, Rosary Hill Home, St. Joseph's Normal College, and the Society for the Propagation of the Faith.

JILTED ON CHRISTMAS DAY.

Mrs. Trufant Testifies Williams Told Her Then He Could Not Wed Her.

Mrs. Ruth L. Trufant, whose suit against Henry G. Williams, proprietor of the Hotel York, for $50,000 damages for breach of promise is being tried before Supreme Court Justice Davis and a jury, testified yesterday that Williams had proposed marriage to her while driving on the boulevards of Paris, and that he had paid her an allowance of $350 a month in order that she might gain an education in conformity with the social position which she would occupy as his wife.

Mrs. Trufant, whose stage name is Maida Athens, also told of a proposal of marriage made to her by Frank H. Andrews, architect of the Hotel McAlpin. She said that it was on Christmas Day, 1911, that Williams informed her he could not marry her on account of a former marriage from which he found it impossible to gain liberation.

FIREMEN'S AWARD TO-DAY.

Arbitrators May Make It Date Back as Far as July 1, 1912.

The award of the arbitrators on the demands of the firemen on the Eastern railroads, Judge Chambers, Chairman of the board, stated last night, will be made public this evening. The board went out of the city for about a week after their session at the Waldorf-Astoria to go over, without interruption, the statistics submitted during the hearings, and returned two days ago.

A good deal of interest centres in the probability of the award being made retroactive as far as July 1, 1912. The railroads are opposed to it, but the firemen hold that as they had a preliminary conference with the railroads in the beginning of July and agreed to postpone their demands until the engineers' arbitration was completed, the award should date from July 1, 1912.

HICCOUGHS NEARLY A WEEK.

H. M. Leonard of Newburg Recovering from Violent Seizures.

Harry M. Leonard, cashier of the Columbus Trust Company and for several years Treasurer of the City of Newburg, has been under treatment at St. Vincent's Hospital in this city for several days for an attack of hiccoughs, which up to the present time has not been entirely stopped.

The hiccoughs began last Thursday, and for a time the seizures were so violent that Mr. Leonard's condition was alarming. Last night he was out of danger, but still suffered from occasional hiccoughing spells.

JOB HEDGES SHINES AS ART AUCTIONEER

Wins New Laurels Coaxing Bids at Sale of Misapplied Masterpieces.

$30 FOR WILSON CANVAS

But Sale, Though a Big Success, Won't Quite Pay Off Blind Lighthouse Mortgage.

Job E. Hedges, who also ran for Governor at the last election, made his local début as an unlicensed auctioneer last night, and showed that he had missed his real vocation, when hammer in hand, he coaxed and cajoled the charitably inclined into paying real money for near-futurist and post-cubist art.

The occasion was the sale of the burlesque paintings in the First Annual Transgression of the Academy of Misapplied Art, which had been on exhibition since Easter in the Lighthouse of the New York Association for the Blind, 111 East Fifty-ninth Street, and although there were more volunteer auctioneers present than voluntary buyers, and though he had to compete with such auctioneering talent as President John H. Finley of City College, Irvin S. Cobb, a magazine writer; Luis Mora, the artist, and Leo Mielziner, also of the art fraternity, the latter wearing regulation studio costume, Mr. Hedges was the noblest pleader of them all, and obtained unprecedented prices for the misapplied masterpieces.

After he had vainly tried to extort an opening bid for his first offering, Lot 52, "A Sinful Siren Soul Feeding on Futurist Cubic Blood," Mr. Hedges remarked, apropos of nothing:

"I know now that the average voter is a Cubist. Ladies and gentlemen, if you dont buy this, you don't hear me again to-night."

The result of this threat was a fifty-cent bid.

"The beauty of this futurist picture is that you can never give it away," he continued. "It will always stay in the family. This picture is not subject to attachment in case of legal process. It's worth more than $5 to give to some one you don't like. Six dollars. Thank you. Selling this picture is not larceny. Is there nobody here with a ten-dollar look? Eight dollars! Thank you. Going, going, gone. Sold for $8, and may the Lord have mercy on your soul."

"Tea Garden" Fetches $1.

"You didn't vote for me, Leavitt, you might as well help me out here," Mr. Hedges said, pleading with a man high up in the gallery in offering a cubist "Tea Garden," by C. Gulbrandsen. "Oh, on the level, come, come." The "Tea Garden" went for $1.

Mr. Hedges had better luck in disposing of Harry Watrous's "Emotions of a Maiden of 63 on Roller Skates," which had received the first prize of a beribboned tin pie plate from a committee composed of the policeman on the beat, the janitors of the building, and the blind inmates of the lighthouse. Felix Warburg and Mrs. Warburg bid against each other amid loud applause until the price had been run up to $20.

Then came the real sensation of the sale, when Leo Mielziner's symbolic canvas was hung up on the easel. The picture was entitled "U. S. Discards the Oval for the Cube" and showed a long-jawed cubist caricature of President Wilson mounted on a pedestal from which very evidently an oval representing Mr. Taft had recently been kicked off. The oval lay prostrate at the foot of the bust.

Throughout his early innings as auctioneer, Mr. Hedges had shown the patience of the original Job, but he positively balked at auctioning off President Wilson and the prostrate Taft. He nudged Mr. Cobb and retired to his seat, but just as Mr. Cobb was beginning to plead for a bid on the canvas, Miss Winifred Holt, the moving spirit of the Lighthouse art sale, jumped up and insisted that Mr. Hedges had promised her over the telephone that he would auction off that particular picture. And Job did, with a vengeance.

Selling the Wilson Canvas.

"Look at those hard lines of the face!" he shouted, pointing to the portrait of the President. "Who wants him at any price? Look at those opaque glasses. They show that his eyes only look out; you can't look in. And that chin bone! It's worn by overexercise. There's a career in itself, and the only one there will be down there in Washington. This bust could really be called a portrait of the Cabinet."

Mr. Hedges was taken completely by surprise and could hardly believe his ears when some one started off with a bid of $20. When a man in the background called out $25, Mr. Hedges called out:

"You have hopes, I see. A consulship goes with this, gentlemen. Twenty-eight dollars! Thank you. Two consulships go with it."

President Wilson was finally knocked down for $30 to F. Q. Brown of Redmond & Co., the auctioneer remarking: "This is dollars, you understand."

Dr. Finley, Mr. Cobb, Mr. Mora, and Mr. Mielziner also worked hard as auctioneers, but none of them had Job's speed or wit. There was no chance to use canned cleverness as in after-dinner speeches; and in impromptu flashes, as each masterpiece was shown, Mr. Hedges was the master of them all.

A cubist portrait by Caruso fetched $25, and the same artist's "Portrait of a Lady" was knocked down for $13. Francis Newton's "Food Descending a Staircase" brought the top price up to midnight, going to R. J. Shafer for $52. Three trukey trotting nudes by W. Howard Hart, entitled "On with the Dance," went for $7. "Sunlight in Spain" brought $5, while a Futurist Adam and Eve was foisted on Mr. Warburg for 23 cents amid cheers. There were other art bargains galore.

A humorous feature of the sale was the auctioning off of a serious canvas, a "Landscape," by Wallis King Stone, which had somehow strayed into the misapplied exhibition. Everybody took it for a burlesque, and it was knocked down for $3 before the horrified management could bid it in. The proceeds, which could not be estimated last night, are to be applied to the mortgage on the Lighthouse. Miss Holt had no idea how much the proceeds would be, but intimated that in spite of Messrs. Hedges, Finley, and others they would fall far short of the necessary $85,000.

MAY STOP GROCERS FROM SELLING MILK

Board of Health Proposes a Set of Rules That Would Bar Thousands.

HOPES NOT TO RAISE PRICE

But to Centralize Sale of It in Bulk to Special Stores of Best Sanitary Equipment.

Grocers and delicatessen dealers throughout the city, who have been selling loose or dipped milk at 5 and 6 cents a quart instead of the 9 cents demanded by dealers in bottled milk, are worried over a set of tentative regulations drawn by the Board of Health governing the sale of milk. These regulations, many of them say, if lived up to, would drive practically every retail grocer dealing in loose milk out of the milk business.

While their anxiety is not shared by Health Commissioner Ernst J. Lederle, who sent the regulations to the grocers and milk dealers, with a request for comments and suggestions, Dr. Lederle said yesterday that the regulations were in line with his general "Spring clean-up policy," and that he was determined to bring about cleaner and more sanitary conditions in the retail sale of milk.

It is estimated that there are 14,000 grocers and delicatessen dealers in the city who would be affected by the new regulations, which were planned to go into effect as finally amended on June 1. The greater part of these dealers are located in the poorer sections of the city.

The Board of Health on Oct. 7, 1912, adopted a resolution to stop the sale of loose milk, except in stores approved by the Health Department. The regulations have these provisions:

Rules that Bar "Dipped" Milk.

That after June 1, 1913, the sale of milk dipped from cans will be permitted only in milk stores approved by this department, and for which a permit has been issued, or in places in which foodstuffs other than milk products are sold in original packages only.

The goods which may be sold in accordance with the preceding rule include any foods when contained in unbroken packages, also eggs, butter, cream, cheese, bread, and crackers.

The use of a booth or small room in which to store milk or cream is prohibited.

"Loose" or "dipped" milk shall not be stored, handled, or sold in any room which is dark, poorly ventilated, or in which rubbish or useless material is allowed to accumulate, or in which there are offensive odors.

"Loose" or "dipped" milk shall not be stored, handled, or sold in any room which is unduly crowded or in which there is not sufficient unoccupied floor space so that the premises may be readily kept clean.

The floors of rooms in which "loose" or "dipped" milk is stored, handled, or sold shall be smooth, free from crevices or other places where dirt and vermin may lodge, and they shall be watertight. The walls and ceilings of all such rooms shall be of enamel brick, cement, or plaster, with a hard finish. In the event that enamel brick is not used, the walls must be painted to the satisfaction of the Department of Health with some light-colored paint.

The cans from which "loose" or "dipped" milk is sold must be kep tin a properly constructed ice tub, surrounded with ice, and must be kept covered at all times except when milk is actually being dipped therefrom.

Can't Do It, Grocers Say.

The first regulation, prohibiting the sale of loose milk in stores where foodstuffs other than those contained in original packages are contained, was said by grocers and delicatessen dealers yesterday to be the most drastic and the one likely to drive them out of the milk selling business.

"We could not possibly follow this regulation," said Henry Lohman, President of the United Grocers' Association, of 1,702 Eighth Avenue, Brooklyn. "The provisions requiring floors free of crevices and walls and ceiling of enamel brick, cement, or plaster, or painted according to the requirements of the Board of Health, will also prove prohibitive. There are 3,500 groceries and delicatessen stores in Brooklyn alone that will be driven out of the business of selling loose milk if these regulations are enforced.

"Our greatest fear, however, is that, once the regulations are put in force, the large milk companies will establish throughout the city milk depots that comply with the regulations, and which also sell groceries in original packages."

Commissioner Lederle was not ready yesterday to give out the answers that had come to the Health Department in reply to the regulations it had sent out. He was unwilling also to state what, if any, changes in the tentative regulations the department might accept by way of compromise.

"There are about 29,000 places where milk is sold in the city at present," he said, "and most of the groceries sell dipped milk. It is true that many of the smaller groceries on the east side, which are at present most in need of such regulations, might be forced to go into the bottled milk business on account of them, and I cannot say how low they may be able to sell that. Nothing is to be done by the Health Department to raise the price of milk unless it is absolutely necessary, and it would be only as a last resort that bottled milk exclusively would be favored."

TWO WOMEN BURIED IN CELLAR BY THIRD

Daughter and Sister, Arrested, Says They Wanted That Resting Place.

FEAR OF GHOULS A REASON

Survivor Tells How She Sealed Mother in Showcase and Poured Cement on Bodies.

ST. LOUIS, April 22.—The bodies of Mrs. Ernestine Kommichau and her daughter Selma were found shortly before noon to-day buried in concrete in the basement of a building at 2,412 South Broadway. Marie Kommichau, another daughter, was arrested in the City Hospital pending an investigation. She was taken to the hospital two weeks ago when her leg was broken in a fall downstairs. A week before that time neighbors noticed the absence of her mother and sister. Marie said Selma had died and that her mother had taken the body to Illinois.

The discovery of the bodies resulted from a visit by the owner of the building, Albert Stuhr. He telephoned to Police Headquarters. Detectives found graves containing the bodies.

From the neck of each body was suspended a crucifix. At the feet of each was a porcelain urn of the kind sometimes used to hold holy oil. The graves were decorated with two small cedar trees, a wire cross, and a mussel shell. Under each corpse was a layer of quicklime.

When she learned of the discovery Marie Kommichau explained that her mother and sister died of natural causes nine months apart, and that she buried them in the basement at their requests because they feared ghouls.

"My mother and sister were afraid of being buried in cemeteries," she said. "They were afraid their bodies would be stolen, and also afraid that they would be buried alive. That was the only reason I did not have their bodies attended to in the usual way. My sister died from heart trouble and from taking too many headache powders. My mother died from old age. Before my mother died she made sister and me promise that we would not take her body out of the house so the undertakers could get her. We had no doctor for her. There has not been a doctor in our house in ten years. A doctor could have done mother no good.

"I put her body in a showcase, which we took from our notion shop, in a front room of the house, and poured plaster of paris around the glass and cracks to keep the air out. We kept the showcase containing the body upstairs in a rear room. No one knew, for none of the neighbors had paid any attention to mother and they did not inquire about her.

"When sister died, I knew that people would ask about her and that if neighbors found out I was keeping her body they would ask about mother, too. So I told the neighbors that mother had died and that Selma had taken her to Illinois for burial.

"Then I took both bodies into the basement. I laid them on the basement floor and poured plaster of paris and cement over them."

The surviving daughter said she needed help in removing the body of her mother from the showcase, and called in a German woman who was passing the store.

"She was clumsy," she contined, "and was no help. I told her she need not mind about staying. I never saw her again, and I do not know whether she ever told any one."

The woman said Adam Allmeroth, living in Lami Street, knew of the deaths.

"He is a very religious man," she added. "He had called on us now and then for a long while. He said prayers over mother's body and over sister's body. I don't think he knew the bodies were buried in the basement, for I don't remember ever telling him."

The prisoner asked the police not to permit the bodies of her mother and sister to be removed from the house.

READY FOR MILITARY BALL.

8,000 Guests Expected at Twenty-second Engineers' New Armory.

Arrangements have been completed for the military ball, to be given by the officers, Non-Commissioned Officers Association and the Defendam Association of the Twenty-second Engineers, National Guard, which will mark the formal opening of the new Armory at Fort Washington Avenue and West 168th Street to-morrow night.

Lieut. Edward Ladew, Secretary of the General Committee, reported last night that 12,500 invitations had been sent out and that the advance sale of tickets up to date was 3,654. It is estimated that at least 8,000 persons will be present. Responses have been received from many New York and outside military organizations.

ELASTIC CURRENCY PLAN OF J. G. CANNON

Suggests Using the Clearing House Associations as a Basis for the Issue.

WANTS THEM INCORPORATED

Would Then Permit Them to Obtain Currency by Giving Loan Certificates as Security.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, April 22.—James G. Cannon, President of the Fourth National Bank of New York City, speaking to-night at the dinner of the Philadelphia Credit Men's Association, outlined a plan for using the Clearing House Associations of the country as a basis for the issue of an elastic asset currency, when required by the demands of trade.

"There are three functions, at least," he said, "which must be performed by some one body or bodies before we can effectively elminate the possibility of panics in this country. These are the massing, under an unselfish control, of the banking reserves of the country; the granting of adequately regulated power to issue notes, and the option of re-discounting good commercial paper held by the individual banks.

"I long ago became convinced that our Clearing House system furnishes us the machinery through which, in case the country was not ready for a complete reorganization of our monetary system, a substantial measure of relief could be afforded, and that some plan should be adopted that would contemplate the use of the exceptional facilities these associations offer.

"I have believed for a considerable time, and so expressed myself as far back as 1907, that Clearing Houses should be incorporated, and I reiterated that belief before the Pujo Committee.

"I have mentioned the necessity, in periods of active demand for money, of a medium through which the banks can convert their fixed assets into liquid or cash assets, without calling upon borrowers for payment of their loans, and, furthermore, to place themselves in a position to assist the general situation by being able to respond to the requests of their worthy depositors for further credit. This is really the purpose of Clearing House loan certificates.

"My proposal, at that time, was to have the Clearing Houses located in the Sub-Treasury cities incorporated and prepared to do business with the United States Government; then to have a United States currency printed in large quantities and lodged, under proper safeguards, with each Sub-Treasury, and authorize the Treasury officials, upon prescribed application, to receive Clearing House loan certificates from the associated banks, in any of these cities, as collateral security for the issue of this currency to the extent of 50 per cent. of the amount of such certificates deposited by the local association.

"It was my judgment that this currency should also bear interest, so that the cost of carrying it would be sufficiently heavy to cause it to be retired just as soon as it was no longer required."

GIMBELS—WHY?

WHY should this massive building here at Thirty-third and Broadway be throbbing daily with these many thousands of New York shoppers?

Why should the great public depend so broadly for their daily requirements upon a store that did not exist three short years ago?

What is the witchery that in thirty months has turned this formerly little-noticed block into one of the busiest hives of retailing in America's greatest retail city?

The question is pertinent and the answer simple—

GIMBELS Has Supplied and Is Daily Fulfilling a Needed and Interesting Public Service

Other stores came before, and some have come since, that found no such clientele waiting to be served.

It must have been that we discovered a path that was little trodden; methods that were a little more close to the desire of the particular constituency that we secured.

That GIMBELS is a "different store" is a matter of daily comment. That it is a store that is daily growing BETTER is of largest gratification to ourselves.

GIMBELS might be called "interesting" merely because there is assembled here between Six and Seven Millions of Dollars' worth of skilfully selected merchandise, from every corner of the globe where can be gathered the useful and beautiful things that New Yorkers require and appreciate.

GIMBELS might be termed "an important factor in New York commerce" simply because it employs between five and six thousand people to serve its public well.

But, it is not the big facts that count most in telling why GIMBELS is now so necessary to the daily comfort and pleasure of so many thousands of men and women. It is rather the personal helpfulness that people discover when they do their shopping here.

Because Gimbel Merchandise and Methods
(1) Make living more of a pleasure.
(2) Make the luxuries and necessaries of life more easily attainable.
(3) Make money more valuable by offering so much more for it.

And, perhaps, the greatest fascination of all is the daily inspiration that comes from viewing the newest things as they first appear after being conceived in the minds of the creative geniuses of two continents.

For it is today the prerogative of GIMBELS to present first the dictates of both Paris and America in Fashionable Apparel, and in the things that beautify and make comfortable the home.

STERLING

THE GORHAM CO.

Silversmiths

Mere age by itself proves nothing. But age, backed up by the record, does.

Gorham's was founded 97 years ago. It has been making silverware 82 years. Andrew Jackson was President then. Lincoln hadn't been heard of. We had only about 13,000,000 population in all—only about twice as much as we have within 45 minutes' ride, or less, of Gorham's to-day.

How many men do you know 82 years old? Do you know, off hand, half a dozen business firms as old as that?

Survival from "Old Hickory's" day, on through the Civil War, through the panics of '73, '93, and '07, down to the present is an achievement.

But Gorham's has done more than survive. It has become the greatest silverware shop in the world. It has moved ahead with the country. In many respects it has gone ahead of the country.

It is this company, the best known in America, in a way, that, as Mr. Freeman has told you, I am to reintroduce to you in a series of articles. Gorham's, of course, needs no introduction to you in the sense of making its great name and reputation known to you. Those you know already. My task is to tell you those things about Gorham's which I am sure not more than one person out of ten in this great community knows. To be able to tell you these things I first had to become acquainted with Gorham's myself.

The Gorham people imposed just one condition upon me—that I was to write nothing I did not believe to be true. I began by going up to the factory, the basis of the business. Then I went through the store, not once, but many times.

I had started out with the idea that Gorham's was a rich man's store. Well, of course, it is a rich man's store, in that the finest goods made in this country for the rich may be bought here. But it is just as much the store of the man of modest income as it is of the rich. What I found out, and this was the discovery that most surprised me, was that Gorham's is the great American Silverware shop, where men of all purses may buy what they want.

Gorham's is distinctly a great American store. It was founded by a typical American of the early school — a rugged New Englander. It has always been conducted by Americans. Its vast army of artisans in the factory at Providence are the best type of American craftsmen. These men have given a new meaning to American craftsmanship.

Every American should be proud of Gorham's for the prestige it has given to American business solidity and genius.

The reason of Gorham's success is plain. It is to be found in the Honest Goods that the Gorham Company makes and sells. If a manufacturer devotes all his attention to the Quality of his article the sales will take care of themselves. That's what Gorham's does.

BOATS IN JUNK PILE BY MELLEN'S ORDER

Two Vessels Which Cost New Haven $932,000 Sold for $44,000, Says Witness.

PRESIDENT ISSUES A DENIAL

He Asserts That Charges Made by Federal Expert Are Ridiculous and Absurd.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, April 22.—While Charles S. Mellen, President of the New Haven system, sat in his office to-day dictating a denial of statements made by David E. Brown yesterday, Louis D. Brandeis, in the Federal Building not far away, was drawing more sensational testimony from the Government expert.

Here is the substance of some of Brown's testimony:

That J. L. Billard, a Director of the New Haven, made $2,700,000 in the course of the purchase of the Boston & Maine without using much money—that is, so far as Mr. Brown had been able to discover.

That the New Haven paid nearly a million dollars for two steamers, the Rhode Island and the Connecticut, which were afterward sold for $44,000 as old junk.

That the New Haven lost $400,000 in dividends through the purchase of Merchants and Miners' stock.

That the New Haven was forced to pay more than a million dollars for the Joy Line when it was valued at hundreds of thousands less.

Mr. Mellen's Denial.

Mr. Mellen in an interview flatly denied that he had profited personally by transactions with the New Haven road. He said:

"Anybody who stops to think of the character of the men who constitute the New Haven Board of Drectors will realize that the fact that these transactions have been audited and approved by the Directors is sufficient proof of the absurdity of the charge. The entire attitude of the accountants shows animosity, unwillingness to be advised as to the facts, and desire to draw hostile inferences.

"During the five months the accountants have been at work on the New Haven books, they have never passed a word with me or made the slighest inquiry of me as to the matters they now bring forward. The attitude of the accountants in admitting, as they did at the hearing, that doubtless there was a perfectly satisfactory explanation of these transactions, for which they had never sought, and at the same time insinuating that my integrity is affected, I regard as a dastardly proceeding.

"In view of the examination of the New Haven accounts by the Commission on Commerce and Industry in 1908, the further examination by the Validation Commission—including such men as Bank Examiner Chapin and Prof. Swain—in 1911, and the annual audit of the company's books by Price, Waterhouse & Co., this belated charge against me seems ridiculous and absurd."

At the opening of to-day's session, Mr. Brandeis outlined several points he wished to bring out in testimony. E. G. Buckland, Vice President of the New Haven, argued that the inquiry should be confined to the rates, services, and policies of the railroad company. In ordering the investigation to proceed, Commissioner Prouty said:

"This is the first time the inside history of the New Haven's transactions has been known. I do not think anybody can ever know whether the assets of your company exceed the liabilities until the assets have been appraised properly by some disinterested board."

In describing the transaction involving the two steamers, Brown said the original cost of the Rhode Island in 1882 was $727,000, and that the Connecticut was built seven years later at an outlay of $672,000. Both vessels were constructed for the old Providence & Stonington Company.

The vessels were acquired by the New England Navigation Company, which in 1906 turned them over to the United States Transportation Company, another New Haven subsidiary, for $650,000. Two years later, Brown said, they were again turned back to the navigation company for $932,000.

Boats in Junk Heap.

In 1910 the Rhode Island was broken up, and $9,000 was realized from the material in her. The next year, said Brown, the Connecticut was "scrapped," her engines were salvaged and placed in another craft at an estimated profit of $26,500 and $8,500 was received for the material, a total of $44,000 being received for the two steamers.

Mr. Brown read a letter addressed by H. O. Nickerson, manager of the navigation company, to H. H. Kochersperger, Vice President of the New Haven road, on May 16, 1910, in which the writer said:

> The Connecticut, I do not believe, will ever be used again; $150,000 must be obtained for her if sold; but Mr. Mellen has notified me that he thinks she should be broken up. The Rhode Island stands the same as the Connecticut. The reason the above price is set is because we do not want them to fall into the hands of anybody who would use them in competition with ourselves.

Mr. Brown testified at length concerning the navigation company's bookkeeping entries for depreciation of steamships. He said that in the two years ended June 30, 1910, no charge for depreciation was made direct to the income, although it might have been charged to maintenance. In 1907, he said, the company's records showed its steamers to be valued at $13,136,000, but this valuation had decreased to $9,933,000 in 1912.

The Joy Steamship Company was taken over by the New Haven system in December, 1905. Brown said the New Haven Company issued two checks, one for $525,000 and the other for $250,000, to Vice President Kochersperger for the Joy Line stock. The funds were placed to Mr. Kochersperger's credit, and he drew checks to sundry holders of Joy Line stock. Altogether a total of $1,319,756 was paid for the Joy Line, according to Brown.

Joy Line Had Deficit.

The witness said the records showed that the Joy Line had been operated at a deficit, but $170 a share was paid by the navigation company for its stock. The appraisal of the Joy Line holdings was made by F. M. Dunmore, a Joy Line official, and amounted to $775,000. To this was added $250,000 for good will.

"Was there anything in the records to indicate how this good will was figured?" asked Mr. Brandeis.

"No," said the witness.

"Then you do not know whether the formula of dividing the outstanding debentures by four was employed?" queried the attorney.

"I do not."

In April, 1907, the navigation company sold the Boston line of the Joy Steamship Company to C. W. Morse, who then controlled the Metropolitan Steamship Company. The price was $300,000.

Mr. Brown compiled figures showing that the New Haven road in 1912 derived a net revenue of $1,217,897 from its parlor, chair and sleeping car service. He estimated that the company had incurred an annual loss of $407,000 by turning over this service to the Pullman Company.

Taking up the Boston & Maine merger, Mr. Brown said that on May 1, 1907, the American Express Company and the Boston & Maine made a twenty-year contract, under which the express company agreed to pay to the railroad 35 per cent. of its gross receipts. An examination of the records of the New England Navigation Company showed that, antedating the contract between the express company and the Boston & Maine, Mr. Mellen and the President of the American Express Company entered into a contract by which the express company agreed to sell to the Navigation Company not less than 55,000 shares of the Boston & Maine in exchange for an equal number of the shares of the New Haven Railroad.

Still earlier, or on April 6, 1907, at a special meeting of the Directors of the New England Navigation Company, a resolution was adopted authorizing President Mellon on behalf of the company to purchase any or all of the common stock and to pay share for share with the capital stock of the New Haven Railroad.

After the Navigation Company had obtained 109,948 shares of Boston & Maine stock, said Mr. Brown, it sold the stock to J. L. Billard for $125 a share, ex dividend, June 30, 1908.

At the time the stock was purchased it was charged on the Navigation Company's books at the rate of $116.15 a share. There was nothing on the books, Mr. Brown said, to explain why the price was increased to $125.

J. L. Billard's Deal.

To pay for this stock Mr. Billard gave $11,000,000 in cash and $2,743,500 in notes without collateral. It appeared from the records that Mr. Billard got the cash from the National City Bank of New York, depositing the Boston & Maine stock as collateral for the loan.

In 1909 the stock came back to the Navigation Company, which paid Billard $150 a share, but Mr. Brown said he had been unable to get any explanation for the transaction, nor had he any direct knowledge whether the money had been paid by Mr. Billard personally or by some one else.

On Nov. 10, 1908, Mr. Billard liquidated his original notes by giving four additional notes for $250,000 each, for which, the records indicate, he received cash from the Navigation Company, leaving a balance of $3,743,000 in Billard notes. Further liquidation by Mr. Billard on Feb. 18, 1909, and on July 1, 1910, was described by Mr. Brown.

An additional note for $11,101,138 was liquidated by Mr. Billard giving new notes for $2,422,993 and old notes of the Billard Company, which had not appeared in the records earlier, amounting to $12,257,125.

The New Haven Railroad, the witness said, paid a note of $11,000,000 to the National City Bank of New York, with accrued interest and a commission of $31,000, which was charged to the profit and loss account of the Navigation Company.

The Boston & Maine stock later was transferred to the Second National Bank of New Haven, then to the New Haven Railroad, back again to the Navigation Company, and finally to the Boston Railroad Holding Company, a corporation formed in Massachusetts to hold the stock.

Considerable time was devoted to detailed testimony concerning various notes given by Mr. Billard and by the Billard Company and the manner in which these were credited in various accounts. Several of the transactions could not be explained by Mr. Brown.

TITANIC CONTEMPT CASE UP.

Circuit Court to Hear Brougham's Appeal from Judge Hough's Ruling.

When the appeal of A. Leonard Brougham from the decision of Judge Hough, fining him $200 for contempt of court for advising a client to bring suit for her husband's death on the Titanic, came before the Court of Appeals yesterday, Frederick M. Brown, his counsel, suggested that in view of Judge Holt's dismissal of the White Star Line's petition for the limitation of damages the case should be adjourned to the May term. C. C. Burlingham, counsel for the White Star Line, however, objected, and so the case was set for this morning.

Mr. Brougham was fined for contempt because, in defiance of Judge Hough's injunction against bringing any suit for damages against the White Star Line until the limitation proceedings had been concluded, he advised his client, Mrs. Elizabeth Natsch, to begin a suit in the Supreme Court. This was done in order to get the Circuit Court of Appeals to reconsider its own ruling in such cases, which Judge Hough had followed, and which in the Titanic matter threatened to delay the commencement of suits for death claims beyond the time limit fixed by law for their institution.

Since Mr. Brougham has been fined by Judge Hough the Circuit Court of Appeals, on another motion, has modified the injunction issued by Judge Hough and Judge Holt has dismissed the limitation proceedings. Mr. Brougham, in asking for the remission of the fine will urge that the action of the Circuit Court of Appeals itself in the first suit entitles him to relief on equitable principles, and that the decision of Judge Holt in the second case should let him out on legal grounds.

He would be willing to postpone the appeal on his fine until the Supreme Court had passed upon Judge Holt's decision and so finally settled the limitation of liability proceedings. It is believed, however, that counsel for the White Star Line wish the appeal pressed in order to try out the feeling of the Circuit Court of Appeals on the general controversy. This would give the line the chance, supposing the Circuit Court of Appeals seemed disposed to agree with Judge Holt in his dismissal of the limitation proceedings, to take an appeal directly to the United States Supreme Court on the ground that the case involved a question of jurisdiction of which the highest court alone is the judge.

CONFERENCES BEGIN ON TRAINMEN'S PAY

Demands on the Eastern Railroads Are for Wage Increase of About 15 Per Cent.

PAY FOR WAITING CREWS

Minimum Monthly Earnings Fixed for All Grades of Train Employes—An Overtime Rule.

Trainmen and conductors on the Eastern railroads submitted their demands yesterday at the first meeting between their committee and a committee of managers of the railroads. The conference was called to order at the Engineering Societies' Building at 10 A. M. Elisha Lee, Chairman of the Conference Committee, presided. The discussion will be resumed to-day. The demands affect about 100,000 men.

William G. Lee, President of the Brotherhod of Railroad Trainmen, and A. B. Garretson, President of the Order of Railroad Conductors, are the spokesmen for the employes. The demands were approved at a meeting of the Eastern Association of the General Committees, Order of Railroad Conductors and Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, at Rochester, Oct. 15, last year. The increases in wages asked for average 15 per cent.

Pay of conductors on electric and steam trains is fixed by the schedule at 2.90 cents a mile, baggagemen 1.87 a mile, flagmen or rear brakemen 1.80, brakemen, 1.74. This is for runs of 155 miles or more. On shorter runs conductors are to get $4.50 a day, baggageman $2.90 a day, rear brakemen $2.50, and brakemen $2.70.

Trainmen to be paid overtime for short train runs of more than eight hours.

Minimum wages are fixed at $135 a month for conductors, $87 for baggagemen, $84 for rear brakemen, and $81 for brakemen.

Rates are fixed for the freight service as follows: Through and irregular freight conductors, 4.18 cents a mile; flagmen, 2.81 cents, and brakemen, 2.78 cents.

Pay schedules are fixed for work, construction, and all other classes of trains.

Some of the general provisions added are:

> In all freight, mixed and mine service, including pusher or helper service, 100 miles or less, ten hours or less, shall constitute a day's work; on runs of 100 miles or less, overtime shall be paid for all time in excess of ten hours, and on runs of over 100 miles overtime shall be paid for that time used in excess of the time necessary to complete the trip, at an average speed of ten miles per hour. The working time of trainmen shall begin at the time they are required to report for duty, and do report, and shall continue until they are relieved from duty at end of run.
>
> Deadheading in freight or passenger service to be paid for at full rates for the class of service in which regularly engaged. Trainmen running with light engine or engine and caboose will be paid full through freight rates.
>
> Unassigned freight crews held at other than their home terminals longer than twelve hours will be paid at the rate of ten miles per hour at the through freight rates for time so held, time to be computed from the time the crews go off duty until one hour before the departure of the train on which they resume duty.
> Time and one-half will be paid to crews handling double-headed trains of two engines; if more than two engines are used or if either or both of the engines are used in double-headed trains of the Mallet type, double time will be paid.

It was said that the joint conferences must be over some time before May 12, in order that President Garretson of the conductors might be able to attend a general convention of the Order of Railroad Conductors, which begins in Detroit on that date. The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen will have a convention at San Francisco beginning May 19.

FOR COUNTRY BOYS IN CITY.

Y. M. C. A. Appoints Committee to Study Their Situation.

The State Executive Committee of the Young Men's Christian Associations of New York has appointed a commission headed by Dr. O. S. Morgan of the Department of Agricultural Extension of Columbia University to make a study of the country boy in the cities. The commission holds its first meeting on Thursday. The commission includes F. N. Doubleday, President Elmer E. Brown of New York University; Prof. Jeremiah W. Jenks, William Fellowes Morgan, Charles F. MacLean, Dr. Thomas C. Hall of Union Theological Seminary, and C. J. Huson, State Commissioner of Agriculture.

The purpose of the commission is to study the conditions surrounding the country boy in the city, and to find out how the association and church can better meet his needs. Also, to discover why the country does not hold more of its ambitious and promising young men. This commission will report its findings to the State Convention of the Young Men's Christian Associations of New York, in Albany, in February, 1914.

MAGAZINE SUIT GOES HIGHER

Government's Action to be Taken to the Supreme Court.

The Government's Sherman law suit against the Periodical Clearing House and other defendants will have to be taken immediately to the United States Supreme Court for decision, as the four Circuit Judges, Lacombe, Coxe, Noyes, and Ward, before whom has come the record of the testimony taken before a Special Master and the briefs and arguments of the counsel, declared yesterday that they were divided upon the matter.

The Government in its petition alleged that the defendants were engaged in an unlawful combination and a conspiracy to restrain trade in this country and abroad, as far as certain magazines and periodicals were concerned, and to monopolize portions of the business. So the courts were asked to issue an injunction restraining the defendants from continuing such practices.

In addition to the Periodical Clearing House, the defendants to the case are Doubleday, Page & Co.; Crowell Publishing Company, S. S. McClure Company, Current Literature Publishing Company, Phillips Publishing Company, Harper & Brothers, Leslie-Judge Company, Review of Reviews Company, New Publication Company, Butterick Publishing Company, Standard Fashion Company, New Idea Publishing Company, Ridgeway Company, American Homes Magazine Company, Short Stories Company, Limited; Frank N. Doubleday, Herbert S. Houston, Frederick L. Collins, Charles D. Lanier, and George Von Utassy.

You might think that $25 is the only price at which our clothes are sold; we've said a good deal about the value at that price. You can buy a suit of our make at $20, or even $18 in some stores. But we dont pretend that an $18 suit, even though it has our mark in it, is as good as the suits we make to sell at $25.

We recommend the $25 suit for the sake of the man who is going to wear it; the things he will get out of the suit are more valuable than the money he pays for it. Start your looking at $25; you may want to pay more.

If you buy our suits at $18 and $20, you'll get mighty good clothes; better pay $25 or more. Our mark is a small thing to look for, a big thing to find.

ANTI-MAXWELL BILLS PASSED BY SENATE

Three Republicans Help Tammany Push Through Measures to Restrict Superintendent.

BROWN'S VIGOROUS ATTACK

Prof. Hanus, He Asserts, Does Not Approve Alleged Reforms—Bills Go to Gaynor for Approval.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 22.—The Tammany members of the Senate had little trouble to-day in passing the McKee bills, which lessen the power of Superintendent W. H. Maxwell of the New York City schools, and correspondingly increase the power of President Churchill and the members of the Board of Education. The chief argument for the measure was that the amendments were needed to meet criticisms made in the Hanus report concerning the New York City school system.

Senator Elon R. Brown, Republican leader, was the chief opponent of the bills. He said that Prof. Hanus did not approve of the bills, and that the most prominent educators of New York City were opposed to them. He quoted from a letter written by Nicholas Murray Butler saying that the bills if enacted would introduce anarchy into the school system.

"These bills are intended to aggrandize Mr. Churchill and to cripple Dr. Maxwell and his associates," Senator Brown added. "They will undo all the work that has been done in recent years and restore the old order."

Senator Wagner doubted if Dr. Butler really knew much about the public school system of New York City.

Senator Blauvelt read from a letter written by E. S. Crandall, President of the Male High School Teachers' Association, who said that when the city charter was revised the chapter relating to the schools was entrusted to a committee composed of Dr. Butler, Seth Low, and Dr. Maxwell. He added that Dr. Butler and Mr. Low were busy with other matters, and that Dr. Maxwell was alowed to write the chapter giving the Superintendent the power attacked in the McKee bills.

Senator McClelland said there were 800,000 school children in New York and the school system cost $33,000,000 a year, so every safeguard should surround the expenditures of such a sum.

"Senator McClelland often strikes the keynote better than any of us," Senator Brown retorted. "He says there is thirty-three millions a year. These bills permit the Board of Education to expend it as it sees fit. That's the keynote. The present law prevents it."

The bill which authorizes the board to change by by-laws the conditions annexed to the salary schedules approved by the board in May, 1911, and providing for the approval of services of all members of the teaching and supervising staffs for the purpose of entitling them to an increase, was passed by a vote of 33 to 11, three Republicans voting with the Democrats.

The bill permitting the President of the Board of Education to appoint a member of the teaching or supervising staff to inspect and report on any subject over which the board has legal control was passed by a vote of 31 to 10. The same vote was given on the bill which increases the number of district superintendents from twenty-six to twenty-nine and strikes out the requirement that district superintendents shall be nominated by the Board of Superintendents.

The bills now go to Mayor Gaynor for his approval.

$3,000 JOBS TO PAY $5,000.

Civil Service Commission Becomes Tammanyized by Albany Bill.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 22.—A Tammanyized State Civil Service Commission is provided for in a bill which was passed by the Senate to-day and has now gone to the Governor. Since the Civil Service Commission has been in operation the Commissioners have been appointed at the pleasure of the Governor. There are three Commissioners, who have a salary of $3,000 each. The specified duties of the office do not require their entire attention, that is, they may attend to their private business and come to Albany once a month. The executive work of the office of the commission is in the charge of a Secretary, who communicates when necessary with the Commissioners by telephone.

The bill before the Governor makes the positions much more attractive. Without requiring any more work or greater responsibility it allows the Commissioners to draw $5,000 a year. Furthermore, only one of the Commissioners appointed by Gov. Sulzer is in danger of losing his job with a change of administration two years from now. The present Commissioners are to be appointed on May 1 to terms of two, four, and six years. Afterward the term of Commissioner is to be six years with no provision for removal.

Gov. Sulzer recently vetoed a local bill that increased the salaries of men now in office. In the proposed bill his own appointees are to receive an increase of $2,000 a year for no additional service.

POST ROAD TROLLEY WINS.

Tracks May Be Laid Along "Wealthiest Thirteen Miles on Earth."

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 22.—The traction interests of Westchester County won a victory in the Senate to-day when the Yard bill, permitting the construction of a trolley line on the Albany Post Road from Hastings to Ossining, was passed by a bare majority. The bill had twenty-five votes on the first and second roll calls, and the twenty-sixth was obtained when Senator Healy forced Senator Murtaugh of Elmira to vote on the measure.

The road in question runs in front of the Gould estate and the country residences of many wealthy New Yorkers. It is alleged that it will destroy the road for the purposes to which it originally was dedicated. In opposing the measure Senator Palmer characterized the stretch of road over which the trolley line was planned as "the wealthiest thirteen miles on earth!"

One of the arguments against the bill is that the railroads already built in Westchester County are without adequate patronage, and that a new line is not justified or called for by the public.

MOVING-PICTURE BILL DIES.

Cuvillier Fails in His Attempt to Take Control from Aldermen.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 22.—By a vote of 85 to 13 the Assembly defeated to-day the Cuvillier bill, which would have taken from the Board of Aldermen of New York the power to issue licenses for moving-picture shows and lodged that power with the Police Department. That effect would have been attained by placing moving-picture shows on a par with theatres.

The overwhelming vote against the bill followed an elaborate defense of the measure by Mr. Cuvillier, who asserted that it had been drafted by Elbridge T. Gerry, President of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. When the bill had been voted down, Mr. Cuvillier moved a reconsideration. That motion was tabled.

$10,000 TO BOROUGH HEADS

Assembly Passes Bill to Increase Presidents' Salaries.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 22.—By a vote that was well-nigh unanimous the Assembly to-day passed the bill introduced by Assemblyman Sol Sufrin (Progressive) of the Eighth Assembly District in New York County, which provides for an increase in the salaries of the Borough Presidents of Manhattan, Brooklyn, and the Bronx from $7,500 to $10,000 per annum, and the salaries of the Presidents of the Boroughs of Queens and Richmond from $5,000 to $7,500 a year. The Sufrin bill now goes to the Senate for concurrence.

JOKER IN RAILROAD BILL.

Extension of Perpetual Franchise Made Easy, Says J. O. Hammitt.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 22.—The McCue bill, introduced at the request of the New York Central Railroad Company, to provide means for the sale of the property and franchises of one railroad company to another, contains a joker which will extend the franchises of the purchaser over the property bought, according to statements made here to-day. That is, if the purchasing company enjoyed a perpetual franchise it might extend such perpetual franchise over the railroad bought, even though the franchise of the latter was limited as to time.

"Despite the fact that the State has an established policy against perpetual franchises," said J. O. Hammitt, Secretary of the Citizens' Union, to-day, "the extension of perpetual franchises can be accomplished by the bill of Assemblyman McCue, which has been passed by the Assembly, and is on the order of passage in the Senate, where it is in charge of Senator Blauvelt. It applies throughout the State, although it is said to be intended to permit the New York and Harlem Company to sell its railroad and franchises to the New York Central.

"Objections of minority stockholders were made against the bill in its original form, and it has been amended to meet those objections. While the minority is thus taken care of, however, all efforts have so far been unsuccessful to obtain amendments which will protect the public interests."

The bill will probably come up for passage next week.

New Port Warden Chosen.

ALBANY, April 22.—Gov. Sulzer today sent to the Senate the nomination of Richard O'Keefe of New York as Port Warden of the Port of New York, to succeed Michael Blake, whose term of office is about to expire. The appointment was referred to the Finance Committee.

STILWELL SILENTLY STICKS TO SENATE

Governor's Threats Fail to Move Senator Acquitted of Bribe Charge.

CASE GOING TO GRAND JURY

Bronx Member, Shunned by Many Colleagues, Takes No Part in Debate.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 22.—Senator Stephen J. Stilwell, who was acquitted of bribe charges made by George H. Kendall, President of the New York Bank Note Company, still retains his seat in the Senate, and there is no indication that the threats of Gov. Sulzer will prompt him to resign.

The Senator's voice has never been heard in debate since his trial before the Senate. In the past the Senator from the Bronx has been a ready debater. Since last Wednesday night he has not spoken except to make a perfunctory announcement of a meeting of the Senate Committee on Codes, of which he is Chairman, and to vote on measures before the Senate.

It is understood that the testimony taken at the bribery hearing has been sent to District Attorney Whitman at the direction of the Governor. Mr. Sulzer is anxious to have a Grand Jury investigation of the charges made by Mr. Kendall. In all probability Attorney General Carmody either personally or through counsel will appear to aid in the Grand Jury investigation.

George A. Field, Vice President of the New York Bank Note Company, came to the Capitol to-day and had a conference with the Attorney General. Mr. Field, however, denied that either he or Mr. Kendall was anxious to have the charges taken to the Grand Jury.

"I came up here," said Mr. Field, "in the interest of legislation to stop discriminations against our company by the New York Stock Exchange. The amended bill is now before the Senate Committee on Codes. There are on the committee besides Senator Stilwell four members who voted for the acquittal of the Senator. They with Senator Stilwell himself form a majority of the committee, and it looks rather blue for our bill."

The original Kendall bill was reported from the Committee on Codes and now is in general orders on the Senate calendar. The Assembly bill was sent to the Senate and referred to the Committee on Codes. Unless the Senate should concur in the bill as passed in the lower House, Mr. Kendall's legislation will fail. Preliminary to final passage in the Senate a favorable report by the Senate Codes Committee is essential.

Senator Stilwell is virtually ostracized by all twenty-one Senators who voted to find him guilty on the bribery charges. As they constitute the most influential element in the Senate, the Senator has a rather uncomfortable time of it, but his friends say he intends to stay in the Senate until the end of the session.

CARMODY BARS BULLMOOSE

Rules That Progressives Are Not Entitled to Election Officers.

ALBANY, April 22.—The Democratic and Republican Parties, which at the last election cast the highest and next highest number of votes in the State, are the parties entitled to the appointments of Commissioner of Elections and election officials. This is the opinion of Attorney General Carmody, given to-day.

This construction of the law was announced in response to an inquiry from C. J. Hamlin, Chairman of the Progressive Party in Erie County, where the Progressive vote in the last election outnumbered that of the Republicans.

In a recent opinion Attorney General Carmody expressed the view that the law relative to the publication of session laws required that the laws be published in newspapers representing "each of the two principal political parties into which the people of such counties are divided," a conclusion which, he says, has since been sustained by the Court of Appeals.

The language used in the Constitutional and statutory provisions concerning the appointment of election officials, the Attorney General holds, is materially different from that relating to the session laws, and provides that the vote cast in the State at large must control.

A Clogged Bowel means A Clogged Brain

A CONSTIPATED man cannot THINK clearly. The active and successful person needs a clean bowel and a clear Brain. The Brain is naturally influenced because of pressure on the intestinal nervous system which prevents the human telegraph wires from performing their duty. No one organ in the body acts independent from another; in union there is health.

REMOVE THAT PRESSURE NOW. Don't say, I'll take something to-night, and thus spoil your day and your sleep. Take a remedy which acts quickly, surely and gently. Take HUNYADI JANOS WATER, the natural Remedy. The ideal laxative for a business man. ½ tumblerful in the morning, or at any time on an empty stomach, relieves you in an hour or so. ADVISES SWEEPING REMEDIES FOR VICE Philadelphia Commission Reports Startling Conditions—Segregation a Failure.

SCHOOLS SOURCES OF EVIL

Instruction of Pupils in Sex Hygiene Urged—3,311 Houses of Ill-Repute—Minors Imperilled.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, April 22.—The Mayor's Vice Commission made its report to-day. Chief among its suggestions is the appointment of a permanent commission, similar to the New York Committee of Fourteen, which shall see to the enactment of new laws and supervise existing conditions where the police are not available. The report was unanimous.

The commission since August last has visited every suspected house in the city and taken a census of the women of the streets. It asks five years in which to eradicate the commercial side of the social evil and prevent the opening of more houses of questionable character, resulting in the eventual extermination of vice.

In the Tenderloin and central parts of the city the commission found 3,311 houses of ill-repute and 813 women walking the streets. In that zone are 1,542 school children and 2,500 other minors. The average wage of the disorderly house inmates is $25 a week. The earnings of those women are figured at a total of $6,250,400 a year.

Eighty-three per cent. of the inmates are American born. Ten per cent. came from the South of Europe, and 7 per cent. from scattered parts of the East. The commission thinks half of them enter the business because of inadequate support, 16 per cent. as a result of improper recreation and environment, and the others because their early moral training was neglected. Its more important recommendations are:

That segregation and all efforts to continue that practice here be abandoned.

All measures of suppression to be freed from the spectacular.

That prosecutions for the suppression of the evil in the future be directed first against the owners of the houses.

Introduction into the public schools of courses of sex hygiene and pathology.

That the Department of Health be empowered to supervise the registration of diseases.

That a night court be established and a court committee be appointed to look after these cases.

Social service departments in all establishments where men and women are employed together.

Appointment of women to the police force.

Appointment of women to all institutional boards by which women or children are treated for correction.

Strict supervision of places of amusement.

Strict supervision of employment agencies.

Better police supervision of Fairmount Park, which is characterized as one of the most pernicious places for the teaching of immorality.

Enactment by the Legislature of laws regulating registration of social diseases, letting of houses for immoral purposes, punishment of street women, and the sale of habit-forming drugs.

That the Legislature raise the age limit of consent to 21 years; that it establish a State reformatory for women, and that a law be passed excluding messenger boys from immoral resorts.

The commission says marriage licenses should not be granted without a health certificate in many cases.

Concerning the teaching of sex hygiene in public schools, the commission takes the position that vice first is taught to American children in the classroom and that it is there they should be taught to what it will lead. It is the rule in Philadelphia, according to the testimony, for cases to originate in the public schools, and the commission believes much of the evil can be stamped out if children are enlightened early enough.

CRACKERS THEIR BOOTY.

Highwaymen, Seeking Mills's Pay Roll, Got Salesman's Sample Bag.

WESTERLY, R. I., April 22.—A leather bag bulging with sample crackers was the reward of two highwaymen who lay in wait to-day for the paymaster of the White Rock Mills, who was due to pass the spot with the weekly payroll.

The paymaster was late, and when Edward Sullivan, a salesman for a biscuit company of Boston, happened along, he could not convince the robbers that he was not the man they were expecting. The men wore automobile coats and goggles, and were armed with revolvers.

PRAISES JAMES CREELMAN.

The City Club Pays Tribute to His Civil Service Work.

The trustees of the City Club, by a unanimous vote, have ordered the following minute to record its opinion of the enforcement of the Civil Service law by James Creelman:

"The City Club of New York regrets the loss which the City of New York has suffered by the retirement of Mr. Creelman as President of the Civil Service Commission. It recognizes the faithful and valuable service which he has rendered to the cause of establishing and extending the merit system and the earnest efforts which he has made to administer the Civil Service law in sympathy with its purposes. It believes that he has done more than any other single Commissioner to enforce the law without favor to any individual, and in accordance with its spirit, and that he has advanced the standard by which the work of the commission will be hereafter judged. It records and expresses to him its appreciation of his services."

EX-JUSTICES AS COUNSEL.

David Leventritt and E. E. McCall Opposed in Theatrical Suit.

Former Supreme Court Justices David Leventritt and Edward E. McCall appeared yesterday in the Supreme Court as opposing counsel in a suit brought by Liebler & Co. against Lee Shubert to recover half of the profits of "The Blue Bird" production. Ex-Justice Leventritt appeared for the plaintiffs and ex-Justice McCall, who is now Chairman of the Public Service Commission, appeared for the defendant.

George C. Tyler, a member of Liebler & Co., asserted that the company had a half interest in the production for the United States and Canada. Liebler & Co. were to rehearse the play, and Mr. Shubert to book it and manage it. The plaintiffs say in their complaint that Mr. Shubert has turned over only $4,000 of the $30,000 profits.

The case was adjourned until to-day, when ex-Justice McCall will have the plaintiff company's Treasurer in court to prove the authenticity of certain statements alleged to have been issued by Liebler & Co.

In the language of the act no person may shoot at, kill, take or have in his possession any wild bird other than a game bird or have in his possession any part of its plumage for purposes of sale or shipment from the State.

CHILDREN TIE UP PITTSBURGH TRAFFIC

Striking Pupils Parade Streets in Thousands and Keep Police Busy.

ONE GIRL KILLED BY CAR

Committee of Citizens to Investigate Official to Whom Youngsters Object.

PITTSBURGH, April 22.—The strike of school children against S. L. Heeter as Superintendent of Public Schools spread rapidly to-day. Beginning yesterday, when hundreds of pupils remained away from school as a protest against Heeter, who was acquitted last Friday of charges made by a servant in his home, the strike gained vast proportions to-day. In all parts of the city thousands of children paraded the streets, blocking traffic at busy points and keeping the police reserves on the jump.

Late in the afternoon the Pittsburgh Board of Education held a meeting and appointed a committee of seven prominent men to investigate the various accusations made against Heeter. The committee comprises W. H. Stevenson, President of the Chamber of Commerce; Valentine Barie, President of the Iron City Central Trades Council; Bishop Cortlandt Whitehead of the Episcopal diocese; A. Leo Weil, President of the Voters' League; Bishop J. Regis Canevin of the Roman Catholic diocese, the Rev. George W. Shelton, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, and the Rev. Dr. Leonard Levy of Rodeph Shalom Synagogue.

Scores of the youthful marchers today were detained at the various police stations until their parents could be notified. One little girl was run over and killed by a street car while the children were parading the streets. Charles McCool, 35 years old, was arrested charged with encouraging the strike. William Slater, 67 years old, was arrested charged with inciting a riot. Slater and several women attacked two policemen who were destroying banners carried by the children. The flags bore the inscription, "Kick Heeter out."

Heeter was burned in effigy by groups of children in various parts of the city.

AUTO FALLS 100 FEET.

One of Two Passengers Hurt as It Goes Over Embankment.

Two employes of a taxicab company in West 150th Street went out yesterday morning with a reconstructed touring car to test its motor, and within fifteen minutes after it had left the garage it lay a wreck on 158th Street at the bottom of a 100-foot embankment.

The accident happened when the car was rounding the sharp turn from the Drive into the cross-street. It skidded, leaped the curb, shot across the sidewalk, crashed through a paling-fence, and shot down the embankment. The man at the wheel saw the danger in time and jumped, but the other employe, Thomas Foraman of 539 West 175th Street, was not quick enough. Fortunately, however, he was thrown from the machine, and while he fell the length of the embankment, he fell clear of the wreckage, and was only painfully bruised.

Maritime Association Election.

The annual election of the Maritime Association of the Port of New York was held yesterday. William Simmons was elected President, Edgar F. Luckenbach, Vice President, and Frederick V. L. Jones Treasurer. The following were elected Directors: George D. Ali, Andrew M. Campbell, Thomas H. Franklin, Edgar F. Lethbridge, Rafael Rios, and Marcus H. Tracy.

ECKERT'S MOTION DENIED.

Court Refuses Younger Son's Plea for New Trial of Will Contest.

A motion for a new trial in the contest over the will of Gen. Thomas T. Eckert, for twenty years President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, was denied yesterday by Supreme Court Justice Greenbaum. The will has already been the cause of extended litigation, both in the Supreme Court and in the Surrogates' Court.

James Clendennin Eckert, Gen. Eckert's elder son, was practically cut off by the will, and he filed objections to the probate of the testament, charging undue influence on the part of Thomas T. Eckert, his brother, and Richard G. Page, Jr., his father's secretary. Surrogate Cohalan dismissed the objections and admitted the will to probate.

The contest was continued in a suit in the Supreme Court, as a result of which the will was broken, and it was held that Gen. Eckert died intestate, so that the estate is shared between the two sons. Immediately after the second action, Thomas T. Eckert made a motion for a new trial. No decision was announced until yesterday, when an order denying the motion was filed in the County Clerk's office.

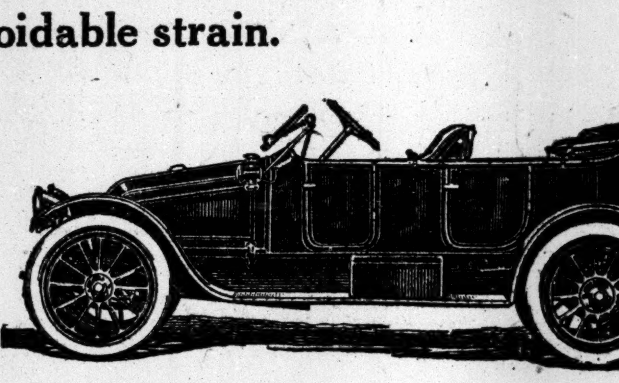
FRANKLIN BALANCED CONSTRUCTION OR SPECIALIZED FEATURES

Franklin Balanced Construction has succeeded in trimming down overweight in every part; in measuring the capacity of every part, and the strain on every part; and in correlating the size, weight and capacity to meet that unavoidable strain.



Franklin Little Six "30," a light, medium size 5-passenger car $2900

THOUSANDS of cars are sold by exploiting some particular feature—Speed—Engine—Transmission — Starting Device. The list runs the whole gamut of parts and accessories.

Franklin Balanced Construction plays up no feature at the expense of the whole machine. It has netted a saving of 1000 lbs. to 1200 lbs. weight per car compared with any other car of equal power and capacity.

Reduced weight increases tire mileage, as proved by Franklin users, 100% over all other cars of equal power and capacity. Reduced weight increases gasoline mileage for Franklin users 100% over all other cars of equal power and capacity.

The Franklin has reduced its weight like the fighter who trains down to the minute.

The Franklin laminated wood frame is a revelation. Abolishing the rigid steel frame has reduced the jolts to a minimum. The Franklin wood frame, plus four full elliptical springs, absorbs road shocks just as the wooden foundation of a heavy steam hammer saves the machine from being wrecked. All rigid strut rods and braces are eliminated.

Come in and let us explain the wonderful Fact-Backed Franklin to you detail by detail.

It is the most economical car in upkeep cost of its size and capacity.

Fact-Backed Franklin cars are made as follows:

MEISTER PIANO—Price $175.00

Terms $1.00 a Week or $5.00 a Month

NO INTEREST ON PAYMENTS

The MEISTER may be seen in all its exquisite styles at our salesrooms on the Tenth Floor of the Clarendon Building which is located on the Southeast corner of Eighteenth Street and Fourth Avenue—conveniently reached by subway and the Madison Avenue surface lines. The instrument will be played for you by an expert or you may play it yourself to test its touch and tone. We will be more than pleased to have you minutely examine the piano as to materials and methods of construction.

This is the instrument that is in use in more American homes than any other piano on the market. You will appreciate the reason why when you see what a fine piano it is. You will feel that the price of $175.00 is really too low for its worth. There is no piano in the world that has a better tone or a more lasting one and we have had scores of people who really know pianos, say that no $500 or $1.000 piano in existence has a tone that is richer or more mellow.

We are today selling more pianos direct to the home than any other piano house in the country and we believe that if we asked $100 more than we do, our volume would be just as great. But we save you fully $100 by selling direct from the factory, for you have no dealer's profit to pay and the dealer's profit is usually $100. We ask NO INTEREST ON THE PAYMENTS and give you over three years to pay the sum of $175. Moreover we give you a ten-year-certificate or warrant of quality. Likewise we give a cover and piano stool free. If you know anything about the quality of pianos, come here and go over the MEISTER before you determine to buy. This instrument will open your eyes.

The Giants and the Phillies tormented each other in deadly earnest for thirteen innings at the Polo Grounds yesterday and then the players were so hungry that they called it a day's work and went to dinner, leaving the rumpus a tie, 2 to 2. The Giants ought to have a conservator appointed over them for not winning, for in the last three innings they had groups of anxious runners on the paths, but the timely rap to push them home was on a vacation.

The eleventh inning was jammed full of emotion. Just listen! Burns brought 15,000 people to their toes with a slam to left. Murray rocketed to Paskert, and after Fred Merkle had hoisted a foul, which Charley Dooin just missed, he sent a tearing two-bagger to the left field fence. George Burns thought that Magee was going to grab the ball, so he hesitated on the base lines when he should have been galloping home. He got only as far as third base.

Chief Meyers then came from his tepee to bat for Herzog, and Tommy Seaton, who was doing the tossing for the Phillies, gave him a walk without a second thought. The bases were crowded to suffocation. Harry McCormick tangoed from the bench to wave his bat in place of Fletcher.

Come on now, McCormick, if there is a pinch hit in you anywhere, this is the place to get rid of it.

Pass the smelling salts. McCormick fanned like a busher and tramped back to the bench cussing the umpire in silence. Old stuff.

Then came still another gorgeous chance to grab the game with Olaf Wilson in the title rôle. Seaton made the ball hop, and the best Olaf produced was a long fly to Paskert. The three Giants stood on the bases like three cops on fixed posts.

Was Manager McGraw provoked? Well, he looked about as happy as a man with a jumping toothache.

Hooks Wiltse, who pitched as fine a game as he did when he was a young fellow, pried open the twelfth chapter with a whistling double to right. Snodgrass could have gotten in solid on the ground floor with a timely smash, but he grounded to Mike Doolan, who tossed Wiltse out at third. Another chance faded.

Honestly, there were so many chances for the Giants to squeeze this pastime that a Gotham victory should have been as easy as taking lead pencils from the blind man on the corner.

In the thirteenth inning Red Murray opened with a roaring single to left and went to second on Paskert's fumble. Merkle sacrificed him to third. You'd bet your old brown hat that Josh Devore, who had edged into the cast of characters back in the eleventh inning, would at least shoot a sacrifice fly somewhere into the azure, but no, Josh bounded one along the floor and Red Murray was run down between third base and the victory slab.

Hank Groh had the last shot at Tommy Seaton. Deep gloom had settled over the stadium, and spectators were lighting matches to see their way out, when, with two deceased, Shorty Groh tried to get familiar with Seaton's dippy twists.

Be prepared for the worst—he struck out.

It's a fine game, this baseball. You lose your dinner, and run the risk of being divorced to stick around late into the night, and then no one wins. When you look back and think of those rosy chances the Giants missed to nail the game, it's enough to drive one to cricket.

In the early afternoon when the game began Jeff Tesreau was decorating the mound for the Giants. Jeff was going along as smooth as satin until the second inning. Then this man Luderus, a left-handed swinger, with a pair of shoulders like Zbyszco, whaled the ball into the right-field stand for a home run. It was a mighty whack, and fell far back in the upper tier. Tesreau caught the next train downtown. Hooks Wiltse then made his first appearance of the season. Wiltse has put the reverse English on the growing old habit, and he lobbed up benders that looked as big as a medicine ball, but the batting Phils couldn't even flirt with them. Wiltse will be getting his picture on the same page with Johnson, Walsh, Mathewson, Rucker, and other young pitchers if he doesn't look out.

The other Phil unite showed in the third inning. After Seaton had whiffed and Paskert skied to Burns, Knabe was safe on Fletcher's fumble. Knabe stole second, and went to third when Wilson made a troubled heave to the middle station. Hans Lobert slapped a stinger to centre, and scored the other German.

The Giants didn't get into the picture at all until the sixth inning. Up to that time Tommy Seaton of Oregon had been stingy with his hits. With Wiltse out of the way in the sixth, Snodgrass singled to left, and went to third on Shafer's hit to right. Then along comes George Burns with a pippin rap to right, which sent Snodgrass home. Cosy Dolan whipped the ball to Knabe, who made a tumultous peg to third base to head off Shafer, and Tilly romped in with the run which locked the score.

Right there Jack Murray tore a liner to centre. It looked like a safe hit and a Giant victory, but Paskert plunged forward at the ball and picked it right off the linoleum.

He'd made a fine burglar, that Paskert.

George Burns saved the game in the ninth, when Luderus tried to score from second on Dooin's slam to left. Burns made a beautiful throw to the plate, the ball coming straight to Wilson's outstretched mitten, and Mr. Luderus was doused by ten large feet, full measure.

By way of conclusion it might be repeated that it's too bad that the Giants couldn't have used up any one of those seventeen chances to win. Then those 15,000 folks wouldn't have taken a grouch home with them.

The main thing is, the Giants didn't get whipped, so McGraw should lose a wink of sleep? Guess not.

Cubs Lucky in Batting.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, April 22.—Although outbatted, Chicago by bunching hits, won its third consecutive game from Cincinnati this afternoon by a score of 8 to 5. The game was a pitchers' battle between Leifield and Fromme up to the sixth inning, when Cincinnati scored four runs on five hits off Leifield, making the score 4 to 1 in favor of the locals. Then came rapid changes in the line-up, first by Chicago and then by Cincinnati. The Chicago combination proved to be more successful and won out in the last three innings. Score:

Pirates Win on Two Hits.

ST. LOUIS, April 22.—Although Perritt gave only two hits, Pittsburgh to-day won the third successive game from St. Louis, score 1 to 0. Slow fielding and the pitcher's own error, followed by a single, gave the visitors their lone tally. Pittsburgh got its first hit in the seventh, when Wilson scratched a single through the pitcher's box. Wilson moved to second on a sacrifice, and went to third on Perritt's poor throw. McCarthy's single scored Wilson. Score:

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Penn., April 22.—Carroll Brown pitched nine innings for the Athletics this afternoon. Usually this would not be worth noticing, but as the Atlantic City boy is the first Athletic pitcher to go the full route in a league contest this season, it is worthy of comment. Incidentally, the New York team, headed by that one-time peerless leader of the Cubs, Frank Chance, was beaten 7 to 4.

The game was a far better contest than any of the quartet against Boston. New York, however, is not the formidable aggregation that Boston is. The tail end of its batting order is lamentably weak.

Until "Slats" McConnell became ruffled in the fourth inning New York was in the running. McInnis's wallop into the left field bleachers, however, put McConnell up in the air, and he did not descend. Schulz, who succeeded him, pitched finely.

Chance received an ovation when he came to the plate for his first effort, and friends presented him with a floral wreath.

The line-up of the New York team was vastly different from the batting order in previous games. Chance announced before the game that he would continue to change the team about until he hit upon the right combination.

The injury that Amos Strunk sustained yesterday in sliding into the plate is not as serious as was supposed, but Strunk, nevertheless, will be out of the game for fully three weeks. His ankle is severely sprained. It was at first thought to be broken.

"Jack" Coombs passed a good night at the Northwestern Hospital, and is improving daily.

The Yankees began scoring in the first inning, when Hartzell doubled after Wolter and Chase had been retired. Cree followed with another double, scoring Hartzell.

In the third inning the Yankees got two. Chase walked, followed by singles by Hartzell and Cree, the latter's hit scoring Chase and Hartzell.

Another run in the fifth inning completed the New Yorkers' tallies. Wolter singled, but was forced by Chase. On the hit and run play Hartzell singled, sending Chase to third, who scored on another hit and run play with Chance at the bat.

The Athletics got two runs in the first inning on singles by Oldring and McInnis and two stolen bases by the same players, assisted by a fumble by Hartzell.

Four more runs were added to the Athletic score in the fourth inning. McInnis hit the first ball pitched into the left field bleachers for a home run. Daley singled. Barry sacrificed, McConnell to Chance. The fourth ball on Lapp was a passed ball, Daley racing to third. Brown doubled, scoring Daley and Lapp. Murphy's grounder to Hartzell forced Brown at third, Midkiff taking the throw. Murphy stole. On the hit and run play Oldring doubled, scoring Murphy. This caused the retirement of McConnell, Schulz going to the mound for New York. Then Collins fanned.

In the eighth session the Athletics got a run when Barry bounced one into the left-field bleachers for a home run.

Stovall Starts Winning Rally.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 22.—Manager Stovall of St. Louis headed a ninth-inning rally which enabled St. Louis to win from Cleveland, 4 to 2, to-day. Wild throws by Land and Graney enabled St. Louis to score two runs in the first two innings. In the sixth Cleveland tied the score on an error and three-base hits by Jackson and Lajoie. A double and two bases on balls filled the bases in Cleveland's half of the ninth, but good fielding prevented a score. Earl Hamilton is the first left-handed pitcher Cleveland batteries have faced this season. The score:

President Wilson Stays Till the End

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Washington suffered its first defeat of the season today, succumbing to Boston, 8 to 3. President Wilson attended the game. In the seventh inning the home team apparently was hopelessly behind, and the crowd began to leave, but the President remained until the last man was out. Inability of Washington to hit Leonard at critical times was mainly responsible for the defeat, the locals having fourteen men left on bases. Boston scored two runs in the opening inning on clean hitting, and added two more in the second inning, when Groom was touched for a single and gave three bases on balls, forcing in a run. Gallia relieved Groom after this and an out allowed another run. Two singles, a fielder's choice, and a double run gave Washington two in the second inning, and Milan's walk, steal of second, and Leonard's error added the last tally. Gallia lost control of the ball in the sixth inning, after Gardner had singled, hitting Engle and passing Wagner. Hooper's base on balls forced in one run, and Yerkes's long single to left centre cleared the bases. The score:

Tigers Fail to Overhaul Chicago.

CHICAGO, April 22.—With the Stars and Stripes and the Detroit pennant inverted on the flagpoles of the pavilion and the line-up of the local American League team changed, Manager Callahan managed to check the winning streak of Detroit. The score was 3 to 2. Collins, after two men were out in the initial inning, knocked the ball into the left-field bleachers for a home run. The visitors started a rally in the last inning which almost proved disastrous to Chicago. Crawford opened with a double and later Jones dropped Gainer's fly. A sharp single to centre allowed both runners to score. Scott then tightened up and the side was retired without further damage. The score:

COLLEGE BASEBALL.

Fordham Captain Fractures Ankle.

Fordham suffered a whitewash in the first of a two-game series with Tufts College at Fordham Field yesterday. The score was 4 to 0. Shortly before the game Capt. Kehoe fractured an ankle while practicing the hook slide. Weakened by the loss of its heavy hitting leftfielder, the Maroon nine was only able to make four safeties off the visiting moundsman. Kellin, who twirled for Fordham, was in fine form, but slow work behind him lost the game. The score:

"Ted" Meredith Under Faculty Ban.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Penn., April 22.—"Ted" Meredith of the University of Pennsylvania, who made a fine record at the Olympic games in Stockholm, will be unable to run on the Pennsylvania freshmen relay team at the intercollegiate relay races, which will be run on Franklin Field on Saturday, on account of conditions in his studies which he will be unable to lift before the time for the races. Meredith's place will be taken by Humphries, former track Captain of the Central High School. The loss of Meredith probably will mean the defeat of the Pennsylvania freshmen in the one-mile relay championship. Meredith has been running a quarter mile in 49 seconds, while Humphries is unable to do much better than 55 seconds. Meredith has three entrance conditions.

Mouquin Wins Columbia Fencing.

Coming up from scratch, L. H. F. Mouquin, the 'Varsity foilsman at Columbia University, worked his way through a large list yesterday in the fencing contests for the Lawrence medals to an ultimate victory. The donor of the prizes, H. Lawrence, awarded the medals at the end of the competitions. F. B. Colver, '13 L., and W. Shumway, P. G., tied for second, each having lost only one bout in the finals, but the second prize, a handsome foil, was finally awarded to Colver, owing to his having scored the greater number of touches of the two in the finals. The summaries:

Mouquin (0) defeated Shumway, (2,) 7—2; Colver (0) defeated Steuffeur, (4,) 7—5; Shumway defeated Baldwin, (3,) 7—4; Mouquin defeated Steuffeur, 7—6; Colver defeated Baldwin, 7—3; Steffeur defeated Shumway, 7—6; Mouquin defeated Baldwin, 7—6; Shumway defeated Colver, 7—6; Baldwin defeated Steffeur, 7—4; Mouquin defeated Colver, 7—4.

SUPERBAS HIT BALL HARD IN BOSTON

Break Their Losing Streak, While Curtis Holds Braves Safe Throughout.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Mass., April 22.—Sir William Dahlen, whose team of Brooklyn Superbas had just dropped four games to the Phillies by one run each, had the satisfaction of seeing his outfit soundly defeat his former Boston pals, 8 to 3, in to-day's opening game of the series here. Brooklyn looked very good, not only in the box, but in the infield and outfield, playing perfectly on defense, and getting its own runs by good hard hitting.

"Hub" Perdue, who shut out the Giants in the first game of the season, 8 to 0, with two hits, opposed Curtis this afternoon, but was no match for the slabman from Ebbets Field. The Superbas took kindly to Perdue's stock in trade from the first, hitting him hard and getting a lead of four runs before Boston found its way around the circut.

Twelve hits were made off Perdue in seven innings, two others being made off Gervais, one of the recruits. Curtis never had to work under any pressure, and always had his game in hand. His support at times was brilliant, particularly by the outfield, where Stengel put in a week's work in one day.

Capt. Bill Sweeney was back in the game for the Braves again to-day, but his presence did not seem to put any more ginger into the team than was shown against the Giants. Their defeat was the sixth straight and from to-day's showing the Dodgers should get two of the remaining three games with little trouble.

The Superbas broke into the game with two runs in the second inning, when a pass to Daubert was followed by Fisher's double and a clean hit by Curtis. Two innings later Fisher singled and made third base on an overthrow to head off his steal, Erwin then producing a base hit.

In the sixth Smith doubled, Fisher sacrificed and Erwin hit safely again. Thus Brooklyn got its 4 to 0 lead, the bottom of the batting list having done most of the execution. Curtis then took things easily down to the finish, Boston getting three runs in scattering fashion. Any hopes that Boston had of tieing up the game were dissipated in the seventh, when, after one run had been scored on hits by Cutshaw, Wheat, and Daubert, Catcher Rariden allowed the fourth ball on Smith to pass him, two of Dahlen's base runners romping home. COBB GOING TO SEE NAVIN.

Holdout Player Thinks Differences with Tigers Will Be Settled.

AUGUSTA, April 22.—Ty Cobb left here to-night for Detroit in response to a telegram Cobb said he had received from President Navin of the Detroit Americans. Cobb said Navin's message expressed the belief that differences between the player and the Detroit management can be satisfactorily adjusted.

CHICAGO, April 22.—Manager Jennings of the Detroit team said to-night that he had known Cobb was to meet President Navin on Thursday. "I hope the deal will be consummated," was his only comment.

Cobb Must Settle His Own Case.

The Baseball Players' Fraternity will take no action in the controversy between Ty Cobb and the Detroit Club unless requested to do so by the parties, and then only as mediator. In so announcing yesterday David L. Fultz, President of the fraternity, asserted that he regarded the matter as purely a business transaction between Cobb and President Navin, and that it was not only unfair but silly to attack the fraternity for not settling it.

POLO OF HIGH CLASS.

Internationalists Show Championship Form at Lakewood.

Special to The New York Times.

LAKEWOOD, N. J., April 22.—Polo of the international variety featured the two brushes that were played this afternoon. The same earnest spirit that has been noticeable throughout the practice games was again in evidence, and everybody in the two line-ups played the game for all it was worth.

The second game, on account of its closeness and the exciting finish, was the more spectacular and interesting of the two. The white quartet led for nearly three-quarters of the contest, but in the last part of the third and the fourth periods the red team forged to the front with a rush and pulled out a 5 to 4 victory.

In the first game Whitney's veteran combination proved too much for the opposing four, defeating them by a score of 5 to 2½. Agassiz played a lively game at forward for the white quartet. The line-up:

FIRST GAME.

White—R. L. Agassiz, J. M. Waterbury, H. P. Whitney, L. Waterbury. Red—L. E. Stoddard, C. C. Rumsey, D. Milburn, H. C. Phipps. Goals—Agassiz, (2;) J. M. Waterbury, (2;) L. Waterbury, Stoddard, Rumsey, Milburn.

SECOND GAME.

White—L. E. Stoddard, J. M. Waterbury, H. P. Whitney, H. C. Phipps. Red—C. C. Rumsey, H. H. Harrison, L. Waterbury, D. Milburn. Goals—Stoddard, (3,) Rumsey, (2,) Milburn, (2,) Harrison, J. M. Waterbury. Referee—Malcolm Stevenson.

Tie Polo on Meadow Brook Field.

WESTBURY, L. I., April 22.—This afternoon a good nip-and-tuck game of fast polo was played on the Meadow Brook field between the Reds and Whites, ending in a tie of 8 to 8. J. S. Von Stade's playing was noticeably fine, he, with T. Le Boutillier and C. Smith, making 8 goals in an eight-period game. The line-up:

Reds—Q. Shaw, C. P. Beadleston, A. Clark, and C. Smith. After the fourth period S. Ripley took the place of Q. Shaw and W. Webb took C. P. Beadleston's position in the sixth period.

Whites—R. Grace, Butler Duncan, T. Le Boutillier, and J. S. Von Stade. P. Stevenson took Duncan's position in the sixth period.

Those making goals besides Le Boutillier, Von Stade, and Smith were Ripley, Duncan, Grace, Clarke, and Beadleston, (2.)

International Games on June 19.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 22.—William F. Garcelon, graduate Treasurer of the Harvard Athletic Association, announced to-day that the Harvard-Yale track managements had suggested June 19 as the date for the Harvard-Yale and Oxford-Cambridge intercollegiate track meet, to be held in the Stadium. It is believed that this date will be acceptable to the Englishmen.

$6,000 HACKNEY PONY SOLD

But Seaham Natty Brings Only $1,000 at Durland Auction.

The English hackney pony Seaham Natty, better known as Mel Valley's Natty of the famous Mel Valley's string, which was imported into America some years ago by Mrs. Boehm with the world's champion four of the same breeding, was the centre of attraction last night in a miscellaneous lot of horses sold at auction at Durland's Academy. This pony was renamed and offered in the lot of the Belton Farms of Greenwich, Conn.

Under the name of Mel Valley's Natty the gelding won the championship for small horses at Madison Square Garden in 1911, and was reserve to one of its stable mates in 1910. It was stated that Mrs. Boehm, the first American owner of the wonderful pony, paid $6,000 for it.

Last night it was knocked down to Emil Seelig, a local dealer, for $1,000 after some spirited bidding. It will be shipped next week to Washington, D. C., where it will be shown. It will be later shown at the local shows, and finally at the National show in November at Madison Square Garden. Seaham Natty is a brown gelding, 13 hands, 6 years old, and those who saw it last night said it looked better than when it was last seen in the show ring.

The other offerings in the sale comprised a varied lot of trotting bred saddle horses and a few harness horses. The second best figure was received for the dapple gray mare Arethusa, sire King David, 2:21¼, dam Nonliker, a registered Arab mare. The animal attracted considerable attention among the bidders, and was finally purchased by S. W. Andrews for $600. The others ranged in price from $125 to $400. Tonight the lot of S. B. Harbinson of Kentucky will be offered for sale.

WORLD BOWLING RECORD.

George Kumpf of Buffalo Spills 712 Pins in Three Games.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 22.—A world's tournament record for individual bowling was established this afternoon, the last day of the National Bowling Association's seventh tournament, when George Kumpf of Buffalo, rolling in next to the final squad, spilled 712 pins. His games were 224, 234, and 254.

This figure beats both the National Bowling Association and the American Bowling Congress mark of 705. Rolling in the American Bowling Congress tournament in Detroit in 1910, Tom Haley of Detroit toppled 705 pins, and, in the National Bowling Association tournament in Baltimore the same year, Tony Prior of Brooklyn registered 705.

The tournament came to an end tonight with an open sweepstakes. The official standings in singles, doubles, and all-events will be issued by the tournament managers to-morrow night.

Smith and Riddell of New York will carry off first prize in doubles, $145, with their score of 1,259, and Kumpf, of course, will lead the individuals. Kumpf's scores in doubles and in the team match were ordinary, so that Jimmy Smith of New York is a likely all-events leader. Kumpf did not use a loaded ball in establishing his record.

BOUT ENDS IN BRAWL.

Seconds Punch Each Other After Foul by Boxer at Irving A. C.

A free-for-all battle in the ring and another in one corner of the clubhouse led to police intervention last night at the Irving A. C. of Brooklyn, following the boxing bout between Joe Coster and Patsy Callahan, Brooklyn featherweights. A foul blow delivered by Callahan in the seventh round of the scheduled ten-round bout caused the trouble. In a recent bout between this pair Callahan was disqualified for fouling. He was warned several times during the early rounds, and in the seventh round Coster went to the floor, alleging that he had again been hit low. It was impossible for him to continue.

Hardly had Coster gone down when one of his seconds jumped into the ring to work out his feelings on Callahan. The seconds of the latter joined with their boys, and in a second more fists were flying [illegible] been the [illegible]. AMATEURS BOX FOR STATE A. A. U. TITLES

Lively Contests Mark Preliminary Rounds in City A. C. Gymnasium.

Several lively contests marked the preliminary bouts of the New York State Metropolitan Association, A. A. U., boxing championships last night in the gymnasium of the City Athletic Club. Seven classes were scheduled, but owing to withdrawals no more than three contests were decided in any one class. The milling was fast for amateurs, and the majority of the contests went the limit. Jim Donovan, the club instructor, who was recently made a Deputy Sheriff, acted as referee, and preserved order around the ring.

Only one champion had his colors lowered; this was Irving Rosenberg of the Pennant Athletic Club, who was defeated on points in the 145-pound class by J. Baker of the Union Settlement Athletic Club.

One of the best contests of the evening was between Edward Nadler, Paulist A. C., and F. Murphy, New Polo A. A., the former securing the decision. Both men showed unusual ability for amateurs, and kept at the game throughout the three rounds. T. Mulvaney, Glencoe A. C., inflicted severe punishment on F. Jackson, Pierce A. A. The latter won the crowd by his gameness in the face of almost certain defeat. He came back strong in the final round and to the surprise of the majority of the spectators received the decision. The summary:

105-Pound Class.—Joseph Lilly, Boys' Club, defeated Phil M. Lind, unattached, three rounds. Judges' decision. Bert Weil, St. Bartholomew's Club, defeated William Aste, Christ Church, three rounds. Judges' decision. F. Shanley, Dominican Lyceum, defeated Leo Elvin, Union Settlement A. C., three rounds. Referee's decision.

115-Pound Class.—P. Cline, Glencoe A. C., defeated Patrick O'Neil, Boys' Club, 3 rounds, judges' decision; Charles Wasmus, Trinity Club, defeated H. J. Knoth, unattached, [illegible] E. Kothe, St. Bartholomew's Club, and William F. Reilly, Loughlin Lyceum, byes.

125-Pound Class.—I. Margolies, Union Settlement A. C., defeated William Freeman, Ozanam Association, three rounds. Judges' decision. M. Schwenger, Pastime A. C., defeated W. A. Maclean, West Harlem A. C., three rounds. Judges' decision. B. Perichoni, unattached, defeated Anthony Lawler, Ozanam Association, one round, knockout. William T. Odell, unattached, a bye.

135-Pound Class.—William J. Jackson, Grace A. C., defeated John Quigley, Ozanam Association, by default. Edward Nadler, Paulist A. C., defeated F. Murphy, New Polo Athletic Association, 3 rounds. Judges' decision. F. Jackson, Pierce A. A., defeated T. Mulvaney, Glencoe A. C., 3 rounds. Judges' decision. Carl Budke, unattached, defeated William Jelenko, unattached, 3 rounds. Judges' decision.

145-Pound Class.—John Baker, Union Settlement A. C., defeated Irving Rosenberg, Pennant A. C., 3 rounds. Judges' decision. F. Warburton, Union Settlement A. C., defeated Mike Tauber, Pennant A. C., 3 rounds. Judges' decision.

TOM GIBBONS LIKE MIKE.

Only Tom's Wallops Seem to Have More Steam Than Mike's.

Tom Gibbons of St. Paul gave Tommy Bergin of Lewiston, Me., a ten-round boxing lesson last night at the Atlantic Garden A. C. on the Bowery. Bergin's ruggedness enabled him to stay the full route, but he took enough wallops during the thirty minutes to lay most any other middleweight on his shoulders for the count of ten. At the conclusion of the bout Bergin, who carries the appellation of the "Lewiston Bearcat," was decidedly tamed.

Gibbons flitted around the ring with all the speed and agility that has made his brother Mike so popular and successful in the boxing world. In fact, he made a far better impression for cleverness than did Mike when the latter went over the ten-round route for the first time in New York. Tom Gibbons figured in only one local bout up to last night, and that ended so quickly—in less [illegible] impossi[illegible]ty. FIELD STANDS ABOLISHED.

Race Track Lawns to be Divided to Care for $1 Admissions.

It was decided by the Racing Associations yesterday, at a meeting held in the offices of The Jockey Club, that in future the grand stands and lawns of the different race courses would be divided in half by a wire fence which would extend down to the track.

In the lower half of the inclosure the admission will be $1. The general admission will remain the same, $3 for man and $1.50 for women. The field stand will be entirely eliminated.

The clubhouse season badges will be $50 for the meeting. Boxes are placed at $40 for each meeting, with $10 for holidays and Saturdays. Boxes will hold six to eight persons.

It was also decided that the stakes would be run on the following days at Belmont Park:

May 30—Metropolitan Handicap cup, three-year-olds and upward.
May 31—Withers, three-year-olds.
June 2—Grand National Steeplechase, handicap, four-year-olds and upward.
June 4—Juvenile, two-year-olds.
June 6—Derby, three-year-olds.
June 11—Empire State Steeplechase, four-year-olds and upward.
June 12—Fashion, two-year-old fillies.
June 13—Belmont, three-year-olds.
June 17—Toboggan Handicap, three-year-olds and upward.
June 19—Great American, two-year-olds and upward.
June 21—Brooklyn Handicap, three-year-olds and upward.
June 24—Astoria, two-year-old fillies.
June 26—Ladies' Handicap, mares, three-year-olds and upward.
June 28—Suburban Handicap, three-year-olds and upward.
June 30—Great Trial, two-year-olds.
July 2—Independence, four-year-olds and upward.
July 4—Realization, three-year-olds.
July 5—Keene Memorial, two-year-olds.

Otis Wins Billiard Game.

Charles Otis of Brooklyn defeated John Dankelman of Manhattan in the second block of their match at Keeney's Billiard Academy in Brooklyn last night by the score of 50 to 40, in eighty-three innings. Each made a high run of four points.

This trio bought their Spring suits here, and each had a different reason—

No. 1 was attracted by one of the exclusive Scotch cheviots he saw in the window.

No. 2 wanted to spend not more than $25 and wanted a suit for hard service.

No. 3 was willing to go the limit—selected a fine English worsted at $48.

Each was more delighted than the other.

NEW YORK, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 23, 1913.

THE CUSTOMS AND INCOME TAXES.

The published rates of the Underwood schedules had already made it plain that the Democrats are to give the country a competitive tariff. In its formal report introducing the bill the Ways and Means Committee frankly declares that the purpose is "to introduce in every line of industry a competitive tariff basis, providing for a substantial amount of "importation.". The profits of the home manufacturer are not to be protected, no monopoly of the home market is to be assured, and it is intended that the American manufacturer shall "meet honest competition." Benefits will accrue to the consumer "by the "probable change in prices resulting "from the removal of excessive rates "in the present law." But the manufacturer is comforted with the assurance that if he has to fight at home to control his market, if he is compelled to develop his business "along the best and most economical lines," he will thus strengthen himself for the extension of his business into foreign markets, and the judgment of the Committee is that "the future growth "of our great industries lies beyond "the seas."

None but those who have greatly prospered under a system of protected profits and find it exceeding hard to dispense with that favor will dispute the soundness of this reasoning. The Committee has evidently intended to give to the people the sort of tariff they have asked for. How soon or to what extent prices will be reduced under the stress of competition with the "substantial amount of importation" which the Committee thinks it has provided for remains to be seen. Even if in such commodities as articles of clothing made of wool there is no considerable reduction of price, the consumer will at least be in a position to demand better quality. Pure wool should be, and through the effect of increasing aversion to shoddy and sham fabrics doubtless will be, more extensively used by our weavers; and the same is doubtless true of American silks, which there is reason to believe have been shockingly overweighted with chemicals by many manufacturers. Loaded silks quickly crack and go to pieces, and garments made in large part of "wool" derived from old and worn fabrics do not give the purchaser the worth of his money.

The Treasury experts estimate the revenue from all sources under the Underwood bill for the first year at $926,000,000, and the expenditures at $994,790,000. The deficit of $68,790,000 is to be made up by the income tax, the earning power of which for the first year is estimated at $70,125,000. For the first time we have a detailed and classified guess of the number of incomes upon which this tax will fall. In all, it is estimated that there are 425,000 incomes which will be reached by the tax, yielding the required revenue of $70,125,000. It is interesting to note the incidence and the yield of the tax in their relation to the wealth of the contributors. Men enjoying an income not in excess of $25,000 are not considered rich in this country. Of persons whose incomes exceed $4,000 annually, but do not exceed $25,000, there are according to this estimate 391,500. According to the rates of the proposed income tax these persons would pay to the Government $15,489,000. The other $54,636,000 of the estimated $70,125,000 would be contributed by the 33,500 individuals whose income exceeds $25,000 a year. That is to say, a little over 3-100 of 1 per cent. of the people would pay $54,636,000 of the tax, and less than 4-10 of 1 per cent. would pay the remaining $15,489,000. Together, less than one-half of 1 per cent. of the population of the country is to bear the burden of the entire $70,000,000 levied.

Several popular principles of taxation are distinctly violated in this plan for the easy raising of revenue. The principle of "taxing wealth" fails, since less than $55,000,000 will be squeezed out of the rich. Manifestly, the rich are too few to bear the burden of supporting the Government—there are only 33,500 of them reached by this income tax. The 391,500 others with incomes between $4,000 and $25,000 belong to the middle class. But so do men with incomes of $2,000, and so on up to $4,000, belong to this class. The great bulk of all taxes comes from the middle class, yet this income tax is levied only upon a small fraction of that class. As the limit of exemption is lowered the number of the taxable increases rapidly. So would the unpopularity of the tax, and for that reason the Democrats have most unjustly established the exemption limit at $4,000. What the country may expect is plainly pointed out by the Committee's report:

> With other sources of revenue revised to an honest and fixed basis, and the income tax a permanent part of our revenue system, and at all times affording a substantial amount of revenue, Congress could, and if necessary should, annually raise or lower the income tax rates in such a manner as would prevent either a deficit or a surplus in the Treasury.

A more direct invitation to Congressional extravagance and a better arrangement for meeting its demands could not well be devised. Appropriations for pensions, rivers and harbors, public buildings, every method of filling the gigantic "pork barrel" will be resorted to by Congress, eager to establish the popularity of Members in their home districts, and if deficits impend, the income tax will be raised. The one-half of 1 per cent. of the people upon whom this tax falls will be made to give up of their substance to foot the bills of wantonly wasteful legislation. This chosen one-half of 1 per cent. of the people is the rock of credit from which abundant streams of revenue will flow whenever Congress chooses to smite it, and we may be sure that it will be smitten hard and always harder, until the National conscience, if there be such a thing, revolts against the inequality and injustice of such a plan of taxation.

BROOKLYN AND BROADWAY.

Brooklyn has discovered at last that it will not be happy unless it is able to take a dual subway express train to Broadway and Forty-second Street. It would have been better if Brooklyn had awakened to its interest in the matter sooner. It would have been of assistance to those who have been working for Brooklyn's interests while Brooklyn kept silent, as though the placing of the subway stations in Manhattan were a matter for Manhattanites alone. It might be so of other subway stations, but not of the one at Forty-second Street.

Above all others, that station is in connection with the other boroughs, not only on the north and south lines, but on the east and west lines. The Forty-eighth Street station would not connect with anything. Nobody, that is hardly anybody, outside of Manhattan cares anything about the Forty-eighth Street station. It might be there or might not, and few be interested either way. But to take in the course of a year millions of riders to Forty-eighth Street who want to go to Forty-second Street, and to compel them to change cars needlessly, is to insult intelligence. Brooklyn applauds Chairman McCALL's perception of the point, and Brooklyn does well, although a little tardily.

INDUSTRIAL COMPENSATION.

The bills relating to workmen's compensation were taken up yesterday in the State Senate. On the whole we are convinced that the bill favored by the State Insurance Department is the better of the two presented. It is known as the Foley-Walker bill.

This bill provides compensation for injuries to workmen on the scale of one-half their regular pay during whatever time they may be disabled. The other bill, known as the Murtaugh-Jackson bill, provides for payment of 65 per cent. of regular pay. The radical objection to this is that it is 30 per cent. higher than is required in other States adjoining New York. It does not seem good policy to put the employers of our own State at a disadvantage with their nearest rivals. Half pay during disability is the prevailing policy in most of the States where compensation is insured, and also in Europe. It is a reasonable rate. Sixty-five per cent. is not only extraordinary, as measured by general practice, but it is high enough to encourage carelessness on the one hand and what is known as "sojering" on the other. Another feature of the Murtaugh bill is that an appeal to the courts from a decision of the State Board on any disputed claim is allowed to the workman but not to the employer. There can be no reasonable defense for such obvious class favoritism as this. It is admitted that the State Board may err. By what right, then, may the workman get the error corrected and the employer not? On the other hand, the Murtaugh bill provides for compensation in a certain number of specified industries. The Foley bill applies to all industries except agriculture and domestic service, and is obviously the better one for the workingmen generally.

Apparently the chief point of contention between the supporters of the two bills respectively is the regulation of insurance. There are three forms of insurance proposed. One, contained in the Murtaugh bill, is State insurance of a rather ill-digested sort. Money is to be collected by a State Board and paid over to claimants when due. The State credit is not pledged. The amounts collected may be excessive, or they may be insufficient. In the former case the employers may suffer; in the latter case the workmen may. There would be only a few months in which to organize the system; it would be exposed to many errors, to say nothing of political influence. It is an exceedingly crude plan. A second form of insurance proposed is by the stock casualty companies. These are specifically excluded by the Murtaugh bill. They are admitted by the Foley bill, subject to State regulation, and subject also to competition with the third form of insurance, that of mutual companies.

This seems distinctly the wiser plan. Insurance under a law which, though optional at present, must become compulsory before another year, is a very different matter from insurance in the past, when the uncertain common law defenses could be pleaded. Then the obligations of the employer were vague and there was opportunity for unlimited litigation. Under the compensation law, the liabilities of the employers and the rights of the workmen are relatively clearly determined. We can see nothing to be gained by the workmen in giving a monopoly, or nearly a monopoly, of insurance to a State Board, and it seems a plain right of the employer to have a chance to get his insurance on the best terms so long as the State has complete control of the companies he employs.

So far as it is practicable, the system of insurance should be so arranged as to make it to the interest of the employers to prevent accidents. This would be accomplished with more certainty by mutual insurance, we think, than by any other form. The members of a mutual company, all engaged in the same or similar trades, could easily adopt a set of conditions that would guard against the known causes of injury, as is done by some manufacturers' fire insurance mutual companies. We are convinced that there should be open competition among all legitimate State-regulated insurance systems; but it is quite probable that, with such competition, the mutual system would in the long run prevail.

THE TIMES'S INDEX.

The first Quarterly Index of THE NEW YORK TIMES, January to April, 1913, to be published in a few days, will answer a need that is met by no other publication in the United States. To the wonderful mass and variety of information that is printed by the daily press there is no key; as a result, the life of the world recorded in the recent past, the period which is most important to men working in the present, is cut off from reference or ordered survey. The Index of THE TIMES gives an accurate and orderly account of news developments, with page and column numbers referring to each issue of this newspaper, as well as subjects and dates, fully cross-referenced, appearing in this and other important newspapers. The Index is complete and useful in itself as a guide to contemporary events.

The business man should have it on his desk. To professional men, to all public officials, to writers, and to students of public affairs—to all intelligent men and women—the subjects, dates, brief synopses, allusions to persons, and related subjects dealt with in this reference work will be invaluable.

DRAWING THE LINES.

It is proposed in the administration of the anti-trust law to draw a line between labor and capital. Many favor this who do not see that it is impossible to stop there, and that results which they cannot wish will follow unless the line is drawn between good and bad unions as well as between good and bad capitalists' conspiracies.

The anti-trust law as it stands punishes all whose conduct is worthy of punishment, and no others, and asks no questions otherwise. Those who are seeking to exempt organizations not formed for profit, but for uplift, such as unions and cotton planters and tobacco raisers, would either have to exempt them all or to draw lines between them. If all were exempted, then the President would be unable to prosecute the I. W. W., or the nightriders, or those admirable organizations of Southern planters who promote the prosperity of the country by "bulling" cotton above the world's level.

This is the point raised by the National Council for Industrial Defense, an organization of 250 associations of 200,000 firms, which remarks that anarchistic organizations of labor would avail themselves of the license given by freedom from prosecution even sooner than the conservative body represented by Mr. GOMPERS. "No compromise" is the only platform regarding the administration of the law without fear or favor.

THE PASSING OF THE OLD MAID.

It seems that there are no longer "vieilles filles" in France. There are unmarried women in plenty—in too great plenty, indeed, for the peace of mind of the statesmen who are trying to keep the army near the German scale—but unmarried women are no longer "old maids," and no discredit or necessary discomfort, socially or otherwise, attaches to their celibate state. This is the view unqualifiedly set forth by WILLIAM MORTON FULLERTON in the current number of the Century. It is a momentous change. He does not clearly indicate what has caused it, but he has no doubt that it has occurred.

Doubtless much is due to the better schooling which girls have sought and obtained within the past forty years, and still more to the use they have made of their schooling in earning a living. Not only have the means of instruction been greatly extended since the war with Germany, but instruction has largely been taken out of the hands of the Church. The schools have been rigorously laicized. Whatever the good or ill of this process, it has gradually tended to change the ideal of life inculcated in the minds of two generations of girls, and especially to stimulate self-reliance and the independent use of the faculties. Meanwhile the opportunities for earning have greatly increased, and they have been eagerly seized. Mr. FULLERTON points out that since 1866, the eve of the great war, while the number of males employed in agriculture, commerce, industry, and the professions has increased but by 24 per cent., the number of women has increased by 65 per cent. In agriculture and fisheries the women have increased 77 per cent.; the men only 3 per cent. In industry the rates are 56 per cent. and 100 per cent.

It does not appear from Mr. FULLERTON's figures that the proportion of unmarried women has notably increased. The point he brings out very clearly is that the social position of the unmarried woman, with the attitude of general opinion toward her, has very markedly changed. It is not surprising. The French have a habitual respect for financial independence, however modest. Mr. FULLERTON cites the difinition of an old maid as "one without a dowry," and the absence of a dowry was a source of the amiable, but distinct, disrespect felt toward the unmarried. Under the new order there is rarely such lack. Capacity to earn a living is in effect the equivalent of a dowry, and the woman who has it can face with equanimity the judgment of her social circle. The change is fraught with many possibilities which some economists regard with apprehension. But in a general way, since it increases the industrial energy of the nation, it would seem to be likely, in the long run, to be advantageous.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Their Plea Should Be Granted.

Representatives of the more important charitable and philanthropic organizations of this city are to call upon Gov. SULZER to-day and present to him as earnestly as they can—which will be no more earnestly than the facts justify—the injury to public interests that will result if the appropriations asked for by the Superintendent and managers of the Bedford Reformatory should be cut down as his Economy Commission advised.

The efficiency of that admirable institution is already endangered by overcrowding, and unless its facilities and accommodations are enlarged the City Magistrates will be obliged to commit to the Workhouse many unfortunate girls in desperate need of the influences to which they would be subjected at Bedford. A Workhouse sentence, with the resulting association with older and hopelessly depraved women, in effect deprives the "first offender" of her one chance to escape from the path upon which she has entered. This the Magistrates thoroughly realize, and only the fact that there are now too many inmates of Bedford, and more simply cannot be taken in, leads them most reluctantly to take action the effects of which, they know, cannot be anything else than deplorable and worse than useless.

In a recent letter to the President of the Reformatory, Chief Magistrate McADOO described as "grave" the existing situation, and expressed the keen regret of himself and his colleagues at the necessity under which they are placed by Bedford's crowded condition of dealing with the girls brought before them from the streets in a way which, as he said, does not act as a deterrent, affords no means of reformation, and aggravates the evil. To fine these women only forces them to work the harder at their deplorable calling to secure the funds with which to escape imprisonment.

No more money has been asked for Bedford than can be utilized there to high advantage, and the full amount should be given, if for no other and better reason than because to cut it down will compel much larger expenditures for the maintenance and control of habitual criminals whom this "economy" will create. Bedford cannot give normality and strength to minds congenitally lacking in both, but it can and does put their possessors in a better environment and develops whatever capacities for good may be in them.

An Escape from Loss of Revenue.

One of the arguments made against the exclusion from the American market of the wild bird feathers used by milliners is that to do it would mean a considerable loss of revenue to the Government. This argument is neatly met in a circular just issued by the National Association of Audubon Societies.

What the loss would be, it says, cannot be accurately computed because the customs records do not discriminate between feathers imported for decorative uses and those consumed in the manufacture of pillows and quilts. Of the aigrettes, by far the most valuable of all feathers, 90 per cent. arrive in the crude state and pay duty on the low foreign valuation of from $15 to $20 an ounce. If the total annual importation amounts to half a ton, the revenue receipts at $3 an ounce would be $48,000, and at $4 they would be $64,000. Neither sum is so large as to warrant the continuance of a traffic at once barbarous, useless, and harmful to agricultural interests, as well as fatal to the birds. If the lawmakers, however, cannot bear to lose even this, the Audubon people suggest that the duty of 5 cents per pound now imposed upon poultry from abroad be extended to cover the game birds which now come in free and in large quantities.

Why this discrimination exists it would be hard to explain, and harder to defend, since poultry, if not exactly a food of the poor, is of wide consumption, while game birds are rarely eaten except by the patrons of expensive hotels and restaurants, and they certainly are not numbered among anybody's necessities. Yet under the present tariff exemption the importation of game birds from Europe has enormously increased, as many as 25,000 of them having been brought into New York on a single vessel. A tax on game birds would not be prohibitory, and if it were multiplied several times for the consumer, as probably would be the case, his lot would still fail to be deeply pathetic.

Feminine Habits Changing.

In other days it seems to have been rather common for boys of spirit to weary of home restrictions and to depart between two days in search of fortune and adventure—especially adventure. They all found the one, and not a few the other, as the biography of many an eminent person proves, and it is not recorded that any of them suffered keenly from compunctious pangs because of these evasions.

Those were sterner times, however, and times when the sea allured and did not leave entirely unrewarded the ambitious and romantic. If any boys run away nowadays it is not to sea, or, if a few do, their fireroom experiences do not lead to fame or wealth. But several recent episodes hint that there is a "new girl," as well as a "new woman," and that she is inclined to give a belated imitation of the "old boy," now vanished or vanishing.

This product of the age manifests the restlessness once monopolized by boys—she wants to be independent and self-supporting—she is tired of protection and advice. So she runs away.

As yet, apparently, she does not often run far or stay long. In her case parents do not utter a philosophical, "Oh, "well, she'll get along somehow and "may learn wisdom from hardship!" They know her dangers, they get excited, and they rush to the police for help. Then comes what must be painful notoriety to the runaway, but better that than a near worse, and the fear of it must have a wholesomely deterrent effect.

Come to think of it, the "old girl" did sometimes run away, but it was always to escape compulsion into a distasteful marriage, not to seek fame or fortune. At present, to force a girl to wed against her will has become almost as nearly impossible as to stop her from following her own inclinations—which was never easy—and the orthodox excuse is lacking. Whether or not those replacing it are better time will doubtless tell, but only constitutional pessimists will consult their arterio-sclerosis for an answer to that question.

"WORRY" AGENTS.

Methods of Private Detectives Who Swindle and Annoy Described.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The time has arrived when, in the interest of the public, some restrictions should be placed upon the business of private detective agents. Their books should be open to the inspection of a constituted authority. Some of these so-called agencies will take on any kind of business for cash down, some of them are not really agents, but impudent swindlers. They advertise that they have agents in "all centres of population in the world," and the only agent in many cases is the enterprising crook that runs the show. He may, in some cases, hire two or three agents by the day, picked up on the pavement, and may do a little running about himself, and receive fees from both sides. But in most cases he simply "tells the tale" to the victim and does nothing. The "worry agent" is in a special line of business and has to show some results, as the hirer is often watching the operation at a distance.

A young woman complained to me that she was greatly worried by a man running past her every time she left or entered her home, looking impudently into her face. The same, or another man, would be sitting beside her in a park, or gardens, when no one else was on the seat; this trick would be performed with considerable address. I watched the running "worry" at her home, a little distance from the door, and the instant the "agent" ran past me his left foot went behind his right one, and he went sprawling.

But the master trick of the business is to keep on following the victim when she is shopping, and such is the smartness of some of these young fellows—they are all young men—that they will enter a store, whisper a few words to the attendant behind the counter—a young girl, preferably—and the trick is done. Just what they say, posturing and smiling, I do not know, but it is wonderfully effective. The customer leaves the shop with a sense of vexation. The manner and methods of serving were irritating. There was no rudeness; over-politeness, rather, something unnecessary—worrying reduced to a fine art.

$105,000 TO HOSPITALS.

Secretary Greene Tells How Association Distributed It.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The sum of $105,000, the largest amount by $10,000 in the thirty-four years' history of the Hospital Saturday and Sunday Association, was apportioned to-day among forty-six non-municipal hospitals. The Distributing Committee, which consists of Otto T. Bannard, John Claflin, James C. Fargo, James Speyer, and, ex officio, the Mayor, the Postmaster of New York, the President of the Chamber of Commerce, and Robert Olyphant, President of the association, met at City Hall.

The distribution, according to the rules of the association, was based on the number of days of free treatment given to the poor, regardless of race or creed, for which each hospital had received no payment either from the patient or from the city. The number of these free days was ascertained from detailed reports made by the hospitals directly to the association, and previously audited by Julius A. Stursberg and Albert H. Wiggin.

"THE FOOL WITH THE CANE"

Declared a Dangerous Nuisance in Crowded Streets.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Permit me to voice a protest against the "walking-stick nuisance." It is a recent European importation, and here in New York it is indulged in by the callow youth of 19, as well as the more mature. We find business men, who are usually credited with a certain amount of common sense, carrying the cane when going to and from business; endangering the lives of passers-by in the crowded streets and public conveyances.

One favorite way of holding the cane is under the arm or swinging it with a haughty air, with the lower end of the cane pointing up so that people walking behind the "fool with the cane" have an excellent chance of having their eyes gouged out or their clothes smeared with dirt.

The poorer class of people have not yet copied the walking-stick habit; the so-called better element is the chief offender. W. S.

"WHAT BROADWAY WANTS."

"Worth While Plays" Well Patronized, Says William Faversham.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

An interview with Lewis Waller, on his departure from New York for England, appears in THE NEW YORK TIMES of April 18, in which he expresses his opinion of the New York theatregoing public, as to what they want, and what they should want. Had he not mentioned my name I would not write you this letter. But it seems to me that Mr. Waller's opinion as to what the New York theatre-going public wants is as uninformed on his departure as it was on his arrival.

He states that people left our performance of "Julius Caesar" during the acts. This may be so, as the play ran very late, and when it got to be twenty minutes past eleven people often left the theatre to catch their cars. But if he can find any other "Broadway" that will pay over fifty thousand dollars in four weeks to see "Julius Caesar," I think that we will proclaim him quite a discoverer. And as to Broadway not supporting what he terms "heavy plays—plays worth while," surely it did very well by "The World and His Wife" for four months. It was one of the biggest successes, financially and artistically, that I ever played in on Broadway. And as I had a business interest in it in London, I feel quite safe in saying that it had about six or eight performances there.

Perhaps after Mr. Waller has completed his tour of the world he will change his opinion as to what "Broadway wants," and try again with greatest success. Indeed, we hope so.

WILLIAM FAVERSHAM.

RIGHT OF INHERITANCE

Affirmed to Rest on Higher Sanction Than Statute Law.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The great Dr. Johnson in one of his most dogmatic moods declared that a certain opinion was right, and that he despised any person who presumed to hold the contrary. Many persons seem to be quite as "sot in their ways" as the doctor, and none more so than a modern school of thinkers who pretend to find in the sanction of the State, express or implied, our warrant for doing about everything in our daily life. The statement now freely made by many that the right to inherit is a mere statutory right is an instance in point. It is hard to be conspicuous for folly where so many fool theories are in sight to choose from, but surely any statesman's laurels will turn to willows who tries to maintain against reason, history, and common sense that until a statute is enacted giving a man the right to devise his property to whom he will, and unless such a statute is so enacted that the right to do so does not exist. The question does not admit of discussion.

All that any statute could ever do or assume to do is to regulate the method of distribution; it may be necessary to declare by law that all children, or, in lieu of children, all relatives of a certain degree, shall inherit equally, and that testators in making wills must abide by this provision. But to maintain that the right of inheritance, which antedated all written law, depends on written law for anything more than a method of application is to revert to a state lower than savagery—for the savage inherits his father's war club or tomahawk. Like Dr. Johnson, I depise any one whose opinion on the matter differs from mine, even if he be a Vice President

ARSON IN OLDEN DAYS.

A Prevalent Crime That Was Punished Severely.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In view of the prevalence of arson and blackmail at the present day, it may be of interest to note that in the reign of King Edward I., (1285,) an act was passed against incendiaries, and night watchmen were ordered to be appointed in every town and city. Later, in 1429, another act was passed which declared: "If any threaten by casting bills to burn a house, if money be not laid in a certain place, and after do burn the house, such burning shall be adjudged high treason." The following preamble to an act passed in the reign of King Henry VIII., by which those found guilty of the crimes enumerated were to suffer "the pains of death," is interesting:

> Where divers and sundry malicious and envious persons, being men of evil perverse dispositions, and seduced by the instigation of the devil * * * have of late invented and practiced a new damnable kind of vice * * * as in secret burning of frames of timber prepared and made by the owners thereof ready to be set up and edified for houses * * *.

The crime of arson was rife in ancient Rome, and incendiaries were clothed in the tunica molesta, a garment made of paper, flax or tow, smeared with pitch, bitumen or wax, and then burned to death. A letter of Pliny the Younger to Trajan, and the latter's reply thereto, cast an interesting side light on the Roman firemen (matricularii) and of the disturbances of the peace with which they were credited.

EFFECT OF COFFEE.

Some Have Used It Without Harmful Results.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The contribution from "Anti-Coffee" on the question, "Tea and Coffee Harmful?" is interesting, but chiefly so because of the distinctly human mental attribute it presents and emphasizes—that failing, as we may call it, where, on a question possessing two distinct sides, the mind in its reasoning processes surrenders judicialness to prejudicialness.

Any of us calmly stopping to think must perforce admit that coffee imbibed in excessive quantity is harmful. But my dear old mother passed away in her eightieth year, of what we now know as arterial sclerosis, after a life-long addiction to coffee. Her time had come in the natural course, and she succumbed to the failings of age, just as other members of her family are known to have done in the same due course, from the same cause, without such addiction to coffee.

Let us view this question temperately, and so form judgment with respect to the conditions that are inseparable from it—the conditions that prove the correctness of the adage, "What is one man's meat is another man's poison."

One part of "Anti-Coffee's" letter peculiarly interesting to me is the citing of a Battle Creek authority on the harmfulness of coffee. Has not Battle Creek a familiar aspect in that connection? J. W. E.

An Example of Civic Activity.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

THE TIMES's recent editorial article headed "Economy Threatens the Woods" gave a very clear exposition of the intention of the Legislature so to reduce the appropriation asked for by the Conservation Commission as to prevent the continuance of the State nursery and reforesting work.

One of the State Foresters recently gave an illustrated lecture in New Rochelle to the Junior Civics Club, formed in one of the public schools. The hundred children who heard him were so impressed with the facts that, of their own accord, they drew up a petition which they sent to Gov. Sulzer. In it the club begged the Governor to reduction of the asked-for moneys, and the consequent discontinuance of needed work.

Will not other organizations and private individuals look into this question, which is an all-important one to New York State, and, if they care to protest, do it before it is too late?

ON MILITANT WOMEN

Treasurer of National Suffrage Body Says It Is Dumb.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The letter to THE TIMES from Helen Magill White, addressed also to the National American Woman Suffrage Association, has just been brought to my attention. There are several matters of feminist interest in Mrs. White's letter, but it is to the remarks apparently directed at the National American Woman Suffrage Association as a body, concerning its attitude toward militancy in England, that I, as the present Treasurer of the Association, should like to refer.

It should be remembered that our National association consists of 1,000 branch associations in thirty-eight States and the District of Columbia, and meets but once a year at an annual convention. As the question of militancy in England has never been discussed at such a convention, and as it is a question on which there is a variety of opinion, it would not be possible to-day for the National association to voice the opinion of all its members. Some of our members approve the course pursued by the Women's Social and Political Union. Many are as opposed to it as is Mrs. White. Under these circumstances the National association can speak neither for nor against militancy in England.

The only action the association has taken recently in regard to this question has been a cable to Mr. Asquith urging that the British Government acknowledge its responsibility for the present intolerable situation—intolerable alike to the militants and the anti-militants, the British Government and the public at large—and take the necessary steps, such as an emergency franchise measure, (steps which no suffragist could wish left untaken) to end the present condition of affairs.

In regard to our recent appeal for contributions to the funds of the National association, of which Mrs. White speaks, I would say that this appeal is not for the support of opinions either for or against militancy in England, but solely for the educational and legislative work of our association.

Whatever may be the opinions held by our members, the fact remains that the National association is not a militant suffrage association, that there is no militant suffrage association among our many branches. Moreover, the work we are doing will bear any scrutiny which may be directed upon it from those holding Mrs. White's point of view.

KATHERINE DEXTER McCORMICK,
Treasurer National American Woman Suffrage Association.

"CLEAN-UP" AT NEW ROCHELLE

Women's Work No Reflection on Local Health Board.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

A recent editorial article in THE TIMES praising the "cleaning up" done by the women of New Rochelle reflects caustically and unfairly upon the local health board. As a matter of fact our board appreciates the good work done by the women and has desired to cooperate in every legitimate way.

You lose sight of the fact that the work of a health board is strictly limited to nuisances that may concern the public health, and beyond that we cannot go. An owner may fill his lot with ashes, rubbish, old furniture and the many kinds of refuse that make a lot unsightly, but so long as he refrains from throwing in garbage or other material likely to cause disease we are powerless to act.

Unfortunately we have many property owners who are willing to have their lots cleaned up if it can be done without trouble or expense. It is quite another matter to compel them to do it at their own expense, especially if the compelling agent is without legal authority.

Upton Sinclair.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The news reports to-day give Upton Sinclair as an author and the founder of Helicon Hall and "the single tax colony at Arden, Del." This is a double-barrelled error. Arden was founded by Frank Stephens before Mr. Sinclair achieved notoriety, and Mr. Sinclair is not a single-taxer, but a Socialist. He lived at Arden, as any one may, but has left the settlement.

BOLTON HALL.

New York, April 22, 1913.

A Forty-Second St. Express Stop.

From The Brooklyn Eagle.

The only serious inconvenience about the present Subway for Brooklyn people is that the station at Times Square is a local and not an express station. The very large Brooklyn public which goes to theatres in the evening in Manhattan is compelled to leave the Brooklyn express trains at the Grand Central Station and change to locals for the short ride under Forty-second Street.

This arrangement is made necessary to avoid having two express stations within half a mile of each other. There must be an express station at the Grand Central, so the station at Times Square is a local. But there is no reason to repeat the inconvenience in laying out the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Subway under Broadway. The plans provide for an express station at Thirty-fourth Street for the Pennsylvania Railroad Station, for a local at Forty-second Street, and another express station at Forty-eighth. There is no call for an express station at Forty-eighth. It does not connect with anything, but serves part of the uptown theatre district. That district would be better served by putting the express station at Forty-second and the local at Forty-eighth. With the present arrangement most of the Brooklyn night crowd would either walk back to or below Forty-second Street, or they would cross over and take a local back one station.

Chairman McCall of the Public Service Commission favors the change, so there can be no engineering obstacles to putting the express station at Forty-second Street. If that is the fact, then the change in the plan should be made at once, before the construction begins. This is a Brooklyn subway, and the stations should be placed to accommodate the people of Brooklyn. They are interested in Forty-second Street, Fortieth Street, and Forty-third Street. Swarms of them go to the Metropolitan Opera House, and still larger swarms to the Hippodrome, to say nothing of the theatres in Forty-second Street.

PREVAILING DISEASES.

Ma's health is in an awful way,
We none of us dare leave her;
The doctor told us yesterday
That she had Suffrage Fever.

Pa's eyes are just no good at all,
He has conjunctivitis;
He's read and read since early Fall
About this Suffragitis.

Tom's chucked his job for fair, I think;
He's worryin' us, confound him!
Doc says his wits are on the blink—
With Suffrage girls all 'round him.

But sister's in the worstest way,
Her brains are just afloatin';
She's on the rampage every day
For some place to do votin'!

ASSOCIATED PRESS IN ANNUAL MEETING

Retiring Directors Re-elected and Samuel Bowles Succeeds Frederick Roy Martin.

PUBLISHERS MEET TO-DAY

Daily Newspaper Association to Merge with the National Dailies and the United Newspapers.

The fourteenth annual convention of The Associated Press opened yesterday morning with a general meeting in the Astor Gallery of the Waldorf. President Frank B. Noyes of The Washington Star was in the chair, flanked by General Manager Melville E. Stone. Purely routine business was transacted.

At an afternoon session lasting less than half an hour the result of the balloting for five Directors for the full term and one Director for two years, to fill the vacancy caused by he retirement of Frederick Roy Martin on becoming Assistant General Manager of The Associated Press, was made known. The retiring Directors were Charles Hopkins Clark, Hartford Courant; Charles A. Rook, Pittsburgh Despatch; Clark Howell, Atlanta Constitution; Charles W. Knapp, St. Louis Republic; and V. S. McClatchy, Sacramento Bee.

The Nominating Committee, which met in Washington last January, had renominated all of the retiring Directors, together with these opposition candidates: Rosecrans Pillsbury, Manchester (N. H.) Union; Bruce Haldeman, Louisville Courier-Journal; W. Y. Morgan, Hutchinson (Kan.) News; Josephus Daniels, Raleigh (N. C.) News and Observer, and Isaac N. Stevens, Pueblo (Col.) Chieftain. Mr. Daniels, however, was not a candidate, owing to his appointment as Secretary of the Navy since his nomination for Director.

The result of the vote for Directors was that all of the five retiring Directors who had been renominated were re-elected, while Samuel Bowles, Springfield (Mass.) Republican, was elected to fill Mr. Martin's unexpired term.

The following Advisory Boards also were elected:

EASTERN DIVISION—E. H. Butler, Buffalo News; John R. Rathom, Providence Journal; Ogden Mills Reid, New York Tribune; George S. Oliver, Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph, and V. C. McCormick, Harrisburg Patriot. NOMINATING COMMITTEE—A. R. Kimball, Waterbury (Conn.) American, and W. E. Gardner, Syracuse Post-Standard. AUDITING COMMITTEE—W. H. Dow, Portland (Me.) Express.

CENTRAL DIVISION—Arthur Capper, Topeka (Kan.) Capital; H. M. Pindell, Peoria (Ill.) Journal; Enrest Bross, Terre Haute Star; Gardner Cowles, Des Moines Register and Leader, and R. F. Wolfe, Columbus (Ohio) State Journal. NOMINATING COMMITTEE—Thomas Rees, Springfield (Ill.) State Register, and P. E. Burton, Joplin (Mo.) News-Herald. AUDITING COMMITTEE—Lewis H. Miner, Springfield (Ill.) State Journal.

SOUTHERN DIVISION—James R. Gray, Atlanta Journal; Frank Glass, Montgomery Advertiser; Bruce Haldeman, Louisville Courier-Journal; Robert Ewing, New Orleans States, and H. C. Adler, Chattanooga Times. NOMINATING COMMITTEE—W. J. Crawford, Memphis Commercial Appeal, and R. M. Jonhston, Houston Post. AUDITING COMMITTEE—James M. Thomson, New Orleans Item.

WESTERN DIVISION—A. J. Blethen, Seattle Times; C. A. Morden, Portland (Ore.) Telegram; A. N. McKay, Salt Lake Tribune; I. N. Stevens, Pueblo Chieftain, and S. F. Hogue, San Francisco Post. NOMINATING COMMITTEE—W. A. Bower, Anaconda Standard, and J. F. Conners, Oakland Tribune. AUDITING COMMITTEE—E. H. Callister, Salt Lake Herald-Republican.

Daily Newspaper Association.

The Daily Newspaper Association, an organization whose purpose is to educate the business world in the value of newspaper advertising, also opened its convention at the Waldorf yesterday. The topic of chief importance discussed was the proposed merger with the United Newspapers and the National Dailies, two organizations having a similar purpose. At the afternoon session a special committee of the Daily Newspaper Association was appointed to confer with similar committees of the other two organizations. It will report to-day. The association elected these officers:

OFFICERS—Louis Wiley, President, New York Times; Edward Flicker, Vice President, Cincinnati Enquirer; Leland M. Burr, Treasurer, New York Evening Post; J. W. Adams, Secretary.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE—G. J. Auer, Albany Knickerbocker Press; H. F. Gunnison, Brooklyn Daily Eagle; W. P. Goodspeed, Buffalo Evening News; W. J. Pattison, New York Evening Post; Don C. Seitz, New York World; D. B. Plum, Troy Record, and J. B. Woodward, special representative.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS—Charles D. Atkinson, Atlanta Journal; Edward Flicker, Cincinnati Enquirer; A. G. Carter, Fort Worth Star-Telegram; F. P. Glass, Montgomery Advertiser; E. V. Alley, New Bedford Standard and Mercury; C. C. Rosewater, Omaha Bee; Milton B. Ochs, Philadelphia Public Ledger; W. H. Cowles, Spokane Spokesman-Review, and C. M. Palmer, St. Joseph News-Press.

The annaul meeting of the Daily Newspaper Association will close to-night with a dinner at the Waldorf at which Mayor Gaynor will be a guest. Other speakers and the subjects are: Inez Milholland, "The Psychology of Advertising;" Prof. Paul T. Cherington, of the Graduate School of Business Administration of Harvard University, "National Advertising from the Consumer's Standpoint;" O. H. Blackman, President of the Blackman-Ross Company, "The Conservation of the National Advertiser;" James Schermerhorn, Publisher of the Detroit Times, "Testing the Beatitudes—A Twentieth Century Newspaper Experiment" and Charles W. Dietrich, Secretary of the Central Branch Y. M. C. A., of Brooklyn, "The Ethical side of Advertising."

The opening session of the convention of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association at the Waldorf will be held this morning. To-morrow evening the joint dinner of the Associated Press and the American Newspaper Publishers' Association will be held. Those who will speak at this dinner are: Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels, Raleigh (N. C.) News and Observer; Norris C. Osborn, New Haven Journal-Courier; Charles H. Grasty, Baltimore Sun; Herman Ridder, New York Staats Zeitung and Congressman Frank L. Green, St. Albans (Vt.) Messenger.

PRINTING SHOW FEATURES.

Magazine Press at Hoe Stand and a Model Electric Plant.

An example of the progress made in perfecting the magazine presses now under installment by newspapers for the Sunday supplements is shown at the National Printing Trades Exposition at the New Grand Central Palace by the working plans at the Hoe stand. It is adjacent to the $8,000 model of a miniature sextuple fast press for intaglio print in art tone and color work.

An addition to the special features is a working model of an electrical concern's maintenance and repair shop. Within a space of three feet by eighteen inches there are two drill lathes, a planing table, and an emery wheel worked by overhead shafting and belting by a tiny electric generator. Near by is an armature and an anvil, with five jean-clad workmen of marionette size to run things.

The New York Electrotypers Board of Trade will give a dinner to out-of-town electrotypers to-night in the restaurant of the New Grand Central Palace. On Friday afternoon the National Printers' League of America meets in annual session and to elect officers in the New Grand Central Palace convention hall. That night there is to be a "Get Together" dinner for printers at the Hotel Savoy under the auspices of the Order of Pica and the New York Printers' Supply Salesmen's Guild. The Order of Pica is a social branch of the National Supply Men's Association.

MISS HERBERT WEDS E. DELANEY DUNN

Ceremony Performed in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine.

MAIDS WEAR GAY COLORS

Gowns with Pink, Blue, Mauve, and White in Their Make-up—Full Choral Service.

The Cathedral of St. John the Divine on Morningside Heights was filled yesterday with guests for the wedding of Miss Gertrude A. Herbert, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Warne Herbert, and Edward Delaney Dunn of Newark. The ceremony took place at 4 o'clock, the Cathedral having tall clusters of cherry blossoms and Annunciation lilies on every third pew of the nave and vases on the altar and the standards on each side of the chancel were filled with lilies. There was a full choral service, with processional and recessional singing. Following the choir as it moved up the nave to the altar was the verger of the church, Mr. Barnard, carrying the insignia of his office, who precedes all clergy at any Cathedral service, followed by the Rev. Dr. Nathan Seagle of St. Stephen's Church, wearing his Doctor of Divinity gown, with red-lined hood, and walking by his side was his assistant at St. Stephen's. Dr. Seagle performed the ceremony.

The bride, who walked with her father, wore a lace and satin gown with a court train. The gown had a petticoat of lace and over this the satin gown opened like a coat, and was heavily embroidered at the opening edges in silk. The bodice was nearly all point lace, as were the sleeves. The court train of white satin fell from the shoulders, and was embroidered around the neck and had a border to match of embroidery in silk and crystal. The long tulle veil was held over her dark coiffure with a crescent-shaped, shirred piece of the tulle, the crescent's curve fitting the head. She wore a string of pearls and a diamond brooch, and carried a huge bouquet of white orchids and lilies of the valley.

Miss May Armour of Kansas City was the maid of honor. She was in an Empire robe of peach pink taffeta bordered with a narrow box-plaited, pinked-edged ruch of the silk, which also extended from the hem to the high waist line in the front. The coat had a high girdle of turquois blue moiré, with two straight ends. Her mushroom hat of natural yellow straw was trimmed with ribbon to match the sash, with ends, and pink roses and forget-me-nots. She carried a white leghorn hat basket filled with purple pansies.

The bridesmaids were the Misses Anna Carson and Ellen P. Pomeroy of Philadelphia, Prudence Durant, and Aileen Devereaux of Cleveland, Helen Ryan of Detroit, Caroline Krenson of Savannah, and Mary Plum and Dorothy Kane of New York. Their gowns carried out a combination of many colors. They were of pale, silvery pink changeable taffeta with very short plain skirts showing the pink satin slippers, and had tunics of white shadow lace, over which in turn came short, much puffed pannier coats of blue taffeta with mauve shadows, figured in small clusters of roses in dull pinks and purplish reds. The coats were cut round at the neck in the back, and in low Vs in the front, with elbow sleeves, finished with deep frills of the shadow lace. The coats had fichus of shadow lace finished at the V-shaped opening with narrow plaited, upstanding frills of lace. The ends of the fichus were knotted in the front, and tucked in at the left side of each fichu was a tiny cluster of roses. Folded girdles of mauve silk finished the coats. At the back a flat band six inches wide of the figured silk hung straight down to the bottom of each coat.

The hats of natural yellow Milan straw were turned straight up at the back and rolled half as much at the front. Folds of turquoise blue silk ribbon were wound around the hats and carried up in tall loops at the back. At the left front were clusters of shaded pink roses. Narrow folds of pink satin extended around the hat crowns and were carried out at the sides, in over the ears, and then under the chin, being fastened in a tiny flat cravat bow. Each attendant carried a white leghorn hat suspended by pink ribbons from her left arm and filled with marguerites.

John W. Herbert, Jr., and James Helme, in Eton suits, were the pages.

James C. Dunn was his brother's best man, and the ushers were John H. Dunn, Jr., and C Carroll Dunn, Huger McAdoo, Harrison Hathaway, Richard T. Dyer, C. Blackburn Miller, Kenneth P. Barnaby, Lenox Strakey, Albert B. Smith, and Richard and Kenneth Patterson.

The wedding reception was held at the Herbert residence, 835 Fifth Avenue, which was decorated with white hydrangeas and snapdragons arranged in large vases. The bride's table was placed in the breakfast room, where the decorations were all of pink roses.

In about a week Mr. and Mrs. Dunn will sail for Europe. On their return they will occupy an apartment they have taken on Park Avenue.

⁂

ACKERMAN—WHITE.

The wedding took place last night at Passaic, N. J., of Miss Edith White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Corson White of 122 Gregory Avenue, Passaic, and Russel Stewart Ackerman of 230 Van Houten Avenue, Assistant Treasurer of the Hobart Trust Company, at the First Baptist Church. The Rev. Dr. Robert E. Farrier, pastor of the church, officiated. The bride was given away in marriage by her father.

Her dress was of white satin meteor with pearl trimmings and duchess lace. She wore a diamond and pearl pin, the gift of the bridegroom. Her bouquet was of lilies of the valley, orchids, and sweet peas.

Miss Bessie Anderson was maid of honor. Miss Edna Garretson and Miss Madeline Embler were bridesmaids. The matrons were Mrs. Arthur White, sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Everett Ackerman, sister-in-law of the bridegroom. Leroy White of Paterson was best man. The ushers were Eric Church, Arthur White, brother of the bride; Everett Ackerman, brother of the bridegroom, and Harry Hellegers.

The wedding march was played by Dr. J. Christopher Marks of the Church of the Heavenly Rest of New York City, the bride's vocal teacher. A reception to many guests followed at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Ackerman left for the South. They will live at 224 Van Houten Avenue.

STEWART—ROCKWELL.

Miss Lucilla D. Rockwell, daugter of Mrs. William Rockwell of East Front Street, and Irving Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Stewart and brother of Mayor W. Percy Stewart of Plainfield, were married last night at the home of the bride's mother in Plainfield. The Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie officiated. Miss Nora L. Rockwell, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Miss Ida Stewart, sister of the bridegroom, was the bridesmaid. Mayor Percy Stewart was the best man, and the ushers were Bertram Stanley Rockwell and Sidney Jerome Rockwell, brothers of the bride.

SCHUERMAN—LEMON.

Miss Pearl Hurd Lemon, daughter of Mrs. Thomas Lemon of 199 Van Houten Avenue, Passaic, and Hugo Ernest Schuerman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Schuerman of 29 Palisade Avenue, Garfield, were married last night at the First Presbyterian Church of Garfield by the Rev. James Scott Young, pastor of the church. Mr. Schuerman is connected with the National Park Bank of New York City.

Miss Helen Daglish of Garfield, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were miss Maud Lemon, sister of the bride, of Middletown, N. Y., Miss Elizabeth Baim, of this city, and Miss Isabel Sheedy and Miss Alice Lorenz of Garfield. Eugene Kahle of Garfield was best man. The ushers were Robert Martin of New York City, Dr. Charles Bleasby and Thornton Butts of Garfield, and August Schuerman, brother of the bridegroom, of Passaic.

The bride was given away in marriage by her brother, Dr. Burton Judson Lemon, Professor of Chemistry at Cornell University. Following the ceremony, a big reception was held at the home of the bride's mother. Mr. and Mrs. Schuerman will leave this morning for Bermuda. They will live at 199 Van Houten Avenue, Passaic.

⁂

LOWRY—CRITTENDEN.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, April 22.—John B. Lowry was married here to-day to Miss Constance MacDonnell Crittenden, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Crittenden, at the first Unitarian Church, Twenty-second and Chestnut Streets, by the Rev. Carl Grammer.

Miss Crittenden was given in marriage by her father, and attended by Miss Emily Hopkinson as maid of honor, while the following acted as bridesmaids: Miss Hope Conyngham Peters, Miss Susanne T. Smith, Miss Doris Waterall, Miss Mildred Vollrath, Miss Katherine Barker, and Miss Eleanor Barker. The flower girls were Miss Rosalie Vollrath and Miss Martha Lowry. The best man was Herbert Lowry, and the ushers were Austin Boyd, William C. Lowry, Jr., Louis Haupt, Newell Bannard, Harold Vollrath, and Walter Wright. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Roosevelt.

WHITE—McAUSLAND.

Sanford B. White, a Princeton graduate, who played on the 'Varsity football team, and who won games from Yale and Harvard by phenomenal runs in 1911, and Miss Jeanette McAusland, daughter of Mrs. John McAusland of Jersey City, were married at Summit, N. J., yesterday afternoon. The ceremony was performed by President Hibben of Princeton University. The best man was Addison H. Bissell, who was roommate of the bridegroom at Princeton. Only relatives and a few friends were present. The bridegroom is connected with the International Harvester Company of Chicago. He met the bride while a student at Princeton.

⁂

WHITNEY—SCHUYLER.

Miss Marguerite Randolph Schuyler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Schuyler, was married yesterday afternoon to William Earl Whitney of Troy, N. Y. The Rev. Arthur B. Churchman officiated. Miss Gertrude Schuyler was maid of honor for her sister, and Parker Whitney was best man.

⁂

MORGENTHAU—DOUGLASS.

Mr. and Mrs. Silas J. Douglass announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Jessie Godwin Douglass, to William Whitall Morgenthau, which took place on Saturday, April 19, at Colorado Springs, Colo. Mr. Morgenthau, who formerly lived in New York, is the son of Maximilian Morgenthau, President of the Woodmere Realty Company.

Marie Rappold to Return.

Marie Rappold of the Metropolitan Opera Company is expected to arrive in New York to-day on the Kaiser Wilhelm II. The singer has been appearing in European opera houses, and returns for engagements in concerts and Spring music festivals. She opens at the Spartansburg Festival on April 30, when she will sing with Pasquale Amato, and her tour will take in Houston, Texas; Ann Arbor, Mich.; Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and the German Music Festival at Syracuse on June 16. She will have made sixty-three appearances at the close of her season.

Tettrazini in "Lucia" on May 3.

Mr. Andreas Dippel, General Manager of the Philadelphia-Chicago Grand Opera Company, announces that arrangements have been completed for a single performance of "Lucia di Lammermoor," with Mme. Luisa Tetrazzini in the title rôle, at the Metropolitan Opera House on Saturday evening, May 3. The occasion will serve to introduce the lyric tenor Aristodemo Giorgini to the New York public, he having sung Edgardo to Mme. Tetrazzini's Lucia throughout the entire transcontinental tour of the company, which has just rounded out 10,000 miles.

Mrs. Kunz-Baker's Reading.

Mrs. Bertha Kunz-Baker will give a reading of Percy MacKaye's "To-morrow" on Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the Berkeley Theatre. The theme of the play suggests the constructive and beautiful side of eugenics. Among those interested in the presentation of the play by Mrs. Kunz-Baker are Dr. and Mrs. Felix Adler, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Balliet, Rev. John Haynes Holmes, Dr. and Mrs. F. C. Howe, Mrs. Charles H. Israels, Rev. William N. Guthrie, Mr. and Mrs. James Lee Laidlaw, Dr. Anna Shaw, and Dr. Ira S. Wile.

'WILD WEST' PLAYS TO CROWDED GARDEN

"Buffalo Bill" Drives Around the Arena, but Minus Trappings of the Frontier.

"FAR EAST" IS THERE, TOO

Together They Supply Thrills Liberally—Small Boy Not the Least Interested Spectator.

Father Knickerbocker welcomed the "Wild West" and "Far East" show last night at Madison Square Garden, which was crowded to capacity. It was the familiar Wild West spectacle—Indians, cowboys, rough riders, bucking bronchos, stage coach and lumbering prairie schooners complete. But somehow, to the old-timers there seemed to be something lacking, and it was not until it was noticed that Col. William F. Cody, "Buffalo Bill" himself, was missing from the saddle in the arena that the feeling was explained.

The old scout made his appearance before the audience driving a pair of spirited roan horses in an open barouche. Instead of the familiar buckskin trousers, beaded leggings, and leather jacket, he wore a conventional frock suit with pearl-colored sombrero, which he raised in response to the applause. It was the first time in "Buffalo Bill's" thirty years experience as a showman that the veteran horseman did not participate in person in acts of riding.

Otherwise the show is bigger and better than ever before. To the equestrian, roping and acrobatic acts of former years were added several new features. One of the most sensational of these was the roping and saddling of a wild buffalo, which was ridden around the arena by a cowboy with no assistance save that of a halter.

In the "Far East" part of the entertainment Cingalese, Dahomians, Siamese acrobats, Hindoo magicians, Arabian dervishes and Australian boomerang throwers were presented. Russian dancers and Japanese wrestlers gave evidence of their dexterity, and a number of new animal acts were presented.

One of the most popular innovations proved to be the game of auto polo, which was filled with thrills for even the most blasé spectator in the hall. The light automobiles collided frequently, turned turtle now and then, and the staccato explosions of their unhooded engines spat forth bursts of flame into the very faces of the drivers and players. The contestants were attired in heavily padded football uniforms, with head and nose guards complete, and the game was fast and furious from the start until the final blast of the umpire's whistle marked the finish of the contest.

As is always the case when "Buffalo Bill" comes to town, the American small boy formed a respectable part of the audience, and not the least appreciative part. He was both seen and heard on every hand.

"Oo! Pop!" cried one small boy, "look at that little Indian kid! I bet he ain't as old as me. Gee! He don't have to go to school, does he? I wisht I was an Indian. I bet he'll be a big chief when he grows up, won't he, pop?"

"Huh, they ain't Russians, ma," bawled another juvenile spectator to his mother as a troop of Cossacks swept at breakneck speed about the arena, performing stunts of daring horsemanship. "There's a kid in my school that comes from Russia and he can't ride. A cop put him in his saddle one day and he cried like a sissy. Gee, I'd like to own a horse and make every one look at me in Central Park."

Shortly after 8 o'clock the seats in the galleries and on the main floor were all filled and the Fire Department officials ordered all of the doors to be closed. This resulted in considerable confusion at the Madison Avenue entrance, where several hundred holders of box seats arrived late and could not get in. Col. Cody was notified of the difficulty and succeeded in gaining admission for all of those holding tickets.

"DIE BEFREITEN" PLAYED

With Grete Meyer as "Guest" at the Irving Place Theatre.

At the Irving Place Theatre last night Grete Meyer appeared as the guest-star of the organization in a cycle of three one-act plays by Otto Erich Hartleben, called "Die Befreiten." Miss Meyer had been seen this season as leading woman for Adolph Philipp in the farce from the French called "Auction Pinochle," but the vehicle last night was of a different character. She made the change with the versatility that is a requisite of actors trained on the German stage.

The three playlets, whose general title is roughly translatable into "those who have been freed," had each to do with persons who are released from bonds imposed by conventional situations in their lives. The first, "Leaving the Regiment," was a grim play, of the "triangle" variety. The other two were in light vein. Clever dialogue, most noticeably in the last two, was a feature of all three plays. Grete Meyer appeared in the first as the wife of a Captain in the German Army, who was in love with one of her husband's Lieutenants. In the last play she was a famous singer, who freed herself from the bonds of conventional morality in disposing of an old acquaintance who sought marriage with her. She did not appear in the second piece, the woman's rôle being played by Rose Lichtenstein.

August Meyer-Eigen won honors in the first piece in a rôle which gave him more opportunities than any he has been seen in of late. Gustav Olmar, Eugen Hohenwart, and Otto Stoeckel had the important parts in the second playlet, and the latter of the three won much applause for his acting in the last play of the evening. He also staged the plays.

DANCING AT WINTER GARDEN

Contest to Celebrate 100th Performance of "Honeymoon Express."

In connection with the 100th performance of "The Honeymon Express" at the Winter Garden, a dancing contest was held on the stage of the theatre last night under the direction of Ned Wayburn. Many prominent dancers appeared. Owing to the fact that too many dancers presented themselves the contest was not concluded. It was announced that two additional sessions would be held. The contest brought out everything from plain waltzing to the elaborateness of one called "Descriptive Dance: The Death of the Butterfly," which was presented by Mlle. Parepa, and a "Nerve Dance" by André and Fleury. The audience seemed to like them.

Several changes are announced in "The Honeymoon Express" beginning next Monday night for the "Spring edition" of the piece. Ina Claire, late star of "The Quaker Girl"; Grace La Rue, Charles King, and Edouard Durand are to be added to the cast. There will be some alterations in the piece to fit the new actors, and several new songs for them.

Harry Lauder Sails.

Harry Lauder, the Scotch comedian, left for his home early this morning on the Mauretania. He has been on a long tour of the United States, which has lasted all season. Last night he appeared unexpectedly to the audience on the stage of the New York Theatre, where he presented a loving cup to his American manager, William Morris, who is also the lessee of that theatre.

MUSIC NOTES.

McCall Lanham will give a song recital in the ballroom of the Hotel Plaza next Tuesday evening, which will conclude with a performance of the song cycle, "The Hesperides," by G. H. Clutsam, in which Mr. Lanham will be assisted by Cora Remington, Mrs. Gladys L. Davis, and John Barnes Wells. The pianists will be William Fairchild Sherman and the American composers, Marion Bauer and Bruno Huhn.

Carl Fique gave a lecture recital on "Tannhauser" last evening in College Hall, 128 East Fifty-eighth Street.

THREE EVENING DANCES.

Miss Stewart Entertains for Miss Margaret Hays.

Several dances were given last night. Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Moncrieff Livingston (Miss Eleanor H. Rodewald) gave a dance and supper last night as a housewarming for their new residence, 21 East Seventy-fourth Street, to which some seventy or eighty guests were bidden. The decorations were simple, the music was excellent, and shortly after midnight a buffet supper was served. The guests asked included some of the older married people, young married coupes, and some of the young unmarried dancing set.

Among those invited were Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Livingston, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Welch, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Olcott, Mr. and Mrs. D. McR. Livingston, William Rodewald, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Barrett, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Van Rensselaer, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Minis, Mr. and Mrs. W. V. B. Hoffman, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hadden, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Duncan, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Livingston, the Misses Rodewald, Marie Louise Rodewald, Rosamond and Frances Burr, Rosina Otis, Rosalie O'Brien, Catherine Hammersly, Alida Livingston, Laura Livingston, Adelaide Cannon, Maude Shepherd, Mary Tower, Helen and Marie Seton, Lucinda Bateson, May Vogel, and Marion Stoddard.

Also Edward R. Bacon, Henry Talmadge, Charles and Frederick Inman, William Middleton, Mr. and Mrs. Vivian Spencer, Stoddard Hoffman, John Jay Ide, Jr., Lauren Carroll, Robert L. Fowler, Jr., Emmet Harris, Duncan Harris, Frederick Wooley, Eugene Watson, Francis W. Murray, Jr., Farrar Bateson, Ogden Rogers, George Brokaw, Johnston Redmond, Kenneth Clinton, G. H. Warren, Jr., and Robert R. Livingston.

Miss Mildred Innis Stewart entertained the bridal party of Miss Margaret Hays and Dr. Charles Easton last night at her home, 4 Washington Square North, with dancing and a supper.

There was a rehearsal of the wedding at St. Thomas's Church, and afterward the entire party went with Miss Stewart, who is to be maid of honor at the wedding this afternoon, to her house. The guests included Miss Hays, Dr. Easton, the Misses Gladys Stout, Margaret Faber, Margaret Lowe, and Gertrude Smith, Dr. Fritz Talbot of Boston, Dr. Frank B. Easton, William MacLeod of Newport, Dr. Marshall Fabyan, Ernest Howe, Charles R. Easton, and T. H. Bauchle.

Mrs. Pierre Waring chaperoned a small subscription dance of young people in the small ballroom of the Plaza last night. There were about 100, who came at 10 o'clock and danced until midnight, when a buffet supper was served, followed by dancing.

MISS HARRIS'S WEDDING.

Ushers and Bridesmaids Announced for Her Marriage Next Saturday.

The wedding of Miss Margaret Harris, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. Crittenden Harris of Glen Ridge, N. J., to Avy Barrell Smith, also of Glen Ridge, will be celebrated at 8:30 o'clock on Saturday evening in Christ Episcopal Church, Glen Ridge. The Rev. Edwin A. White, rector of the church, will officiate.

The bride will be attended by the Misses Marguerite Adams of Philadelphia and Elizabeth White of Atlantic City, who will be the bridesmaids; Miss Elizabeth Thorne of Montclair, N. J., as flower girl, and two small pages, George Edward Nichols of this city and Barbara Schwinn of Glen Ridge.

Harold W. Hobbs of Utica, N. Y., will be Mr. Smith's best man. The ushers chosen include Hugh C. Harle of Glen Ridge, Lynde Coit of Brewerton, N. Y.; Philip Heartt of Caldwell, N. J.; J. Olin Coit and Lawrence Coit of this city, and D. Hayes Agnew Adams of Philadelphia.

After the church ceremony a reception will be held at the home of the bride's parents, 245 Ridgewood Avenue.

THE RUSSIAN SYMPHONY.

Conductor Modest Altschuler Celebrates Shakespeare's Birthday.

The fourth concert of the seven days series of concerts given by Modest Altschuler's Russian Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Julius Hopp at Carnegie Hall will take place to-night. The following programme will be given with Mme. Lillian Blauvelt, soprano, and Gustav Bergman, tenor, as soloists:

Mme. Blauvelt.
Overture—"William Tell"	Rossini

"Twelfth Night" at City College.

Shakespeare's birthday will be commemorated to-day in the College of the City of New York by a special performance of "Twelfth Night" by Ben Greet and his company. The play will be presented in the Great Hall, and an effort is being made to reproduce, as far as possible, the manner in which it was presented during the poet's lifetime in the halls of Gray's Inn and Middle Temple. A Shakespearan pageant and other features are in preparation to supplement the performance and make the celebration notable. The performance will begin at 8 o'clock. No tickets have been issued, but students and their friends are invited to be present. Entrances 3 and 4, St. Nicholas Terrace, will be open.

Commissioner McCall to Speak.

Public Service Commissioner McCall will speak upon "Our New Subways" at the civic dinner which is to be given by the members of the Southern and Northwestern Societies of this city and the Progressive Economic Club at the Plaza on Wednesday evening, April 30. Col. William D. Washington, President of the Virginia Society, is to be toastmaster and Charles A. Towne and Timothy L. Woodruff are also to speak. Mlle. Niola, a Greek dancer, will give some Indian legend dances.

Interest in Mr. Martin's Play.

Among those who have taken boxes and stalls for the premiere of "The Passing of the Idle Rich" at the Garden Theatre on Monday evening, April 28, a play by Margaret Townsend based on F. Townsend Martin's book of the same name, are Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Breitung, Mr. and Mrs. J. Gregory McLoughlin, Miss Annie Leary, Mr. and Mrs. August Belmont, Gen. and Mrs. George P. Borden, Dr. and Mrs. Preston Satterwaite, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Peters, Mr. and Mrs. W. Allen Butler, and Mr. and Mrs. John W. Weed.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

The dates for the matinee performances of Strindberg's "Countess Julia," at the Forty-eighth Street Theatre, under the direction of Holbrook Blinn, have been changed to April 28 and 29 and May 2.

Valeska Suratt is to appear at Hammerstein's Victoria on May 5 in "Black Crepe and Diamonds," which is described as a symbolical play in blank verse, with the flavor of "The Blue Bird," "Everywoman," and the "pastoral plays of Shakespeare."

Geraldine Farrar goes to Boston Thursday to appear in the annual Actors' Fund Benefit in that city on Friday.

Many delegates of the convention of The Associated Press and the Publishers' Association have accepted the invitation of the management to attend the performance at the Palace Theatre to-night.

"The Gentleman from No. 19," the new French farce to be produced by the Shuberts, will follow "Fanny's First Play" at the Comedy Theatre, opening some night next week.

John Herne, only son of the late James A. Herne, will make his first Broadway appearance in the revival of "Arizona," to be offered at the Lyric Theatre Monday night.

The grandson of Lester Wallack, who bears the same name, appeared last night as one of the supernumeraries in "Rosedale" at the Lyric, it was announced.

JOHN D. PLAYS GOOD GOLF.

Returns to Pocantico Estate and Is Out Early on the Links.

Special to The New York Times.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., April 22.—John D. Rockefeller has returned to his Pocantico Hills home for the Spring season and is in great golfing form. On his way back from the South he stopped over at Lakewood for a few weeks, and did not reach here until last night. Early this morning he was out on the links.

Mr. Rockefeller played a great game. He appeared to be in excellent health, and was in high spirits over his play.

After the game he walked around his estate overseeing the finishing touches on his mansion on the hill and observing the progress made in his new ice plant, which will make a ton of ice a day and save him $12 a ton at the present prices.

Mr. Rockefeller will remain here until the middle of June, when he will go to Cleveland.

College Settlement Benefit.

An afternoon of music and dancing yesterday at the Ritz-Carlton for the benefit of the College Settlement realized about $600. Arthur Philips, baritone; Miss Ethel Whalen, soprano; Miss Florence F. "What, When, Where"

A Record of Contemporary Events.

The first volume of the Index of THE NEW YORK TIMES, January-to-April, 1913, about 275 pages, will appear within a few days, and specimen copies will be sent on approval. The Index of THE TIMES is designed to meet in this country, and more fully, a demand which has been supplied in Great Britain by the Index of The London Times.

The Index gives subject, date, and brief synopsis, with full allusions to persons and related subjects, of events in series of events (too recent to be embodied in any other publication) as printed in important newspapers; also, page and column references to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

This is the only newspaper index published in the United States, and is an index to all newspapers.

While referring fully and accurately to the columns of THE TIMES, this index may be used independently of any news file. It is complete in itself, with a brief running account of each news development, and is a key, with full references to subjects and dates, to the reports accessible in every news file.

To find quickly when an event or incident occurred, what persons took part in it, what was said and done, and the interests concerned; to lay one's finger on the details and later developments, with all the dates and references grouped—that is the need of intelligent men and women whose work or their personality felt in the community. This Index will be useful to the business man, the professional man, the public official, the writer, the student of public affairs—to every active man who has occasion to refer to the lively reports of current and related events which The Index of THE TIMES throws in continuous perspective.

NO THOROUGH TEST FOR AUTO LICENSES

Secretary of State May Admits Examination of Owners Could Be Only Perfunctory.

In a statement issued yesterday Mitchell May, Secretary of State, asserted that there had been widespread misunderstanding in regard to the proposed amendments to the motor vehicle law, particularly as to the nature of the examination of private operators for licenses. He said that such an examination would, of necessity, be more or less perfunctory, as no other State had attempted to exact a more rigid test than to compel every applicant to file an affidavit to the effect that he had operated a motor vehicle for a distance of at least 100 miles, or to submit himself, as in Massachusetts, to a practical demonstration of ability.

"It would be a physical impossibility," the Secretary explained, "for the State authorities to conduct any examination for all operators which would be sufficiently rigid to meet all conditions upon the public highways."

Mr. May asserted that much of the opposition to the proposed amendments had been inspired by certain officers of several automobile clubs who, he said, had misrepresented the views of the majority of members.

"I have received many encouraging communications, both from within and without the State," he added, "which lead me to believe that the greater number of owners realize that the present law does not adequately protect or safeguard the public and the conservative, sane users of motor vehicles on the highways."

In conclusion Mr. May said that the President of the largest touring club in the State had so advised him, and that he had received a communication from the Syracuse Automobile Club declaring that its members, including ex-Gov. White and Ray B. Smith, ex-clerk of the Assembly, were in favor of the McClelland-McGrath amendments because the present law had outlived its usefulness.

⁂

At a meeting called by Frederick H. Elliott yesterday to discuss the prospects of a National organization of automobile dealers, and to obtain the opinion of men of experience in the industry, much enthusiasm over the plan was expressed. Several men prominent in the motor car world and a number of representatives of trade papers were present and expressed a practically unanimous opinion that a National body, properly organized, would be of wide benefit to dealers and the industry. Among those who gave their views of the plan were John F. Plummer, Col. K. C. Pardee, C. Arthur Benjamin, Emanuel Lascaris, and David Beecroft. Details of organization were not settled at the meeting, which was simply of an informal character.

DEFIANT CHAUFFEUR SORRY.

$100 Fine or 100 Days in Tombs for Reckless Speeding.

Charles Gelhaus of 2,372 Creston Avenue, the man who drove the automobile through all the upper parts of Manhattan on Monday night in a wild attempt to escape from a pursuing motor cycle policeman, and did not submit to capture until at the point of a gun he was finally halted by excavations in the far reaches of the Bronx, stood somewhat crestfallen in Harlem Court yesterday and heard Magistrate Corrigan describe his exploit as one of the worst cases of speed violation he had ever heard related in court. He gave the subdued motorist his choice between paying a $100 fine and serving 100 days in the Tombs, and even this will not settle the account, for Gelhaus was also held for further examination on the charge of assault, based on the fact that in his mad flight his car knocked down and seriously injured three women.

As recited yesterday by Motor Cycle Patrolman Ochsenhirt, the chase was the longest, the boldest, the most elusive, and the most insolent he had ever experienced. It began at Fifth Avenue and Seventieth Street, when the policeman's order to slow down was answered with a taunting defiance. It ended in the Grand Concourse. This was the run: North on the avenue to 115th Street, across to Seventh Avenue, and along that thoroughfare to 116th Street, by which St. Nicholas Avenue was reached. This was followed to 145th Street, which served as the cross-cut to Convent Avenue, which, in turn, was followed to Morningside Avenue. Then, by way of Manhattan Avenue and 102d Street, the chase reached Columbus Avenue. Then it turned south. Repeatedly Gelhaus tried to turn in his tracks and regain the lower part of the island. He drove down as far as Ninety-eighth Street and crossed there to Central Park West, then up again to 102d Street, west to Amsterdam Avenue, then south again to Ninety-eighth Street. Here Broadway was tried for two blocks south, when the car doubled back to Amsterdam Avenue, went up to 116th Street, swept westward in front of the Columbia University Library, and, rounding on to the drive, crossed the viaduct. It did not leave the drive until it turned toward Lafayette Boulevard, and the rest of the race was by way of this thoroughfare, Dyckman Street, Fordham Road, and the Grand Concourse.

TWO HEARTS AS EVIDENCE.

Submitted at the Trial of Dr. Smith for the Murder of His Wife.

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio, April 22.—There was another tense moment to-day in the trial of Dr. Arthur B. Smith, when Dr. H. W. Brundage was called, on redirect examination, to produce exhumed parts of the body of Florence Cavileer Smith, the defendant's first wife, for whose alleged murder he is on trial.

Dr. Smith sat with his face buried in his hands as the witness exhibited the heart of the late Mrs. Smith and also the heart of a man, the two organs being offered for comparison. Dr. Smith's young bride, formerly Miss Mabel Merchant of Newton Heights, Mass., occupied a seat by her husband. Mrs. Mary C. Middleton, the only living sister of the dead woman, sat at the prosecutor's table. During most of the ordeal she sat with her back to the jury, and tears coursed down her cheeks.

The second heart presented by Dr. Brundage, that of a man of 60 who had died of myocarditis, was offered over the objection of the defense, and Judge Hagan reserved his decision.

Dr. Brundage reiterated his opinion that Mrs. Smith's death was not due to natural causes.

Dr. J. J. Coons, who conducted the microscopical examination of the organs of Mrs. Smith, gave it as his opinion that her death "was caused by toxic poison administered from without." On cross-examination he admitted, however, that he had not found traces of cyanide or other poisons in the post-mortem examination. His conclusions, he said, were formed from negative results obtained as an employe of the prosecution making tests and searching for evidence desired by the State.

TEN DAYS FOR TAXI DRIVER.

Charged a Visitor $3.75 for a Quarter of a Mile Trip.

As a protest against taxicab conditions in this city, and as a rebuke to the Bureau of License for laxity in the issuance of permits to taxicab chauffeurs, Magistrate Murphy in the Morrisania court yesterday fixed ten days in the workhouse as a proper punishment for one taxi driver who tried to charge an out of town visitor $3.75 for covering the distance between two points a quarter of a mile apart.

The passenger was Charles H. Walters of Kingston, N. Y., and the two points were the Bronx Park Subway station and the Bronx Park Zoo. Albert Viscont of 1,917 Matthews Avenue, the chauffeur, covered the distance so circuitously that he was able to announce a $3.75 charge without blushing. Mr. Walters, reinforced by his wife, made a protest so vigorous that a policeman overheard, and Viscont was arrested.

When It Is Not Called For, Store Turns It Over to Police.

William Gaynor, who makes a specialty of looking after babies and their carriages in front of a Bronx department store, received a baby into his care yesterday from a neatly dressed young woman. Gaynor gave her a check for the baby carriage and contents, and when the store closed up for the night he found he was one check missing and a baby and baby carriage with trimmings to the good. He explained to the store manager that he would rather have the check and the police were notified. Patrolman Rooney was sent to his assistance and walked with Gaynor while he wheeled the carriage to the Morrisania Station.

The baby cried lustily, but when the station was reached the matron found a bottle of milk had been left in the carriage. The baby drank half the milk, and was then removed to Bellevue Hospital. It is about two weeks old, fair, and plump. Detectives were assigned to the case.

SHOT IN PERFORMANCE.

Bullet from Sharpshooter's Rifle Struck Partner in the Side.

So quickly did it all happen that few persons attending last night's performance at the Columbia Theatre, Brooklyn, were aware that one of a team of sharpshooters, billed near the end of the vaudeville programme, had been actually shot by his partner. Adam Schinpf, 27 years old, of 361 Hawthorne Street, Newark, lies in the Holy Family Hospital, 155 Dean Street, with a bullet in his side.

It was after several exhibits of skilled marksmanship that Schinpf walked to one side of the stage and with his side toward the audience held aloft a small square of wood. He placed the piece between his thumb and index finger and Ferdinand Thegion, his teammate, 30 years old, who lives with him, raised a .22 calibre rifle at the other end of the stage. The gun went off prematurely, and the bullet entered Schinpf's right side, just below the waist. The wounded man managed to conceal his sufferings long enough for the curtain to be run down. Those in the front of the house suspected nothing wrong. Schinpf was attended by Dr. Nathan Slutsky of 344 Jay Street, and then sent to the hospital.

SIDELIGHTS ON SELLING.

The great vogue for high color effects in silks for Summer and Fall leads one well-posted wholesaler to believe that conservative colorings, principally black and white effects, will dominate the demand for Spring, 1914.

Re-orders on Spring men's wear fabrics show a good call for silk hairline stripe effects in grays, browns, and blues. The most popular fabrics have the stripes placed close together.

ASKS CUSTODY OF SISTER.

Mrs. Foxlocher Wants to Get Divorce for Insane Woman.

Supreme Court Justice Lehman reserved decision yesterday on the application of Mrs. Tiene Foxlocher of North Woodside, L. I., to be appointed guardian for her sister, Mrs. Josephine K. Avril, who was committed to the Manhattan State Hospital on Mary 28, 1902, on an order of Supreme Court Justice Dugro.

Mrs. Foxlocher said she wished to prosecute a divorce suit on her sister's behalf against Jack Avril, a Bay Ridge baker, and to use any possible alimony to put her in a private sanitarium. She quoted Dr. Mabon of the Bellevue Hospital psycopathic staff as saying that her sister might be cured with proper care.

BUSINESS TROUBLES.

MAX LITOWICH, jobber in wall paper, 2,009 Third Avenue, made an assignment yesterday to Jesse S. Epstein, and a petition was also filed against him by Samuel Rubinsky, a creditor for $500. Judge Hazel appointed Epstein receiver, bond $3,000, with authority to continue business twenty days. The liabilities are $25,000 and assets $8,000.

THE EXCLUSIVE ADVERTISING COMPANY of 1 West 100th Street, formerly at 111 Broadway, has filed a petition with liabilities $5,589 and assets $250. Among the creditors are the Perth Amboy Foundry and Machine Company, $2,806; Frederick W. Sinclair, $1,643, and Peter A. Johansen, $410.

FREDERICO REMONDINO.—A petition has been filed against Frederico Remondino, grocer, 297 Bleecker Street, by these creditors: Abraham Gash, $51; F. Romeo, $189; O. Roth & Co., $50; C. Mirabello, $210, and P. Pastene & Co., $131. The liabilities are $3,000 and assets $800. Judge Hazel appointed Edward R. Rayher receiver, bond $500, with authority to continue business ten days.

PELZMAN & JURMAN.—Judge Mayer has appointed John W. Remer receiver for Pelzman & Jurman, manufacturers of human hair goods, 89 East Tenth Street, bond $600. The liabilities are $3,000 and assets $1,000.

FEINSTEIN & COHN.—Judge Hazel has appointed Israel H. Zinovoy receiver for Feinstein & Cohn, cloak manufacturers, 30 West Twenty-ninth Street, bond $500.

FRANCENIA M. FULTON.—Judge Mayer has confirmed a composition of Francenia M. Fulton, dealer in women's apparel, Monticello, N. Y., with her creditors at 20 cents on the dollar. The liabilities were $15,618.

LOUIS EHRENBERG.—Schedules of Louis Ehrenberg, fruit and produce commission merchant, 191 Reade Street and 1,981 First Avenue, show liabilities of $45,434 and no assets. Among the creditors are Crawford Brothers Company, $7,396; E. C. Shaffer, $7,738; Security Bank, $4,550; Greenwich Stores, $2,721; Moses Packard & Co., $616; E. Hoffman & Son, $2,000; National Bank of Far Rockaway, $900, and Minch Brothers, $1,490. There are 130 creditors.

THE HANOVER GLASS BEVELING AND MIRROR COMPANY, INC., of 478 West Broadway, has made an assignment to Leon Wasserman.

MARY H. STURGIS, milliner, of 347 Fifth Avenue, has made an assignment to Charles Blandy, Jr.

CONSULAR TRADE NOTES.

A refrigerating plant has been established in Guayaquil, Ecuador, by La Compania Frigorifica, which plans to take care of the fruit brought into Guayaquil from the interior for shipment to Peruvian and Chilean ports.

A recent French Ministerial decree has authorized an expenditure of $1,447,500 for deepening certain basins and modification of the Abattoir Channel, which connects two of the principal docks of the port of Marseilles.

Cottonseed oil imported by Italy amounted to 7,900,000 pounds in 1910, 27,000,000 pounds in 1911, and 42,000,000 pounds in 1912.

IN THE BUSINESS WORLD

Say Lace Imports Are in Danger.

Importers of the cheaper grades of laces and embroideries are complaining of the injury done their business by the growth of the domestic industry. They say that if they cannot bring about a reduction from the 60 per cent. ad valorem rate proposed in the new Tariff schedule American manufacturers will gradually work into more expensive lines. This, they contend, will practically do away with the bulk of imported merchandise.

⁂

Chance to Export Women's Wear.

American manufacturers of outer garments for women have an excellent chance to build up business in South America. The women of Buenos Aires, Valparaiso and other large cities there are said to be among the best dressed in the world, and willing to pay well for American coats, suits and dresses. Several lines of men's clothing are being handled successfully there, and some business has been done in women's wear.

⁂

Local Exports Show Big Gain.

Exports, exclusive of specie, from this port last week were valued at $18,580,264, against $18,294,537 in the corresponding week last year. The 1913 total of these shipments is now $307,226,459, a gain of $38,856,568 over 1912. For the first time in several months England fell below first or second place in the list. Last week Germany led with $2,586,068, with France second with $1,993,105. Four other countries passed the $1,000,000 mark. Wheat exports, totaling 253,909 bushels, were the lighest in some time.

Silk Operatives Scarce.

The local silk trade was interested yesterday in the report from Shamokin, Penn., that J. H. & C. K. Eagle would be forced to move their throwing plant because sufficient help could not be found there. The report was especially interesting in view of the reported decision of some of the Paterson manufacturers to move their plants to more isolated places in Pennsylvania and the South because of continued labor troubles in that city. It was taken as proof that this plan could not be carried out for the reason that labor skilled enough for the manufacture of silk could not be found there in sufficient numbers to guarantee success.

⁂

Poor Soft Coal Prices Dropping.

The Coal Trade Journal will say today:

"Bituminous prices are gradually settling down to Summer levels, and while no pronounced weakness has developed except in the case of low grade coals some shippers of medium grades are showing a willingness to take on Summer business at somewhat lower figures than they were holding out for. The tonnage of the best quality coals is so limited and so well contracted for that they are practically out of the market."

⁂

No Rough Hats for Fall.

For Fall the style trend of better grade soft hats is toward smooth-finished fabrics. The tendency in derbies is toward more conservative models, with more of a roll to the brims. A growing demand is reported for silk hats.

WINS REBATING DAMAGES.

Coal Dealer Gets Verdict Against Pennsylvania Railroad.

PHILADELPHIA, April 22.—On the ground that he had been discriminated against in freight rates, Samuel D. Hall, a retail coal dealer, got a verdict of $51,069 against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in the Common Pleas Court to-day. Hall charged that the company gave two of his competitors rebates, one of them "more than $341,000 in ten years."

"Jugglery of figures and secret agreements," counsel to Hall said in his address to the jury, "were resorted to by the railroad company to conceal the advantages given to the two favored shippers."

The railroad argued that the freight paid by Hall was given to an agent of a coal company, and therefore the carrier had no connection with the charges. Counsel to the dealer retorted that "it was all Pennsylvania Railroad coal and all Pennsylvania dealings."

Judge Martin in his charge to the jury said:

"It is plain that rebates were paid; and if those favored purchased coal at the same kind of price, at the same place, and under similar circumstances as did the plaintiff, then Hall also would be entitled to drawbacks."

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS.

Pencils Made of Celluloid and Metals Gain Lower Rates.

The Board of United States General Appraisers yesterday upset the classification by the Collector at Chicago on pencils of celluloid, white tin and lead. The Appraiser reported that celluloid was the material of chief value, and returned the pencils at 60 cents per pound, and 25 per cent. ad valorem under paragraph 17 of the Act of 1897. Some of the goods also were returned at 60 cents a pound and 30 per cent. ad valorem under the same paragraph. The importers established that metal was the material of chief value, and that duty should have been taken at 45 per cent. ad valorem, under paragraph 193, Act of 1897, or 199, Act of 1909.

The board threw out a protest by Corsi, Zumsteg & Co., contending that certain embroidery and Bokara strips were antiquities entitled to free entry under the present law.

CHANGE COTTON MILL PLAN.

Financiers Find International Will Need More Ready Money.

BALTIMORE, April 22.—That the refinancing of the International Cotton Mills Corporation would require much more cash than was proposed was announced here to-day by S. Davies Warfield, conducting the negotiations. For that reason and because of the changed conditions of the times, Mr. Warfield said, modifications became necessary in the plan, and in the issue of securities of the new Massachusetts corporation, which was to bear the existing title.

The original plan was to raise $6,675,000 cash. The plan now formulated provides that the new company shall receive $7,925,000 from bankers and the preferred stock syndicate. To raise the additional money and for the exchange of present securities, there will be issued $17,000,000 of stocks and notes.

The bankers referred to are Blair & Co., New York, and Lee Higginson & Co., Boston. The syndicate managers of the preferred stock syndicate are Robert F. Herrick and Edwin Farnham Greene, both of Boston.

The corporation owns or controls a large number of cotton mills in Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina, Maryland, New York, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, and Canada.

MISCELLANEOUS MARKETS.

BEEF.—The following are current wholesale market prices for Western beef cuts in New York City: Ribs, No. 1, 15½c; No. 2, 14c; No. 3, 12½c; loins, No. 1, 15½c; No. 2, 14c; No. 3, 12½c; rounds, No. 1, 13c; No. 2, 12c; No. 3, 11c; chuck, No. 1, 12½c; No. 2, 12c; No. 3, 11c.

SUGAR.—The market for refined sugar was quiet and unchanged on a basis of $4.20 for fine granulated. The London beet sugar market was quiet and firmer early, with April quoted at 9s 9¾d, May at 9s 10½d, and August at 10s ¾d. On the late Curb, however, April was 9s 8¾d, May 9s 9¾d, and August 10s ¼d. Stocks of sugar reported in the United Kingdom were 54,000 tons. The local raw sugar market was quiet with no sales reported. Quotations were $3.36@$3.39 for centrifugal, $2.86@$2.89 for muscovado, and $2.61@$2.64 for molasses sugar.

MOLASSES AND SYRUPS.—There was fair demand for foreign grades of molasses. Syrups were inactive, but steady. Prices remained unchanged.

RICE.—Offerings from the South were a little larger, and although the demand was light prices were well maintained at former quotations.

FLOUR AND MEAL.—The market showed some change, but business was of a jobbing character.

Quotations: Spring patents, $4.55@$4.85; Winter straights, $4.60@$4.70; Winter patents, $4.80@$5.20; Spring clears, $4.10@$4.25; extra No. 1 Winter, $3.90@$4.20; extra No. 2 Winter, $3.80@$3.90; Kansas straights, $4.20@$4.30; fancy Spring patents, $5.30@$5.80. RYE FLOUR—Quoted: Fair to good, $3.60@$3.85; choice to fancy, $3.90@$4.05. CORNMEAL—Quoted: Kiln dried, $3.30. BAGMEAL—Quoted: Fine white and yellow, $1.30@$1.35; coarse, $1.25@$1.30. FEED—Quoted: Western Spring, $20.25; standard middling, $20.25; flour, $26.50; Red Dog, $28; bran, $20 bulk, $21.50 sacks; middling, $21.50@$28; Red Dog, $29; oilmeal, $28@$28.50.

OILS.—Refined petroleum and linseed oil were steady and unchanged.

NAVAL STORES.—A slightly easier tone was noted in the turpentine market, and prices were ½c lower in sympathy with Savannah. Resin was very unsettled, and prices ruled around $4.70 for common to good strained. Tar was quiet and unchanged.

Quotations: Spirits turpentine, machine, barrel, 43c. Tar, $5.50@$5.70. Resin, common to good, strained, $4.70; B, $4.80; D, $4.95; E, $5; F, $5.05; G, $5.10; H, $7.20; I, $7.20; K, $5.80; M, $6.40; N, $6.80; WG, $7, and WW, $7.20.

BUSINESS NOTES.

F. B. Shipley and Edward Page will be among the speakers at the dinner of the Cotton Goods Association of New York on April 29 at Delmonico's. The association is of a semi-social nature.

The Wright Formette Company, 149 West Thirty-sixth Street, has leased the fifth floor loft at 138 West Seventeenth Street.

FOREIGN TRADE OPPORTUNITIES

The Daily Consular and Trade Report notes the following foreign trade opportunities. Further information regarding them may be obtained by addressing the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, care of the Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C., giving the number of the item referred to:

10,804. DREDGE.—An American Consul reports that a foreign Government has authorized the purchase of a dredge for use in the canalization of two rivers. The dredge must be capable of making short voyages by sea in passing from one river to another, must be adapted to the use of coal or wood at option, and attain a speed of ten or twelve miles per hour. It must dredge to a depth of thirty-six feet and must contain compartments to accommodate fifty tons of excavated material, which can be discharged automatically, the dredge to transport it to the place of deposit.

10,805. TELEPHONE SYSTEM.—A report from an American Consular officer in a South American country states that a telephone company in his district has decided to replace its present bell system by an up-to-date automatic system. The company has 2,000 subscribers, and is still increasing the number.

10,806. HOSE, HARNESS, AND WAGON WHEELS.—A firm of commission agents in the Near East informs an American Consulate that it desires prices on wire-wound rubber hose used in the manufacture of wine. About 1,000 yards of this material is imported annually in twenty-five and fifty millimeter sizes, the price to the consumer being $1.80 and $3 per meter. This price includes freight, duty, and agent's commission. Quotations are also desired for wooden harness collars and wagon wheels for heavy trucking, track to measure 5 centimenters, height of rear wheels 1.10 meters, and front wheels 95 centimeters. Prices are desired cost, insurance, and freight, terms to be cash against documents and the exclusive representation of the lines in that district. Correspondence may be in English.

10,807. SCHOOL EQUIPMENT, BOOKS, AND SUPPLIES.—The American Consulate General at Vancouver has forwarded a copy of the estimates for school expenditures by the Board of School Trustees for South Vancouver, which amounts to about $500,000. Interested dealers in and manufacturers of school equipment, books, and supplies should communicate with the Secretary of the Board of School Trustees, South Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada.

10,808. SWITCH GEAR.—The Chairman, Electric Supply Committee, Town Hall, Melbourne, Australia, will receive bids until May 30 for supplying high-tension switch gear with remote control for the City Council. Tender form, specification, &c., can be obtained on application to McIlraith, McEacharn & Co., (Ltd.,) Billiton Square Buildinsg, London, E. C., England.

10,809. PITCH PINE, GALVANIZED-IRON MATERIAL, AND ROOFING TILES.—Tenders are invited by the Egyptian Coast Guard Administration for the supply of pitch pine, galvanized-iron sheets, galvanized-iron bolts and nuts, and red roofing tiles.

10,810. TRAMWAY CONSTRUCTION.—The Public Works Department, Madrid, Spain, invites tenders until May 8 for the construction of three lines of electric tramways at Cadiz. Tenders will be received until May 19 for the construction and exploitation of electric tramways at Barcelona.

10,811. TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH MATERIAL.—The Postmaster General, Hobart, Tasmania, will receive tenders until June 9 for furnishing the following materials: Insulators, telephone distribution, switchboards, telephone wire, (iron, steel, copper, and bronze,) insulated wire, telephone instruments and accessories, battery material, and lead-armored telephone cables.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT, Northern District of West Virginia.—THE COMMONWEALTH TRUST COMPANY OF PITTSBURG, Successor Trustee, vs. NATIONAL TELEPHONE CORPORATION et al.—In equity.

By virtue of the authority vested in the undersigned Special Commissioners by certain decrees entered in the above entitled cause on the 25th day of January, 1913, and the 10th day of April, 1913, respectively, in the District Court of the United States, for the Northern District of West Virginia, the said Special Commissioners will sell to the highest bidder on commencing at ten o'clock A. M., in the Federal Court Room, in the City of Wheeling, West Virginia, at public outcry, in the manner hereinafter provided, the following described properties, that is to say: 49,060 shares of the capital stock of the National Telephone Company of West Virginia, par value $10.00 each; 2,887 shares of the capital stock of the National Telephone Company of Ohio, par value $100.00 each; 1,951 shares of the capital stock of the National Telephone Company of Pennsylvania, par value $100.00 each; 460 shares of the capital stock of the National Telephone Company of Monongalia County, par value $100.00 each; 5,678 shares of the common stock and 775 shares of the preferred stock of the West Virginia & Western Telephone Company, par value $25.00 each; 933 shares of the capital stock of the Consolidated Telephone Company, par value $100.00 each; 409 shares of the capital stock of the Union Telephone Company, par value $50.00 each; 2,550 shares of the capital stock of the Woodsfield Telephone Company, par value $10.00 each; 238 shares of the capital stock of the Chartiers Telephone Company, par value $100.00 each; 500 shares of the capital stock of the Pittsburg & Wheeling Telephone Company, par value $100.00 each; 295 shares of the capital stock of the Beeghley Telephone Company, par value $100.00 each; 16,133 shares of the common stock and 14,305 shares of the preferred stock of the Pittsburg & Allegheny Telephone Company, par value $100.00 each; also all other property of every character whatsoever belonging to the said defendant, the National Telephone Corporation, and subject to the mortgage or deed of trust, dated July 1st, 1909, in the bill of complaint in said cause mentioned.

The said property will be sold as an entirety and as one property, and not in separate parcels, unless the holders of the majority in amount of the bonds secured by said mortgage and outstanding shall in writing request said commissioners to cause said property to be sold in parcels; in which case the sale shall be made in such parcels as may be specified in such request as provided in Section 12 of Article 4 of said mortgage, and at such sale any of the holders of said outstanding bonds may become the purchaser or purchasers; and all of the property hereinbefore described will be sold to the highest bidder.

Terms of sale: One-third of the purchase money in cash or so much more as the purchaser may elect to pay, and the balance in equal installments respectively in six and twelve months with interest from day of sale, the purchaser securing deferred payments in a manner satisfactory to said commissioners, subject to the approval of the said court; but any purchaser or purchasers at said sale shall be entitled in making settlement for the payment of the purchase money to said commissioners to turn in and use and apply any of the bonds and coupons secured by said mortgage toward the payment of said purchase money, reckoning and computing said bonds and coupons for that purpose at a sum equal to and not exceeding that which would be payable out of the net proceeds of sale to the purchaser or purchasers as the holder or holders of said bonds or coupons for his, its or their just share and proportion of said proceeds after allowing for payments which may be required by the court to be made in cash, for the expenses of the trust and sale, and for other purposes, as provided in Section 12, of Article 4, of said mortgage; provided, however, that any person or persons who shall desire to make part payment of the purchase money in bonds as provided herein shall execute and deliver to said commissioners a bond with good security for an amount equal to the sum for which said bonds are taken in payment, conditioned that, in case any of the bonds so deposited shall not be entitled upon the final hearing of this cause to share in the distribution of the proceeds of sale, or that a greater credit has been allowed upon said bonds than they will be entitled to, then that said purchaser shall pay to the said Special Commissioners the amount for which he received credit for the bonds so deposited, and not allowed to participate in the proceeds of sale upon the final hearing, or for any amount that he may be allowed, in the excess of the amount that said bonds are entitled to participate in the final distribution, with interest thereon from the date of sale, or such purchaser so applying bonds or coupons secured by the mortgage toward the payment of the purchase money, may, in lieu of the execution of such bond, conditioned as aforesaid, deliver to the commissioners the bonds and coupons to be applied as aforesaid in discharge of any bid upon the property, and shall leave in the hands of the commissioners as further security and until the value of his bonds and coupons shall be determined, all stocks and other property that may be purchased by him at the said sale.

The said Special Commissioners will, before receiving any bids at such sale require the bidder or bidders, or those whom he or they may represent in bidding, to deposit with said Commissioners a certified check, payable to the order of said commissioners, for the sum of Twenty-five Thousand (25,000) Dollars, and if such bidder becomes the purchaser of said property at such sale, the said amount shall be applied toward the payment of the purchase money.

And if for any cause the said sale shall not be commenced at the time and place aforesaid, or being commenced, shall not be completed on said day, the same will be continued or adjourned from time to time, at the same place, until said sale shall have been completed.

MAYOR ADVOCATES PUSHCART MARKETS

In a Letter to the Board of Aldermen He Proposes to Keep Pushcarts Off the Streets.

WILL ADD TO THEIR COMFORT

For Merchants Would Be Sheltered from Weather—Aldermen Suggest Sites for New Markets.

Mayor Gaynor wrote to the Board of Aldermen yesterday urging that some action be taken to do away with pushcarts on the streets, and suggesting that provision be made for them in markets under at least two of the East River bridges, and possibly in certain small parks, as recommended by the committee he had appointed to study the subject.

At the same time the special Aldermanic Committee on the subject, of which Alderman Brush is Chairman, sent in a report and recommended an ordinance for the establishment of pushcart markets. This is the Mayor's letter to the board:

City of New York,
Office of the Mayor,
April 18, 1913.

To the Honorable the Board of Aldermen: In December last I appointed R. A. C. Smith, Louis E. Miller, Morris D. Waldman, Michael Furst, and William A. Cokeley a commission to examine into the matter of pushcarts in the city, and of their accommodation under shelter, in place of being exposed to the weather in the streets, and being an obstruction in the streets. I herewith transmit to you their report thereon.

At the same time I beg to call your attention to the admirable and comprehensive report of the committee of your own body on the same subject, an advance draft of which has been shown to me.

These two reports are very much in harmony, as you will perceive on examining them.

Both reports recognize the fact that the pushcarts serve a good purpose in the localities where they ply their trade. Commodities are, by means of them, distributed at lower prices than they could be purchased for elsewhere. It is therefore not advisable to do away with the pushcarts.

But it is necessary to take them off of the streets. It seems to be the unanimous wish of the pushcart men that they be taken off of the streets and placed in suitable places or stands under cover, where they will be protected from the elements and made comfortable, and at the same time serve the purposes which they now serve. This is also the wish of the public generally. Pushcarts are a serious obstruction to many streets, and the men and women and children who attend these carts are exposed to rain, storm, and severity of weather, with much resulting ill-health therefrom.

Both of these reports show how much space under the bridges and elsewhere is available for pushcart stands. There is no lack of space for this purpose. These spaces are owned by the city, and can be put in order at a comparatively small cost. For instance, it reasonably appears that the pushcarts in the Thirteenth, Fifteenth, and Seventeenth Police Precincts and the First Inspection District can be housed in the way I have suggested at an expense of about $150,000.

The work can be gradually done. The great thing is to make a beginning, for it is certain that if we do the entire work will be carried on in succession. And the cost will be so small that we will not need to issue corporate stock therefor, but can meet the same by revenue bonds.

But in order to carry the work out somebody must work at it literally from day to day. If it be your wish I shall appoint a committee of citizens to do that work in conjunction with your honorable body. There are citizens very much interested in this work, and who will be glad to act as agents of your honorable body in carrying out your wishes in the matter.

I cannot too strongly urge you to take up this work and carry it through. In justice to the men, women, and children engaged in this industry, we should put them under cover, and in justice to the whole community we should clear the streets of the obstruction of pushcarts. Of course, as fast as you provide space for pushcarts in a district the police will be instructed to see that no other pushcarts take their places in the streets.

It is worthy of mention, although by no means a controlling fact, that these pushcart stands, let out at very reasonable rates, will be sources of large revenue to the city.

W. J. GAYNOR, Mayor.

The ordinance proposed by the Aldermanic committee provides that these places be used for pushcart markets: The old Essex Market Court House, the alley or lane between Grand and Broome Streets and running from Ludlow to Essex Street; as much of the old Union Market at East Second and East Houston Streets as may be available, and spaces under the Manhattan and Williamsburg bridges.

Saturday and Sunday Association Makes $105,000 Apportionment.

The Hospital Saturday and Sunday Association apportioned $105,000 yesterday among forty-six non municipal hospitals. The distribution, according to the rules of the association, was based on the number of days of free treatment given to the poor, regardless of race or creed, for which each hospital had received no payment either from the patient or from the city. The number of these free days was ascertained from detailed reports made by the hospitals directly to the association, and previously audited by Julius A. Stursberg and Albert H. Wiggin. The apportionment was as follows:

Latta's Great Collection Being Dispersed—Prices Not Large.

The sale of the notable Napoleon Bonaparte collection of William J. Latta of Philadelphia was begun at the Anderson Auction Company's rooms yesterday. There were sessions afternoon and evening. The auction company made this announcement:

> Large collections relating to Napoleon and his times have been made in recent years both in this country and abroad, but that of Mr. William J. Latta stands unequaled. It has been declared by authorities familiar with the great collections of France and other countries to be the finest in the world.

There were no large prices at the afternoon sale, the total being $1,671. Lathrop C. Harper paid $121 for a collection of broadsides printed in England at the time of the threatened invasion by Napoleon and mostly on that subject. Gabriel Weis gave $55 for an extra-illustrated first edition of John S. C. Abbott's "History of Napoleon Bonaparte."

A first edition of J. Aspin's "Naval and Military Exploits which have distinguished the Reign of George the Third" was bought on order for $55. George D. Smith paid $43 for "Bonapartiana," Paris, 1801, on the flyleaf of which is the autograph signature of Napoleon. L. D. Wood gave $60 for a first edition of "The Life of Napoleon, a Hudibrastic poem by Doctor Syntax," London, 1815, with all the colored plates by George Cruikshank. W. R. Benjamin obtained for $23 a pay warrant dated Paris, Sept. 25, 1792, and signed by George Jacques Danton, the French revolutionist. A letter of Marshal Duroc, Duke of Fuili, and favorite of Napoleon went to D. Z. Norton for $20.

Bronzes and prints only were sold at the evening session. Edward Gottschalk paid $100 for an equestrian statue of Napoleon by Barre. A bronze panel in high relief, "Napoleon Steadying the Old Guard on the Field of Battle," went to Mr. Norton for $51. Joseph F. Sabin gave $97 for a mezzotint of Mme. Buonaparte, engraved from the original portrait drawn from the life by Citizen L'Auteur at Paris.

The evening's total was $1,576.50 and the total for the day $3,247.50. There will be two more sessions to-day, afternoon and evening.

$950 Paid for Latin Manuscript from Nameless Collection.

Books and manuscripts from a private library of a New York woman, whose name is withheld, were sold at the American Art Galleries yesterday by order of the executors of the estate. The total for the 263 lots was $3,577.50. The library was catalogued by Arthur Swann, who for years was in the employ of the Anderson Auction Company, but is now with the American Art Association. The prices averaged good.

The highest sum paid was $950 for a Latin manuscript "Hours of the Virgin Mary." This work was probably executed at Paris in the second part of the fifteenth century. It is on vellum and is ornamented with fifteen full page miniatures, two small ones and hundreds of illuminated floral initials. It is a small octavo, of 175 leaves, with the calendar in gold, blue and red. The successful bidder was James F. Drake.

Charles Sessler of Philadelphia gave $235 for another Latin manuscript "Hours," executed in the north of France, in the fifteenth century. It consists of 147 small octavo leaves, and is embellished with seven full-page, fine miniatures, surrounded by borders of tracery, leaves and flowers. There are hundreds of illuminated floral small initials.

Mr. Swann, as agent, paid $115 for "The Works of Benjamin Jonson," two volumes, folio, London, 1640. The two volumes are in binding by Bedford. The second volume is a fine, large copy of the rare first edition.

Gabriel Weis gave $33 for Percy B. Shelley's "Poems," London, 1885, in binding by Cobden-Saunderson, and $20.50 for a fine copy of the Zuyder-Zee edition of "Holland and Its People," by Edmondo De Amicis. C. Gerhardt & Co. paid $36 each for first editions of John Dryden's "An Evening's Love," 1671, and "Ambozena," 1673.

It was the last book sale of the season at the American Art Galleries.

SUES FOR BEING LOCKED IN.

Song Writer Wants $25,000, Charging Four Hours' Imprisonment.

Charging that he was locked up in a room for four hours by Max Schwartz, a dress goods manufacturer of 85 East Tenth Street, Samuel Krains, a musician of 1,730 Madison Avenue, has brought suit for $25,000 against Schwartz through his lawyer, William W. La Point. The papers were filed in the Supreme Court by La Point, and the complaint alleges false imprisonment and malicious prosecution.

According to the statement made by Krains, he wrote a song which Samuel Herscher, a brother of Schwartz's partner, agreed to publish for $74. Krains alleges that he paid $40 and refused to pay the balance, on the ground that sufficient payment had already been made to cover the publication of his song and yield a profit to Herscher. He alleges that Herscher invited him to discuss the proposition in the office of Schwartz & Herscher. Upon his refusal to pay the balance, Krains says, Schwartz locked the door of the office, imprisoning him for four hours. Schwartz then telephoned to Police Headquarters and had Krains arrested. He was discharged when arraigned in the Essex Market Court.

SNAG IN PACIFICS' PLAN.

Judges Point Out Danger That Might Arise in Dissolution.

SPOKANE, April 22.—Suggestions made yesterday by Judges Hook, Sanborn, and Smith regarding the Union Pacific dissolution were made public to-day. The statement of the Judges is in part as follows:

> Any plan for disposing of the $126,650,000 of Southern stock owned by the Union Pacific Company should have regard to the amount of Southern Pacific stock already owned by Union Pacific stockholders, so that the present holdings of these stockholders shall not, by the affirmative action of this court, be increased to the point of practical control of the competing company.
>
> In the memorandum of March 1, 1913, submitted by counsel for the Union Pacific Company to a very large extent, the 23,000 individual stockholders of the Union Pacific are also included among the 15,000 stockholders of the Southern Pacific Company.
>
> It was intimated at a time when it was supposed that Union Pacific stockholders did not hold more than $50,000,000 of the stock of the Southern Pacific Company that not more than $40,000,000 of the Southern stock should be transferred to Union Pacific stockholders. It now appears that the stock books of the two companies of February, 1913, show that 4,440 Union Pacific stockholders also own $92,162,400 of Southern Pacific stock, exclusive of the $126,650,000 of stock involved in this suit. Among these 4,440 stockholders are brokerage concerns whose principals are undisclosed, but if they were excluded the fact would still remain that individual Union Pacific stockholders own a very large amount of Southern Pacific stock.
>
> In view of these facts it seems that the disposition of as much as $40,000,000 of Southern Pacific, with voting power, to the stockholders of the Union Pacific Company, might give practical control of that company to Union Pacific stockholders, and the question of what amount, if any, of the Southern Pacific may be safely transferred to them is suggested for an argument and consideration.

Putnam to Go On Appellate Bench.

Justice Harrington Putnam, now sitting in the Special Term of the Supreme Court in Brooklyn, was designated yesterday by Gov. Sulzer to sit in the Appellate Division, Second Judicial Department, in place of Justice Michael H. Hirschberg, who has received a leave of absence for six months because of illness. Justice Putnam will go to the Appellate Division on May 5.

MAYOR OFFERS BILL TO CUT TAXI RATES

New Ordinance Drawn by Special Committee Sent to Board of Aldermen.

60 CENTS FOR FIRST MILE

Measure Also Abolishes Private Stands in Front of Hotels—Would Improve Service.

A new cab ordinance reducing the present rates of fare charged by taxicabs and doing away with the hackstand privileges in front of hotels, clubs, and cafés was sent to the Board of Aldermen yesterday by Mayor Gaynor, who urged that it be adopted as speedily as possible. The ordinance was drawn by the special committee appointed by the Mayor several weeks ago. It consists of Oren Root, Robert Adamson, Charles Steckler, Michael Furst, William B. Crowell, Willard Straight, and Sophie Irene Loeb.

The maximum rate allowed by the ordinance for motor vehicles other than sight-seeing cars is 60 cents for not more than two passengers for the first half mile or any fraction thereof and 10 cents for each succeeding quarter mile. For three or more passengers the rate is 50 cents for the first half mile and 10 cents for each succeeding one-sixth mile. For horse-drawn vehicles the rate is 50 cents for the first mile or any fraction thereof and 20 cents for each succeeding half mile. For coaches the fare is 70 cents for the first mile and 30 cents for each succeeding half mile. For both motor-driven and horse-drawn vehicles a rate of $1.50 an hour for waiting time is allowed, no charge to be made for a stop not exceeding five minutes. Regarding the reduction in rates, the committee in a letter to the Mayor said:

"In our opinion the service can be profitably rendered at the reduced rates. Experience has shown that, notwithstanding the expensive permanent structures required and the hight rate of direct operating costs, transportation can be furnished more cheaply in New York City than elsewhere, because of the density of the traffic. We feel that this consideration will apply with peculiar force to the public hack business and that this is one strong and unassailable argument in favor of reduced rates of fare for all classes of vehicles operating for public hire.

"It has been the experience of a number of industries in this country that a reduction of excessive rates has induced so much new business that the apparent loss occasioned by the reduction has been overcome and the profit of the business increased; and we see no reason to doubt that the rates fixed in the proposed ordinance will result in a reasonable profit to those furnishing the service."

If the ordinance was adopted, the committee pointed out, two general objects would be accomplished; first, all hack stands in the city would be open to public hackmen on equal terms, thus eliminating private stands and, second, the existing rates would be reduced. The committee further stated that if the regulations were rigidly enforced the character of the general hack service throughout the city would be improved. Regarding the abolition of private stands the committee wrote:

"Under existing conditions by far the larger part of the taxicab business in this city is done by companies operating from private stands, which the taxicabs of other companies are not permitted to use, such private stands being located in front of hotels, restaurants, clubs, and apartment houses. As is well known, these taxicab companies pay large sums for this privilege to the owners of the premises in front of which the private stands are located. It is safe to say that the sum thus paid amounts to not less than $500,000 annually.

"If private stands be abolished, the companies now operating them will be compelled, if they continue in business, to take out public licenses to operate under the same conditions generally as public hacks do at the present time, except in cases where telephone requests are made to them at their garages for their services."

The ordinance provides that all public hacks must be licensed by the Mayor's Bureau of Licenses, the fee to be $5 for each cab, $10 for each coach, and $25 for each sightseeing car. Drivers must also obtain a license at a cost of $1.50 for each renewal.

YONKERS BONDS DON'T SELL

Local Bank the Sole Bidder, and for Only a Part of the Issue.

Special to The New York Times.

Deep-seated feeling against the present city government of Yonkers is being voiced because of the great difficulty in disposing of the last issue of city bonds, which were advertised at 4½ per cent., with practically no takers, when they were offered for sale yesterday.

The bonds aggregated $325,000, consisting of $50,000 water refunding bonds, $24,000 fire equipment bonds, $126,000 public school bonds, $5,000 hospital bonds, and $120,000 assessment bonds.

The sole bidder was the People's Savings Bank, which bid for the water refunding bonds and fire equipment bonds, a total of $74,000, for which it offered par and accrued interest. This bank was also the only bidder at the last sale, March 18, when bonds aggregating $397,000 were offered, the People's Bank buying part of the issue, amounting to $120,000.

Controller Miller said that the present condition of the money market necessitates a 5 per cent. rate in order to sell bonds readily, but opponents of the city administration say that the finances of the city have been brought to their present condition by mismanagement, and that the reason the bonds will not sell is because they are not a safe investment. Other cities, however, have had a similar experience on account of the tightness of the money market.

At the above place and time the bids will be publicly opened and read. Pamphlets containing information for bidders and contract drawings can be obtained at the above address by depositing the sum of ten dollars ($10) for each pamphlet. For further particulars see Information for Bidders.

CHARLES STRAUSS, President;
CHARLES N. CHADWICK,
JOHN F. GALVIN,
Commissioners of the Board of Water Supply.
JOSEPH P. MORRISSEY, Secretary.

COMMODITIES MARKETS

Wheat prices showed some irregularity and closed ¼ to ⅜c. net lower. Corn declined from the opening advances, closing unchanged to ⅛c. net lower. Oats showed little change and final prices were ⅛c. to ¼c. net lower. Cotton prices again reached new low level figures on this movement, with closing prices showing net losses of from 12 to 16 points.

⁂

WHEAT.

In face of strong cables and large export sales, wheat prices had an easier trend yesterday, and after some irregularity closed ¼ to ⅜c net lower. The foreign news had its greatest effect at the opening, when it advanced domestic prices about ⅛c to ⅜c per bushel. It was then replaced as an influence in the market by bearish Western crop and weather news, which continued as a controlling factor until early afternoon, when the market responded to damage talk from Kansas, followed by weakness again near the close under liberal commission house selling and May liquidation. Advances abroad included ⅛d to ⅝d at Liverpool, ¼d to ⅜d on late positions at Paris in face of improved weather, ½c to 1c at Berlin, and ¼c at Budapest. There was an increase of 2,816,000 bushels in the European visible, but a decrease of 1,191,000 bushels in world's stocks, compared with 1,580,000 bushels increase a year ago. Predictions for rain in Kansas gave rise to some better reports from that State, and the weather in other parts of the belt was very favorable. Chinch bugs were reported at Wilbur, Neb., but bears claimed that chinch bug talk at this time is premature, on the idea that the old bug never does any injury, but that the eggs they deposit may cause injury in June if it is very dry. The export reports come from Duluth, where it was said that 400,000 bushels had been taken. Business at other points increased the total according to local estimates to about 75 loads. There was also a good milling demand at Minneapolis again, with some outside buying. A local crop expert wired from Missouri that condition was in the nineties, and no prospect of any abandonment. He figured that the crop may be around 35,000,000, or one-half more than last year. Late reports of ice conditions in the Soo showed little prospect of wheat getting through for several days. Locally, No. 2 red wheat was quoted at $1.14½ nominal elevator, and $1.16 nominal free on board afloat; No. 1 Northern Duluth $1.01¾ free on board, afloat opening navigation.

CORN.

At times the corn market was quite firm, selling up ¼c to ⅜c over the close, but with the late drop in wheat and selling by elevator interests the market worked off in the afternoon, closing unchanged to ⅛c net lower. Except that rain was predicted, weather news continued favorable from all parts of the belt. There was some early buying by cash houses and reports of a fair cash demand. Through a change in Chicago stocks the visible supply was corrected to read 4,339,000 bushels decrease, instead of 5,016,000 bushels, as announced yesterday. At Liverpool there was an advance of ⅜d to ½d, due in part to unfavorable weather in the Argentine. Export corn here was quoted at 63½c, nominal, free on board, afloat.

OATS.

There was not much change in oats, and the market ruled fairly steady all day, closing ⅛ to ¼c net lower. Receipts were larger and crop prospects favorable, but there was a fair cash demand. Cash oats here closed steady, as follows: Standard white, 41c, nominal; No. 3, 40 to 40½c; No. 4, 39 to 39½c; natural white, 38 to 41c; white clipped, 39 to 43c, all track.

PROVISIONS.

After an easier opening provisions rallied on support from packers, but again eased off with grain and under selling by commission houses, partly due to large Western receipts and easier hogs. Chicago had 12,000 hogs and expected 24,000 on Wednesday. Receipts at Kansas City were 15,000; Omaha, 10,000, and the West, 71,000.

COTTON.

The cotton market was weak and unsettled yesterday, with prices selling into new low ground for the movement and at the lowest level reached since last Autumn under heavy offerings for both accounts. The close was steady, but at the lowest level of the day, and from 12 to 16 points under the final figures of last night. Business was more active than for some time past and selling was general, particularly in the late trading, when there were rumors than straddling long accounts were being liquidated in the near months, and when sentiment was also influenced by reports of showers in the Southwest, talk of easier Southern spot markets, and apprehensions of labor troubles in Lancashire. Considerable attention was attracted by an easier turn in the Liverpool market just before the close there, and from this circumstance some of the local bears predicted that the English market after weeks of relative steadiness was taking a less favorable view of the situation.

The opening here was steady at an advance of 1 to 3 points on covering, reports of a serious break in the Mississippi levee between Greenville and Vicksburg, and in sympathy with rather better cables than looked for. There seemed to be considerable foreign buying here, but the market soon weakened, and while a slight rally preceded the publication of the weekly weather report, the lowest prices of the day were reached in the late trading.

The reports of threatened labor troubles in Lancashire came as rather a surprise to the local trade, for while recent mail advices have reported disputes, they have been optimistic as to the probability of a satisfactory adjustment. One of yesterday's cables, however, said that the feeling between employes and employers was bitter, and that there might be a serious strike. The activity of Lancashire has been one of the sustaining features, so that the unfavorable labor reports naturally intensified the bearish sentiment, based on favorable weather for the new crop start and cheerful private crop advices. The selling of old crop positions on the late break, however, was too general to have been altogether for long account, and an extension of the scattering short interest might become a source of considerable strength should liquidation slacken, or should the expected notices next Monday fail to cause weakness. Southern spot markets as officially reported were unchanged to ⅛c lower; generally unchanged. New Orleans claimed that there was a poor demand, and that spots were lower to sell. Additional overflows in the Mississippi Valley seemed to attract little attention, probably owing to a belief that the water would drain off in plenty of time to permit of planting.

The local market for spot cotton was quiet, with spot 10 points lower, at 12.05 for middling upland.

The range of contract prices in the local market was as follows:

COTTONSEED OIL.

Not only was business considerably less active yesterday, but after a steadier opening the oil market sold off quite sharply, and closed rather easy, at 1 to 4 points net decline. Pressure in the afternoon was increased by the decline in lard, and there was a noticeable falling off in outside demand. Crude remained steady, however, and sentiment did not appear to be materially affected by the late heaviness in the market.

COFFEE.

Prices started 1@5 points higher, and, with few setbacks, continued to gain, closing near top, 11@14 points up. Total sales, 93,500 bags. Havre closed ½f net higher, while Hamburg was ¼ pfennig down to ¼ pfennig up. Operators note the very small amount of coffee afloat from Brazil to the United States. The afloats are 98,000 bags, compared with 413,000 bags last year, and only 14,000 bags are Santos en route for New York.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks Close at Decline After Early Strength—Bond Prices Firmer.

Trading in stocks was as dull in the afternoon yesterday as it had been in the morning the previous day. During the early dealings, when a fair degree of activity was shown, the advance which set in after midday on Monday was continued, but the dullness later in the session was accompanied by a dragging price movement which left the general level of quotations at the close a small fraction below Monday's final prices. The loss was so small as to be in itself insignificant, but prices yielded in a way which left no semblance in yesterday's dealings of the vigor which was displayed during the last two hours of trading on Monday. The action of the market bore out the impression which has been created by the events of the week's opening session that the advance at that time did not bespeak a belief that the fundamentals of the situation had changed in any way, but rather that respite had been granted in some of the situations which had exerted a restrictive influence. At the same time, importance was legitimately attached to the fact that forces are at work which are making for an easier monetary situation so far at least as short time credits are concerned, and the bond market again yesterday found some support in this fact. Prices in that department of the security markets were firmer, and such incidents as the numerous inquiries for the remaining bonds of the recent St. Paul issue suggested that a little more interest in the bond market on the part of investors was being aroused. Doubtless there are many who feel justified in taking the view that even should bond prices go somewhat lower present opportunities are nevertheless worth profiting by, showing as they do a substantial increase in the yield which can be obtained on high-grade bonds compared with quotations prevailing no long time back.

Standing out conspicuously among the movements in special issues and necessarily commanding much attention was the further decline in New York, New Haven & Hartford on no large volume of trading which carried its price down about three points, to 110¾, the lowest price at which the stock has sold since the establishment of the system under the name of the New York, New Haven & Hartford. The belief that the dividend on the road's stock would be cut from the prevailing rate of 8 per cent. was strengthened recently by an official statement from the New Haven which discussed the effects of a reduction in the road's dividend rate to 6 per cent., and this expectation has of course been a general influence in shaping the course of the stock for some time past. A more acute influence yesterday was the impression created by the proceedings in the investigation of the affairs of the New Haven Road which the Inter-State Commerce Commission is now carrying on. According to the advices from Boston, where the inquiry is being held, the New Haven's methods of accounting and its relations with numerous subsidiary and interrelated corporations came in for criticism on the ground of being unnecessarily intricate and as possibly rendering it difficult to determine the exact status of the New Haven's finances. As reported, the proceedings did not appear to be following entirely judicial methods, and the facts may have been presented in one-sided fashion, but they served at the same time to create an adverse impression which found reflection in the day's movement in the price of the company's shares. Speaking of the New Haven situation broadly it may be said that the policy of monopolization which the management has pursued is now being put to a searching test.

It appeared yesterday that Monday's dispatches from St. Paul announcing that an extension of time had been granted to the Union Pacific did not refer to final action in the matter, but to an expression from the United States Circuit Court favorable to such an extension. It rests with the Supreme Court, it appears, to grant a longer period within which to comply with the decision in this case, but with the Circuit Court certifying to the fact that the railroad has used due diligence in the matter, and with the Attorney General expressing approval of the proposal to grant the railroad an extension from May 10 to July 1, it was not felt yesterday that there was much doubt about the Supreme Court granting the extension. Southern Pacific was weak, not because of concern on this point, but rather because of the general outline of its requirements which was made public by the Circuit Court at St. Paul. That was accepted as precluding the carrying out of the proposals which were made to the court in tentative form by the Union Pacific's representatives. It did not appear from anything the court suggested in its memorandum that there would be objection to granting ample time for the actual liquidation of the Union Pacific's holdings of Southern Pacific. It did appear, however, that effective preclusion of the Union Pacific's shareholders retaining as individuals the interest in the Southern Pacific which is now held by the Union Pacific as a corporation would have to be provided in such a plan as the Circuit Court seems to require, and as the Government will probably insist upon.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Investment Buying Nil.

Investment buying of stocks has been practically at a standstill since the result of the St. Paul bond offering was made public. Brokers reported little enough of this sort of business before the new price standard for a stable mortgage bond was set by the St. Paul's transaction, and the shrinkage to zero, or thereabout, of purchases of income-bearing shares has been a factor of discouragement in some quarters of the Street this week. For investors to ignore even the shares of best repute as payers of dividends is nothing more than the natural consequence of a falling bond market. As a trader put it yesterday, "Bonds are bonds and stocks are stocks, and when the price is right for bonds an investor has no difficulty in seeing that interest is preferable to dividends." The trader was moved to this soliloquy by the fact that speculative effort in the market was, at the moment, as dead as investment business, and it seemed to him that the absence of accumulation of the genuine order had acted to curb buying on the long side.

Banks Want Short Term Paper.

The banks are buying considerable more commercial paper than they were a fortnight ago, owing to the increasing ease of money, and brokers in mercantile notes say they would buy on a still more extensive scale if more paper of short maturity was in the market. The ordinary period is six months, which brings payment on notes issued at the present date late in October. The banks do not want to tie up even a fair proportion of their available funds for a length of time which will carry through the harvesting operations of the early Fall when money will be in demand at rates likely to be high this year, according to bankers who put out a great deal of time money. A commercial broker said yesterday that, while the banks were desirous of investing in paper maturing at thirty and sixty days, they were not willing to shade rates a trifle in order to get it. On the other hand, some bankers thought that brokers should clip a fraction from their flat commission rate of one-quarter of 1 per cent. in order to stimulate the issue of notes of short maturity, while the discount figures should remain on the prevailing basis.

Lackawanna Steel Dividend.

The estimated earnings of the Lackawanna Steel Company in the first quarter of the year were large enough to warrant talk of an increase of the dividend when Directors meet later in the week. It is generally expected, however, that a payment of 1 per cent. will be ordered, as at the last meeting of the board, and that this figure will be designated as the regular quarterly return to shareholders. An initial dividend of 1 per cent. was declared last January, without any provision being made as to disbursements in the future. The company in the first three months of the year operated on a basis which promised a net income for the year equivalent to something like 11 per cent. on the $34,728,000 common stock. There is only $1,000,000 preferred, of an authorized issue of $10,000,000 outstanding, the balance being held in the company's treasury for the conversion of $10,000,000 5 per cent. debenture bonds. The issue of debentures falls due on March 1, 1915.

The Distribution of Trading.

In the first two hours of Monday's session on the New York Stock Exchange business was very quiet, with a total of only 59,000 shares traded in, but as the day advanced activity became more pronounced, and the day's total was fairly satisfactory—225,000 shares. Yesterday the conditions were reversed, with most of the trading in the early hours, and, by an odd coincidence, the transactions for the last two hours, were just 59,000 shares. The total for the session yesterday was within 10,000 of that for Monday.

Baltimore & Ohio in March.

The first earnings statement issued by any of the trunk line systems whose territory was involved in the floods was made public yesterday by the Baltimore & Ohio. Business was interrupted by high water on March 25, so that the March figures reflect one week's losses. Gross receipts for that month were $7,789,000, against $8,142,000 for the third month of 1912, a decrease of $352,000, and the net $1,522,000, a decrease of $1,009,000. But for the flood the Baltimore & Ohio might have shown an increase of $700,000 in net for March, judging by the early indications. Notwithstanding the March decrease, the company's gross earnings for the first nine months of the fiscal year were $7,568,000 above those for the corresponding period of 1912-13, while the net increased $981,000.

Big Drop in New Haven.

If there were any assurance in the company's long and honorable dividend record that the present rate would be maintained for a few years to come, New Haven stock would offer an attractive investment opportunity at the prevailing quotations. In making a new low record at 110¾ yesterday the stock sold on a 7.2 per cent. income basis. At the close New Haven, an 8 per cent. issue, was less than three points above St. Paul, which pays but 5 per cent.

⁂

Bonds in Demand.

The bankers who handled the St. Paul bond issue are still receiving orders, although the price has been advanced one-quarter of a point. It is said that there are practically none of these securities in the hands of dealers. The margin of profit to a dealer is so small on an offering of high-class railroad bonds, which are wholesaled at ¼ under the public offering price, that he cannot afford to distribute them through his salesmen in the usual way, which involves canvassing among widely scattered investors, who may want from one to five bonds.

Our Demand for Wool Restricted.

LONDON, April 22.—There was a large attendance at the opening of the third series of wool auction sales here to-day. A good selection of 12,302 bales brought out spirited competition, and the offerings were quickly sold at steady prices. The American demand was restricted, owing to uncertainties regarding the American "tariff."

BOURSES OF EUROPE

English Rails Higher in London—Prices Irregular in Paris and Berlin.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Wednesday, April 23.—The Times in its City article to-day will say:

"Money was rather less abundant, owing to preparations for making up the monthly Bank balance sheets. The supply, however, was ample, and rates were unaltered. Discount quotations were at first weak at Monday's level, but soon hardened again, bills being in rather better supply. Continental exchanges moved against London.

"There was a thin attendance on the Stock Exchange, and business in consequence was on a smaller scale than ever in most departments. Nevertheless, there were several items of interest. The home railway market was quiet but buoyant, buyers finding the floating supplies of stock very small. There was an appreciable rise in prices. It also appeared that rather more business was passing in South African shares; the tone of that market was good. On the other hand, Indian Government sterling loans were very much depressed, owing to the appearance of the new Indian Railway guaranteed loan. The American market reflected the firmer tone of Wall Street on the previous day. A further rise was recorded in Canadian Pacific shares.

"It is generally anticipated that loans for Stock Exchange purposes will be obtainable to-day at 4¼ per cent., as contrasted with 5 per cent. at the last settlement."

PARIS, April 22.—Prices were irregular on the Bourse to-day.

Three per cent. rentes, 86f. 50c. for the account.

BERLIN, April 22.—The Boerse closed steadier after an irregular opening to-day.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

The action of the market on the Consolidated Stock Exchange was decidedly disappointing to those who had expected continued improvement in view of the activity and advance in prices in the closing dealings on Monday. While there was some activity early, the trading soon flattened out. In the afternoon the tone was heavy, with prices gradually working lower. Pittsburgh Coal changed hands at 20, representing the only market for that stock in Wall Street during the day. At the start of business on the 9:30 o'clock call prices quite generally reflected small fractional advances compared with Monday's closing quotations.

Typefounders Increasing Capital.

Stockholders of the American Type Founders Company yesterday voted to increase the preferred stock from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000. Directors of the company will meet on April 29 to declare a scrip dividend which may be applied to purchase of the new stock at par. The company will have outstanding with the newly authorized issue $7,000,000 capital in common and preferred stock.

A Savings Bank Bond
5.10% Income

We are offering the first mortgage sinking fund bonds of an electric street railway company which is operating without competition in a state capital.

This company has a notable record of success over a period of years. The bonds are thoroughly seasoned and have been exceedingly stable in price. The earnings have shown a rapid and steady increase and are now at the rate of over three times the bond interest. The mortgage is closed.

The control of the company is vested in a group of men whose management is recognized as a synonym for success.

These bonds are a legal investment for Maine Savings Banks.

Logical Reasons

For two reasons we investigate most thoroughly every company the securities of which we offer to investors.

FIRST—Because we always purchase the control of those companies outright and must for our protection have complete knowledge of their condition.

SECOND—Because when we offer to the public securities of those campanies we wish to be able to furnish absolutely trustworthy data regarding them.

FIGHT OF CREDITORS OVER BANKRUPTCY

Reserve Bank Unsecured by New York Commercial Co. Wants Schedules Investigated.

ASSETS FOR OTHER LOANS

Contest of Opposing Interests Over the Appointment of a Trustee Expected at Coming Meeting.

There is likely to be a contest over the election of a trustee in bankruptcy for the New York Commercial Company when the creditors' meeting is held on Friday. The meeting has been called by John J. Townsend, referee, at his office, 45 Cedar Street, at noon.

The company, which did a large importation and commission business in rubber, became involved in February, and a committee of creditors was formed consisting of Gates W. McGarrah, President of the Mechanics' and Metals Bank; James G. Cannon, President of the Fourth National; Walter E. Frew, President of the Corn Exchange; R. M. Galloway, President of the Merchants' National, and W. B. Donham, Vice President of the Old Colony Trust Company of Boston. At that time there was some expectation that the company might avoid failure.

The McGarrah committee invited the deposit of claims and a large number were deposited. Many of the creditors were banks which held unsecured notes of the company, which had been sold for years in the commercial paper market.

When the company went into bankruptcy on April 12 its liabilities were shown to be about $5,000,000, consisting of secured liabilities of approximately $3,000,000, unsecured indebtedness of about $1,300,000, and liabilities as indorsers for about $700,000. The value of the collateral held by secured creditors was set forth as about $2,500,000.

Among the unsecured creditors was the National Reserve Bank, and its Vice President, Frank V. Baldwin, has sent a circular letter to other unsecured creditors suggesting concerted action in the election of a trustee as against the committee representing both secured and unsecured creditors. Those who have given power of attorney to the committee are asked to cancel it, giving a fresh power of attorney to Mr. Baldwin.

"It appears to us," says the National Reserve Bank circular, "that it is essential to the promotion of our mutual interests that the facts and circumstances under which security, stated in the bankrupt's schedules to be of the value of about $2,500,000, was delivered within a comparatively recent period. It should be examined distinterestedly in every detail. This investigation will be one of the duties of the trustee when elected. He should, therefore, be one whose interest will be entirely that of bringing together the largest amount of assets for general distribution.

"In or about the month of February of this year officers of banks which, in so far as they are creditors of this bankrupt, are secured, constituted themselves a creditors' committee and invited the deposit of claims with them. Now that a petition in bankruptcy has been filed, we believe that unsecured creditors who have heretofore deposited claims with this committee should assert the right to act in such manner as they may see fit in regard to proving and voting upon their claims, in view of the fundamental alteration of circumstances. Because of the facts above set forth, we do not believe that this committee will have primarily in mind the selection of a trustee who will look first of all to the promotion of the welfare of the unsecured creditors, and as their interest is most urgently in need of protection in this matter, we believe a more independent choice should be made.

"There are over one hundred banks alone which are unsecured creditors, generally throughout New England and the North Central States. Approximately 10 per cent. only of such creditors are located in New York City. It is because there would apparently otherwise be no concerted action on the part of these numerous and widely separated creditors that we have taken it upon ourselves to effect some kind of organized effort by them. We wish to secure the selection as trustee of this estate one of the highest standing, who will be absolutely disinterested, and one not nominated by the secured creditors, and we trust that you will agree with us in believing that our course is warranted under all of the circumstances."

BANK MERGER DOUBTFUL.

Rumored Consolidation of Many Trust Companies Quite Premature.

A report yesterday that a group of seven men associated with a number of private banking houses in Wall Street had undertaken the merging of nine trust companies into one institution, which was to have a capital of $8,000,000 and deposits of $80,000,000, was characterized as "premature" by several of the men named. Inquiry among the companies supposed to be in line for consolidation decidedly bore out their statement.

The committee which is supposed to have the merger in charge consists of G. Hunter Brown, Frederick Bull of Edward Sweet & Co., Bayard Dominick, Jr., of Dominick & Dominick, W. H. T. Huhn of Philadelphia, A. L. Humes, a lawyer at 24 Broad Street; George E. Turnure of Lawrence Turnure & Co., and Arthur E. Winter of Winter, Son & Co. It developed that the committee had not obtained an option on the stock of any of the companies concerned, and had not approached a number of the trust companies supposed to be among the nine which were to be acquired. The Presidents of several of these institutions said that they had not been consulted and would not consider union along the lines proposed.

At the office of the largest trust company, around which the merger was to be arranged, according to the gossip, it was said that one of the committee had suggested the possibility of acquiring control, but had received no encouragement, and that the proposal was not taken seriously.

CONTINENTAL TRUST PLAN.

New Arrangement Will Provide More Cash with Less Capital.

S. Davies Warfield, President of the Continental Trust Company of Baltimore, announced yesterday the terms of a modified reorganization plan for the International Cotton Mills Corporation. It provides that the new company shall receive approximately $7,925,000 from bankers and the preferred stock syndicate. The present stockholders will have a prior right to buy the preferred stock. The new capital is to be obtained through the sale of $4,000,000 five-year 6 per cent. notes of the new company, $3,000,000 7 per cent. cumulative preferred stock and an equal amount of common stock, $1,000,000 7 per cent. cumulative preferred stock of the J. Spencer Turner Company, and $600,000 as the proceeds of the purchase by the bankers of securities now owned by the International Corporation.

The bankers are Blair & Co., Lee, Higginson & Co., and the managers of the preferred stock syndicate Robert F. Herrick and Edwin Farnham Greene of Boston.

The plan as now formulated will produce approximately $1,250,000 more cash than the original one, and will involve $2,000,000 less capitalization.

The present stockholders will have the privilege of subscribing to the $3,000,000 7 per cent. preferred stock of the new company and a like amount of the common stock for $3,000,000.

CONVERTING PRUNDENTIAL.

Court Directs Publication of Notice of Mutualization Plans.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., April 22.—Preceding the formal application to be made June 10 for the appointment of appraisers, preliminary application was made before Chancellor Walker to-day to carry out the plans for the mutualization of the Prudential Insurance Company.

The court directed that before the formal application was made the stockholders, policy holders, and the State Banking and Insurance Commissioner should be notified, this notification to be by publication in a newspaper in the capital of every State in the United States and also in the Provinces of Canada.

A Standard Safe Investment

First mortgages on improved real estate have been a standard safe investment for centuries. Dividing up such a mortgage into an issue of First Mortgage Bonds does not lessen the safety of the mortgage, and makees it available for sums of any size.

We offer first mortgage real estate bonds secured by the highest class of improved city property, in denominations of $100, $500, $1,000 and $5,000, netting 5½ to 6 per cent.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Unseasonably warm weather prevails generally over the great central valleys and the districts east thereof, while much colder weather has overspread the Rocky Mountain and plateau regions, with snow Tuesday night in the mountain districts of Colorado, Wyoming, and Montana.

There were rains in the last twenty-four hours in the region of the Great Lakes, the plains States, and the Rocky Mountain region.

In all other parts of the country the weather remained fair.

Pressure is abnormally high over the East and Southeast, and over the Far Northwest, and it is much below normal over the plains States and the South Rocky Mountain region.

The disturbance that now covers the plains States and the Rocky Mountain region will move slowly eastward, attended by showers and thunderstorms and high shifting winds over the great central valleys, the lake region, and the Gulf States, during the next thirty-six hours, and will be followed by considerably cooler weather in these regions during Thursday.

In the Middle Atlantic States and New England the weather will be cloudy Wednesday, followed by scattered rains Wednesday night or Thursday, while in the South Atlantic States the weather will be generally fair Wednesday and Thursday.

Warm weather will continue in the Atlantic States during the next two days.

Winds along the New England Coast will be moderate south and southwest; Middle Atlantic Coast, moderate south; South Atlantic Coast, moderate, except east on the Florida Coast.

Steamships departing Wednesday for European ports will have moderate south to west winds and overcast, showery weather to the Grand Banks.

FORECASTS FOR TO-DAY AND THURSDAY.

Eastern New York—Cloudy, probably showers in north portion Wednesday. Thursday showers, moderate south and southwest winds.

Southern New England—Cloudy Wednesday, probably followed by showers at night or on Thursday; moderate south winds.

New Jersey and Eastern Pennsylvania—Cloudy Wednesday. Thursday unsettled, probably showers; moderate south winds.

Western New York—Showers and thunderstorms Wednesday. Thursday showers and cooler, brisk and probably high south winds.

Northern New England—Cloudy, probably showers Wednesday and Thursday; moderate south winds.

The temperature record for the twenty-four hours ended at midnight, taken from the thermometer at the local office of the United States Weather Bureau, is as follows:

	1912.	1913.		1912.	1913.
3 A. M.	50	49	4 P. M.	56	66
6 A. M.	50	43	6 P. M.	51	65
9 A. M.	52	53	9 P. M.	54	63
12 M.	56	62	11 P. M.	56	60

This thermometer is 414 feet above the street level. The average temperature yesterday was 54; for the corresponding date last year it was 53; average on the corresponding date for the last thirty-three years, 51.

The temperature at 8 A. M. yesterday was 48; at 8 P. M. it was 64. Maximum temperature, 66 degrees at 3:30 P. M.; minimum, 43 degrees at 6 A. M. Humidity, 42 per cent. at 8 A. M.; 28 per cent. at 8 P. M.

The barometer at 8 A. M. yesterday registered 30.32 inches; at 8 P. M. it stood at 30.13 inches.

United States.

The United States Civil Service Commission announces an open competitive examination for associate physicist, qualified in metallurgy, for men only, to fill a vacancy in this position in the Bureau of Standards, Washington, D. C., at a salary of $2,200 a year, and vacancies as they may occur in positions requiring similar qualifications. It is desirable that applicants have a reading knowledge of French and German, and the applicant's qualifications in this respect should be fully set forth in his application.

Competitors will not be required to appear at any place for examination, but will be rated on the following subjects, which will have the relative weights indicated: General education and scientific training, 30; practical experience and fitness, 50; publications or thesis, 20.

An educational training equivalent to that required for the bachelor's degree from an institution of recognized standing is a prerequisite for consideration for this position. Under Subject 3, if a thesis is submitted it must represent the results of original investigational work on the part of the applicant in some phase of metallurgy. Statements as to training, experience, and fitness are accepted subject to verification. Applicants must have reached their twentieth birthday on the date of the examination. Under an act of Congress applicants for this position must have been actually domiciled in the State or Territory in which they reside for at least one year previous to the date of the examination, which is open to all men who are citizens of or owe allegiance to the United States, and who meet the requirements.

EDUCATION NOTES.

Two physicians for the examination of mentally defective children in the public schools will soon be appointed at a salary of $1,800 each a year. Their names will be taken from the eligible list certified by the Municipal Civil Service Commission. The receipt of applications for the examination for this position was begun by the commission yesterday, and will be continued until 4 P. M. on May 6. The examination will be held at 10 A. M. on May 26. The subjects and weights will be: Technical, 50; experience, 50. A rating of 75 per cent. will be required in the technical test, and a rating of 70 per cent. in all subjects. The candidates must be licensed to practice medicine in New York State. The duties of this position will require all of the time of the incumbent from 9 A. M. to 5 P. M. daily. The minimum age is 21 years.

The Board of Education this afternoon will hold a special meeting in memory of the late Patrick F. McGowan. Vice President John Greene, as Chairman of a special committee, will present an appropriate memorial, and brief addresses will be made by him, President Churchill, former President Winthrop, and other members of the board.

The Board of Superintendents has recommended the transfer of Principal Josephine E. Rogers from Public School 120, 536 East Twelfth Street, to new Public School 61, Twelfth Street, east of Avenue B, and of Elizabeth C. Reilly from Public School 34, Manhattan, to Public School 112, Brooklyn. It has also nominated Charles W. Pickells as assistant teacher of music in the Brooklyn Training School for Teachers, Frederick Siegel as teacher in charge of Evening Elementary School 20, Richmond, and Violet Coen as head of the trade department in the Manhattan Trade School for Girls.

The Evening High and Trade Schools will be closed for the season on May 14 and the evening recreation centres on May 10.

The New York Teachers' Relief Association will hold a meeting on the afternoon of April 29 at Public School 74, Manhattan.

It is probable that a woman will be appointed District Superintendent to succeed the late Seth T. Stewart.

A conference on the question of giving vocational instruction to pupils will be held in the Stuyvesant High School on the afternoon of April 29.

The annual exhibition of the work of the students of the New York Evening High School for Women will be held on Friday evening in the school building, East Forty-second Street, near Third Avenue.

City Superintendent Maxwell has given permission to elementary school Principals to allow their teachers to take pupils to parks, museums, &c., during school hours with the written consent of the parents. Referees' Sales

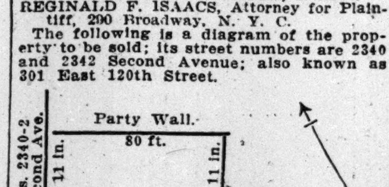
SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF NEW York, EMANUEL L. SPELLMAN, Plaintiff, against WILLIAM WOLF and others, Defendants.

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, duly made and entered in the above-entitled action and bearing date the 12th day of April, 1913, I, the undersigned, the referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction, at the Exchange Salesroom, Nos. 14-16 Vesey Street, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 8th day of May, 1913, at 12 o'clock noon on that day, by JOSEPH P. DAY, Auctioneer, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold, and therein described as follows: ALL those two certain lots, pieces or parcels of land, with the buildings thereon erected, situate, lying, and being in the Borough of Manhattan, in the City of New York, and bounded and described as follows: BEGINNING at a point on the corner formed by the intersection of the northerly side of One Hundred and Twentieth Street with the easterly side of Second Avenue, and running thence northwardly along the easterly side of Second Avenue forty (40) feet and eleven (11) inches; thence eastwardly and parallel with One Hundred and Twentieth Street and partly through a party wall, eighty (80) feet; thence southwardly and parallel with Second Avenue forty (40) feet and eleven (11) inches to the northerly side of One Hundred and Twentieth Street, and thence westwardly along the northerly side of One Hundred and Twentieth Street eighty (80) feet to the point or place of beginning; be the said dimensions more or less.

Dated, New York, April 15th, 1913.
THEODORE B. RICHTER, Referee.
REGINALD F. ISAACS, Attorney for Plaintiff, 290 Broadway, N. Y. C.

The following is a diagram of the property to be sold; its street numbers are 2340 and 2342 Second Avenue; also known as 301 East 120th Street.



The approximate amount of the lien or charge, to satisfy which the above-described property is to be sold, is Twelve Thousand and Thirty-six 66-100 ($12,036.66) Dollars, with interest thereon from the 10th day of April, 1913, together with the costs and allowance amounting to Four Hundred and Twenty-two 9-100 ($422.09) Dollars, with interest from April 14th, 1913, together with the expenses of the sale. The approximate amount of the taxes, assessments and water rates, or other liens, which are to be allowed to the purchaser out of the purchase money, or paid by the Referee, is One Hundred and Sixty-three ($163) Dollars and interest; also taxes which will become due on May 1st, 1913 estimated at Four Hundred and Thirty-four 40-100 ($434.40) Dollars and unpaid water meter bills; meter not fixed estimated at Fifty Dollars.

Dated, New York, April 15th, 1913.
THEODORE B. RICHTER, Referee.

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Bronx Corner, in Family Ownership for Eighty Years, Sold to Operators—Lenox Avenue Deal—Buyers on Long Island—Union Railway Wants 125th St. Franchise.

The Bronx Borough furnished an interesting deal yesterday in the sale of a large plot which has not changed hands for over eighty years. The property includes the southwest corner of Boston Road and 181st Street, a plot 114 by 125, which was sold for William H. Booth to the Land Realty Company. With adjoining property it was owned by the Booth family for the period stated. The new owners will improve the plot with stores.

John A. Steinmetz was the broker, and he also sold for John R. Hallet a plot, 25 by 100, on Parker Avenue, known as Lot 28, St. Raymond Park, to George Barthold.

Deal on Upper Lenox Avenue.

Sidney Samuels has increased his holdings on upper Lenox Avenue by purchasing from Louis Lese and others the plot, 50 by 85 feet, on the east side of Lenox Avenue, 24.11 feet south of 143d Street.

The buyer recently acquired in foreclosure proceeding the one-story theatre, 25 by 85 feet, adjoining the southeast corner of 143d Street, and now controls a plot 75 by 85 feet.

The Private Dwelling Market.

Charlotte Rosekrans has sold to Ennis & Sinnott, operators, 159 East Ninety-third Street, a three-story dwelling on a lot 14 by 61.5 feet, located 36 feet east of Lexington Avenue.

Samuel D. Hollis has resold to a clinet of Pease & Elliman 105 West Sixty-ninth Street, a four-story and basement dwelling, on a lot 19 by 100.5.

Recent Buyers.

The Roffler Construction Company is the buyer of the dwelling 52 East Seventy-eighth Street, sold recently by Mary R. Haines, who gave the property in part payment for the Aronare apartment house, at 504 to 510 West 111th Street.

Bronx.

Kurz & Uren, Inc., sold for Benenson Realty Company 790 and 792 Courtlandt Avenue, two three-story flats with stores, to Morton Green.

An investor has purchased from Frank D. Wagner 751 Jackson Avenue, a five-story flat on a lot 25 by 77 feet.

Brooklyn.

John F. Burke sold for B. C. Armroyd a plot 50 by 100 feet on the south side of Thirty-ninth Street, 50 feet west of Sixth Avenue. The purchaser is an investor.

Long Island.

Mrs. Cornelia Fuciginas has sold to Frederick A. Baker of Brooklyn her estate at Amityville, L. I., known as Shore Acres. This property has a large frontage on Bay View Avenue. The buyer will make extensive improvements and occupy. Bingham & Fitzgerald negotiated the sale.

Payson McL. Merrill has sold for the Hewlett Bay Company an acre of land on the north side of Meadow View Avenue at Hewlett, to John C. Greenleaf, who will erect a house for occupancy.

T. B. Ackerson & Co. has sold at Brightwaters a semi-bungalow on the north side of Hiawatha Drive, 100 feet west of Peters Boulevard, on a plot 100 by 155, in The Pines, to Hattie A. Iffla., and a bungalow on the east side of Pine Acres Boulevard, 200 feet north of Howells Road on a plot 70 by 140, to David J. O'Connell, in Pine Terraces.

Investor Buys New Jersey Hotel.

Ernest Gehlet has purchased for investment the Central Hotel at Farmingdale, N. J., and about 150 acres of land adjoining. The property is on the road leading to Lakewood. William R. Moore negotiated the sale.

Dwellings Leased.

F. R. Wood-W. H. Dolson Company have leased for David H. Miller, as committee of the estate of Walter T. Miller, the three-and-a-half-story and basement dwelling 314 West 104th Street, to James M. B. Drummond for a term of years.

J. B. English has leased for George P. Doherty and Edwin C. Hoff for a term of years premises 109 West Forty-eighth Street to F. K. and M. E. G. Schilling, and also, in conjunction with John J. Clancy Company, the dwelling 334 West Fifty-eighth Street.

Developing Flushing Creek.

The Chamber of Commerce of the Borough of Queens has called a meeting of property owners along Flushing Creek for 4 P. M. to-day in the chamber rooms on Queensboro Bridge Plaza, Long Island City. Chairman F. R. Russell of the Commerce Committee in discussing the improvement of Flushing Creek, yesterday, said: "The National, State and city governments are all willing and anxious to improve this stream and make it a more important commercial waterway, and it only awaits the action and approval of the abutting property owners to bring this about.

The National Government has appropriated $225,000 for dredging the stream; the State of New York has ceded to the City of New York all right and title it had to the bed of Flushing Bay and Flushing Creek, and also appropriated sufficient money to pay for a survey of the proposed canal between Flushing Bay and Jamaica Bay.

It is now up to the property owners to come to an agreement in regard to the exchanging of land to carry out this improvement, and it is very important that every property owner be represented at this meeting."

Union Railway Wants New Franchise.

The Union Railway Company of the Borough of the Bronx has applied for a franchise to run its cars over the Willis Avenue Bridge and through 125th Street to Fort Lee Ferry. Harlem property owners and storekeepers on 125th Street have indorsed the plan. The Union Company's cars now run to 135th Street and Eighth Avenue, 128th Street and Third Avenue and across Central Bridge, stopping at the 155th Street Station of the elevated railroad.

Residence for J. W. Clark.

Plans have been filed for a new five-story private residence for J. William Clark at 49 East Sixty-eighth Street, adjoining the northwest corner of Park Avenue, on a lot fronting 25 feet. The facade will be of brick and marble in the Colonial style of architecture. The cost has been placed at $60,000. Trowbridge & Livingston are the architects.

Grade Crossing Hearing.

The Public Service Commission has ordered hearings to be held by Commissioner Williams, May 14th, to determine whether all grade crossings on the Atlantic Avenue Division of the Long Island Railroad from the end of the present elevated structure to the westerly end of the Jamaica improvement should be eliminated.

1913 Tax Bills Ready.

The 1913 land tax bills have been completed by the Finance Department and are now ready for distribution. Payments, however, cannot be made before May 1, when the first half of the bill or the whole tax may be paid, thus receiving a rebate on the second half, which is not due until November, at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum.

Failure to pay the first half of the tax during May, however, will add interest on the amount due from May 1, at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum.

$259,390 for Queens Buildings.

Records of the Building Bureau of the Borough of Queens show that plans for work, estimated to cost $259,390, were filed last week. There were eighty-eight applications for new buildings of an estimated cost of $214,607; forty-one applications for alterations of an estimated cost of $16,620, and forty applications for plumbing permits of an estimated cost of $28,163.

The large majority of the applications of the week were for single dwellings in different parts of the borough of an average cost of $5,000. The speculative builders who have been taking out large numbers of permits for the last few months, have eased up on their operations apparently, and for the first time in nearly a year building permits showed a falling off and registered a lower figure than the corresponding week of last year.

Realty Notes.

A meeting of the North Side Board of Trade will be held in the Board Rooms, 137th Street and Third Avenue, this evening.

At the annual stockholders' meeting of Pease & Elliman, the following Directors were elected: Lawrence B. Elliman, W. Albert Pease, Jr., O. De Lancey Coster, Robert A. Granniss, Jr., Herbert A. Wildman, Francis S. Bancroft, Edward J. Van Winkle, Walter H. Williams, Cyril S. Stephenson, Jay A. Lee.

The Harlem Property Owners' Association will meet Thursday evening, at 147 East 125th Street.

The twelve-story apartment house at 615 Fifth Avenue, adjoining the Hotel Buckingham, between Forty-ninth and Fiftieth Streets, is to be remodeled into bachelor apartments at a cost of $7,500. The George Kemp Real Estate Company is the owner.

Arthur H. Cohen has leased for Patrick J. Frawley, the two-story garage at 536 and 538 West Forty-ninth Street to J. Kent Warden.

SURROGATE NOTICES.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK, BY THE GRACE OF GOD FREE AND INDEPENDENT, To Lexie Sutherland, Betsie Sutherland, Bella Sutherland Forbes, Marion Sutherland Munroe, Catherine Sutherland Downey, Christine Sutherland Rutherford, the sole heirs and next of kin of George Sutherland, deceased, SEND GREETING:

Whereas, James McNeill, of the City of New York, has lately applied to the Surrogate's Court of our County of New York, to have a certain instrument in writing, bearing date the 20th day of April, 1907, relating to both real and personal property, duly proved as the last Will and Testament of George Sutherland, late of the County of New York, deceased. Therefore, you and each of you are cited to appear before the Surrogate of our County of New York, at his office in the County of New York, on the 29th day of April, one thousand nine hundred and thirteen, at half-past ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, then and there to attend the probate of the said last Will and Testament.

And such of you as are hereby cited, as are under the age of twenty-one years, are required to appear by your guardian, if you have one, or if you have none, to appear and apply for one to be appointed, or in the event of your neglect or failure to do so, a guardian will be appointed by the Surrogate to represent and act for you in the proceeding.

In Testimony Whereof, we have caused the seal of the Surrogate's Court of the said County of New York to be hereunto affixed.

Witness, Hon. Robert Ludlow Fowler, a Surrogate of our said County of New York, at said County, the 3rd day of March in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and thirteen.

DANIEL J. DOWDNEY,
L. S. Clerk of the Surrogate's Court.
ISAAC JOSEPHSON,
Attorney for Executor, 5 Beekman Street, New York City.

Pursuant to an order of HON. WILLIAM A. SAWYER, Surrogate of Westchester County, New York, NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN pursuant to the provisions of Section 2664 of the Code of Civil Procedure that it is the intention of the undersigned to apply to the Surrogate of Westchester County, New York, for letters of administration upon the Estate of ISABELLE M. RUNYON, late of the City of Yonkers, Westchester County, New York.

AND NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN according to law to all persons having claims against said ISABELLE M. RUNYON, late of the City of Yonkers, Westchester County, New York, deceased, to present the same with vouchers thereof to the Surrogate of the said County of Westchester, at the Court House in the Village of White Plains, in said County, on or before the 26th day of May, 1913.

CHARLES RUNYON, JR., Petitioner.

PETTIT, WILLIAM B.—In pursuance of an order of Hon. Robert Ludlow Fowler, a Surrogate of the County of New York, notice is hereby given to all persons having claims against WILLIAM B. PETTIT, late of the County of New York, deceased, to present the same, with vouchers thereof, to the subscriber at his place of transacting business, No. 55 Wall Street, in the City of New York, on or before the 22d day of July next.

Dated New York, the 20th day of January, 1913. STEPHEN O. LOCKWOOD, Executor. CRANE & LOCKWOOD, Attorneys for Executor, 55 Wall Street, Borough of Manhattan, New York City.

BEULAH NO MARVEL, SAYS MUNSTERBERG

Harvard Professor Scouts Idea That Rhode Island Girl Has X-Ray Vision.

BELIEVES SIGNS AID HER

Fails Under Most Tests Unless Her Mother or Sister Is Present—Quackenbos Disputes Him.

Dr. Hugo Munsterberg, Professor of Psychology at Harvard University, who made a careful study of the case of Beulah Miller, the ten-year-old schoolgirl at Warren, R. I., gives for the first time in the May issue of The Metropolitan Magazine, which appears to-day, the conclusions at which he arrived. While admitting that the child possesses unusual psychic powers, Dr. Munsterberg scouts the theory that she is possessed of what is known as "X-ray vision," taking exception to the statements of some other scientists who have been interested in the experiments. In closing his article, which in a mild way might be termed an exposé, Dr. Munsterberg says:

"It it a pity how the community forces sensationalism, commercialism, and finally humbug and fraud on a simple little country girl, who ought to be left alone with her pet lamb in her mother's kitchen. Her gift is extremely interesting to the psychologist, and if it is not misused by those who try to pump spiritualistic superstitions into her little mind or to force automatic writing on her, it will be harmless and no cause for hysteric developments. But surely her art is entirely useless for any practical purpose. She cannot know anything which others do not know beforehand. Clairvoyant powers, or prophetic gifts, are not hers, and, above all, her mind reading is a natural process. The edifice of science will not be shaken by the powers of my little Rhode Island friend."

Opinion Surprises Queckenbosh.

Beulah Miller has been credited with the most remarkable powers, and Dr. Munsterberg asserts these wonders "grew with the geographical distance from Rhode Island." It has been said that she was able to name a card, lying face down, the denomination of which was known to no one, and also that she was able to tell the name of a stranger. Dr. John D. Quackenbos, the hypnotist and psychological searcher, vouched for the first statement, and when he was told last night of what Dr. Munsterberg had to say, reiterated his assertion that the child was possessed of "X ray vision." He was surprised, he said, to hear that Dr. Munsterberg put aside the theory, and also that the Harvard scientist wrote that the child was only able to read the thoughts of another when her mother or sister was with her. His experiments had proven such was not the case, he said.

Dr. Munsterberg begins his article with the statement that since the days when Mme. Eusapia Palladino stirred the country with her marvellous mystic powers, no case of psychical mystery has so engaged the interest of the Nation as that of Beulah Miller. He draws the contrast between the surroundings in which he found the Italian woman and the little girl, points out the claims which are made for the unusual powers possessed by Beulah Miller, and tells of her discovery by the Rev. H. W. Watjen, the family minister, and his friend, Judge Mason. From these facts and from the willingness of the child to submit to the most difficult tests he draws this conclusion:

"In short, everything indicated such perfect sincerity and the most careful examination yielded so absolutely no trace of intentional fraud that I can vouch for the honesty of the intentions of all concerned in the experiments carried on so far."

Relatives Must Know Tests.

The theory of chance coincidence, in an attempt to explain the "mind-reading" feats of the girl, was excluded, Dr. Munsterberg says, by the experiments he conducted. He explains these experiments in some detail, showing how the girl guessed the denomination of cards selected by him and known to her mother and sister. Words which had been selected she also told, but these she spelled out, letter by letter. In explaining this, he says:

"There is one explanation which offers itself most readily. We saw that in order to succeed, some one around her, preferably the mother and sister, who stand nearest to her heart, have to know the words or the cards. Those visual images must be in some one's mind, and she has the unusual power of being able to read them there. Such an explanation even seems to some a very modest claim, almost a kind of critical and skeptical view—a mere case of 'mind reading.' The judge and the minister, for instance, in accepting this idea of her powers felt conservative, as through it they disclaimed any belief in mysterious clairvoyance and telepathic powers."

Dr. Münsterberg holds, however, that there must be another explanation and adds.

"The psychologist would not necessarily be at the end of his wits if the developments of to-morrow proved that mind-reading in Beulah Miller's case, or in any other case, is a fact beyond a doubt. He might argue that all previous knowledge was based on a wrong idea and that, for instance, ether processes go on in the brain which can be transmitted from organism to organism, like wireless telegraphic waves, without the perception of the senses. But at least it is certain that this would involve a complete giving up of everything which scientists have so far held to be true. We cannot accept the theory of the apostles of the mind-reading until we know surely that Beulah Miller can receive communications which cannot possibly be explained with the means of science."

Dr. Münsterberg then advances the theory of "subconscious impressions," in which, he writes, the scientist finds nothing mysterious or supernatural. Summing up his argument he says:

Speaks of Unintended Signs.

"I am convinced that all the experiences with Beulah Miller may ultimately be understood through these two principles. She has unusual gifts and her performances are extremely interesting, but I think everything can be explained through her subconscious noticing of unintended signs. Where no signs are given which reach her senses, she cannot read anyone's mind. But the signs which she receives are not noticed by her consciously. She is not really aware of them; they go to her brain or to her subscious mind and work from there on her concious mind.

"What speaks in favor of such a skeptical view? I mention at first the fact which was absolutely proved by my experiments, namely, that Beulah Miller's successes turn into complete failures as soon as neither the mother nor the sister is present in the room. All the experiments which I have conducted in which I alone or I, together with the minister and the Judge, thought of words or cards or letters or numbers, did not yield better results than any one would get by mere guessing. In one series, for instance, in which we all three made the greatest effort to concentrate our minds on written figures, she knew the first number correctly only in two out of fourteen cases. The good results stop entirely when Beulah is blindfolded."

Dr. Münsterberg says that objection will probably be found by other investigators to his statement that the presence of the family was needed, and that Beulah had to be in direct communication with him. But that point his experiments established.

The theory of "unintended signs" is then explained by Dr. Münsterberg at some length. In summing up this argument he writes:

"This, indeed, reduces the situation to a rather simple scheme. She succeeds only if her mother or sister are present, and if her eyes are open, and she succeeds only with material which can be easily counted. A very short system of simple signs would thus be entirely sufficient to communicate everything which her mind-reading brings her.

"As to the particular signs, I do not feel sure. It would probably take months of careful examination before I should find them out, just as in Germany it has taken months for scholars to discover the signs which the owner of a trick horse made, from which the horse was apparently able to calculate. We have, therefore, nothing mysterious, nothing supernatural, before us, but an extremely interesting case of an abnormal mental development, and this unusual power working in an entirely naive and sincere mind."

Here is quite an opposite view taken by Dr. Quackenbos, after his experiments at his home in West Twenty-eighth Street:

"Hers is a true case of X-ray vision and is remarkable in many ways. I do not recall ever having read about such a case, much less observed one, and I have tested a great many so-called psychics and ultra-normal human beings in my time."

ACOUSTIC.

OVER 100,000 DEAF PEOPLE

are satisfied users of the Acousticon, and testify to its supremacy as an aid to perfect hearing. This original and most powerful of all hearing devices can now be instantly adjusted by the wearer to suit SIX different degrees of sound, and enables you to hear at home, in the office, the church or the theatre. This SIX-TONE adjustment marks the most useful and wonderful improvement that science and genius ever devised to aid hearing.

You are urgently invited to give this new sound-regulating Acousticon every test that you may choose entirely at our risk. We appreciate that a dissatisfied user can do us much harm, and you may be sure that if you do not hear you will not be asked to purchase. EIGHTEEN STOWAWAYS GO.

Christopher Columbus of New Jersey Arrives too Late to Save Them.

Christopher Columbus arrived at the Italian Steamship Line's offices in State Street at noon yesterday and told Bolognesi, Hartfield & Co., the agents, that he had journeyed from Jersey to Manhattan to pay the money that the Government demands before foreigners who stow away in ships can land on American soil. Those whom he desired to aid were eighteen Italians who arrived here in the Italian liner Napoli last week, all of them stowaways.

The Napoli brought 39,000 cases of lemons, and it was durin gthe unloading that the stowaways were discovered. Seven of them tried to escape, but were captured and brought back to the ship. Yesterday they started back to Italy on the Napoli at the expense of the Italian Line. Had they managed to land the line would have been liable to a fine of $1,000 for each one.

"I desire to pay the fine imposed by the Government," said Signor Christopher Columbus, "so that my unfortunate countrymen may have the chance to get a foothold in this land of the free and home of the brave. What is the amount demanded?"

"Signor Columbus," replied Mr. Hartfield, "I regret to inform you that the Napoli sailed an hour ago, and the eighteen are now at sea headed for their native land."

"Too bad; too bad," murmured Christopher Columbus as he left the office.

FRIEDMANN CALLS ON COL. ROOSEVELT

Just a Social Visit, Says Colonel—Wants Us to Treat a Friend, Doctor's Agent Says.

REPORTS THEIR INTERVIEW

"How About Cooley of Arizona?" "I've Treated Him." "Delighted!" —Dr. Benjamin Breaks Away.

A cordial meeting with Col. Theodore Roosevelt and an irreparable break with Dr. Harry Benjamin, his former chief assistant, contributed yesterday to what Dr. Friedrich Franz Friedmann described as a notable day in the American campaign for his tuberculosis cure. Requests for an account from Col. Roosevelt of what took place in The Outlook office when Dr. Friedmann called there met with the response from his secretary that it was solely a social affair. It was otherwise described by Dr M. A. Sturm, spokesman for Dr. Friedmann.

Dr. Sturm said Col. Roosevelt was eager to arrange for the treatment of an east side tuberculosis patient; that Col. Roosevelt assured Dr. Friedmann it would be an achievement if the turtle vaccine saved the lives of even a few sufferers; and that Dr Friedmann could feel assured of Col. Roosevelt's best wishes. Here is Dr. Sturm's account of how the meeting came about:

Col. Roosevelt wrote to Dr. Brannan of Bellevue Hospital about the invalid living on the east side, and Dr. Brennan communicated with Dr. Friedmann, with the result that the latter called at The Outlook office on Fourth Avenue, where Col. Roosevelt was entertaining his friend Col. William R. Nelson of The Kansas City Star. Col. Roosevelt tried his tongue at German, much to the delight of Dr. Friedmann, who averred he could understand almost everything Col. Roosevelt said. They fell to discussing Schiller and Goethe, and afterward the turtle cure.

"I wish you could treat my friend Col. Cooley of New Mexico," Col. Roosevelt is quoted as having said.

"I treated him in Providence," Dr. Friedmann announced.

"Delighted!" Col. Roosevelt exclaimed. "But there is also my friend Col. Apperson of Arizona."

"I've treated him, too," said Dr. Friedmann.

"Well, well,' commented Col. Roosevelt. He lapsed into English thereafter to talk about Dr. Friedmann's discovery, told of what a boon to humanity a tuberculosis specific would be, and hoped for the best in regard to the turtle vaccine.

Dr. Alexander Lambert, Col. Roosevelt's physician, entered the room, was introduced, and spoke of a friend whom Dr. Friedmann had treated in Providence a week ago. Dr. Lambert told of visiting his friend, who had come to this city and who expressed himself as feeling much better.

Dr. Friedmann said he was much impressed by Col. Roosevelt's energy and heartiness, and would try and treat the east side sufferer in whom the Colonel is interested.

Earlier in the day M. Eisner of the Eisner-Mendelsohn Company, that has been named as one of the drug concerns seeking a commercial alliance with Dr. Friedmann, called at the Hotel Ansonia, and the two men went to Lawyer Carl Schurz's office at 40 Wall Street, where they had a two hours' conference. When asked later if a contract had been entered into, Mr. Eisner said nothing definite would be done until Dr. Friedmann's stipulations could be met. These were that any commercial arrangements must include free treatment for the poor, that the vaccine must not be sold as a patent medicine, and that its administration be delegated exclusively to accredited physicians.

It was during Dr. Friedmann's absence from the hotel that the storm broke concerning Dr. Benjamin, who came to this country with Dr. Friedmann, and who has had sole authority from Dr. Friedmann to attend the patients treated with the turtle vaccine in the several hospitals where they are under observation by Government experts.

Dr. Sturm displayed an envelope which he said contained a letter from Dr. Friedmann dismissing Dr. Benjamin and requesting that he forward a written resignation. Dr. Sturm said there was $52 cash in the envelope, $50 of which was in payment of Dr. Benjamin's salary for a month and $2 expenses. The letter was to be delivered in hand to Dr. Benjamin, who had apartments at the Hotel Marseille, Broadway and 103d Street. Delivery had not been made up to 8 o'clock last night, when Dr. Benjamin made the following statement:

"Dr. Friedmann visited me on Monday morning at my hotel in order to find out how I was feeling from a temporary illness. Not a word was said about any possibility of discharging me as his assistant. After having paid me part of the money which he owed to me he left. On the evening of the same day I sent him a letter in which I said: 'The contrast between yourself and me as men and physicians has come to a climax where it becomes my duty to separate from you and cease being your assistant any longer. This I do herewith.'

"Part of the letter contained a demand for money due me from Dr. Friedmann. I do not like to say anything in particular about the money matter. Therefore, there cannot be any question about discharge. I have parted from Dr. Friedmann of my own free will and without his suggestion. For the same reason it would be senseless to discuss the reasons for my alleged discharge. The proof of the truthfulness of my statement is the following: I have received this afternoon the receipt of the above-mentioned registered letter to Dr. Friedmann asking for my release. The receipt was signed by him personally. Besides, I pledge my word that I have not received up to this time a letter from Dr. Friedmann nor the money due to me."

Dr. Benjamin referred to a short statement made by him and published in Monday's TIMES, which read in part:

> I do not care to give an opinion concerning the changes which I have observed in the patients treated with Dr. Friedmann's remedy. The time is too short to say anything of medical value and the final results would perhaps contradict my present statement. There are so many changes in tubercular patients that one must be very careful in deciding which ones should be attributed to the treatment and which should not.

Dr. Benjamin said Dr. Friedmann showed him a clipping containing the statement and asked if it were true. Dr. Benjamin said it was.

"Are you now of a different opinion concerning my treatment?" Dr. Friedmann asked.

"No," Dr. Benjamin replied. "This statement deals only with the cases so far treated in New York."

Dr. Benjamin is known to have confided to a friend as late as last Sunday that he was going to resign. His faith in the turtle vaccine still remains, but the methods employed in testing it are contrary to his ethical ideas.

Dr. Friedmann made no examination of patients in the Hospital for Deformities and Joint Diseases as planned yesterday, a conflict in the date of the appointment with Dr. Henry W. Frauenthal making combined work impossible. He will make another effort to-day.

SUFFRAGISTS' BIG NIGHT.

Actress and Prima Donna to Help Them at Metropolitan Pageant.

"A famous actress and a well-known prima donna" will take important parts in the suffrage pageant of May 2 at the Metropolitan Opera House, it was announced in the programme of the evening given out by the Woman Suffrage Party yesterday afternoon. The prima donna, who is said to be Mme. Nordica, will bring the evening to an effective close. Stepping out from the final tableau she will sing "The Star Spangled Banner," followed by other patriotic selections, in which the audience will join.

The evening will be opened by Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, the National suffrage President, who will introduce Col. Roosevelt. The orchestra for the occasion will be made up of seventy-five men and women, conducted by David Mannes, and will include his woman's orchestra. The orchestra will accompany the pageant with Wagnerian selections, chiefly from "Parsifal" and "Lohrengrin."

The pageant, "Dream of Freedom," will open with a prologue by Charles Hanson Towne, read by Mrs. Otis Skinner. The scenario, written by Mrs. Margaret Merriam Tuttle, will be given under the direction of Mrs. Raymond Brown and Mrs. Howard Mansfield, assisted by Stage Manager Siedle of the Metropolitan Opera House. Mrs. Florence Fleming Noyes will be Rhythmic Director. She will dance and light a torch at the altar of freedom, from whence it will be passed, flaming, from hand to hand. Maidens wearing garlands will dance around the altar. The "Palace of Truth" and "Mountain of Freedom" rise in the background. The "famous actress" appears here searching for the mountain of freedom. In the pageant forty-eight States will be represented, with Alaska and Hawaii, the suffrage States being emphasized.

Miss Inez Milholland will represent New York State. Mrs. Sarah Truax will be Justice, Beulah Hepburn and Diana York will represent two of the virtues, and other women appearing as States will be Mrs. Franklin P. Adams, Mrs. David Balch, Mrs. John Corbin, Inez Haynes Gillmore, Mary Stewart Cutting, Mrs. James Duane Livingston, Sarah Splint, Mrs. Paul West, Miss Keith Wakeman, Ethel Watts Grant, Countess Castlevecchio, Ruth Richmond, Mrs. Rupert Hughes, and Mrs. Arthur William Brown.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE RIVER TRIP.

Society to Take 1,200 Young Men and Women Up the Hudson.

A Decoration Day treat is to be given by the New York Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage to the young working girls of New York. They are invited to go on a trip up the Hudson on a big barge, on which will be an orchestra for dancing, and the entire trip, including luncheon and dancing, will cost only 35 cents. The girls can invite their young men friends to take them. They may devote themselves to having a nice time, for no one will offer them a single sheet of anti-suffrage literature. There will be no speeches, and the only thing anti-suffrage, aside from the executive officers who are going, will be the anti-suffrage banners.

There will be plenty of these, for the big barge is to be gayly decorated, not only with banners, but with many colors; even yellow may creep in, it is said, but no suffrage sentiment will creep in with it. No political lines will be drawn among the guests, and the girl with tendencies to suffrage may go along with her anti-suffrage friends if she likes, and she can dance as often and have just as good a luncheon as the anti-suffrage girl.

The boat will accommodate 1,500, but only 1,200 will be taken, to give plenty of room. No landing will be made. Tickets can be obtained at the headquarters of the State Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage, 35 East Thirty-ninth Street, and at the Annex, 428 Fifth Avenue. Mrs. K. B. Lapham is in charge of the excursion.

JOHN RILEY EXONERATED.

Had No Connection with Death of Neil J. Hickey, Autopsy Shows.

Coroner's Physician Timothy Lehane and Assistant District Attorney Theron R. Strong yesterday went to Binghamton, N. Y., to exhume the body of Sergt. Neil J. Hickey of Company D, Twelfth Regiment, N. G. N. Y. They performed an autopsy, which showed that his death was due to heart disease.

Hickey was found dead in the Twelfth Regiment Armory in West Sixty-sixth Street on March 11, and at that time Dr. Lehane declared that he had died of natural causes. Soon afterward, however, Mr. Strong was told that John Riley of 132 West Sixty-third Street had had a fight with Hickey some time before his death, and had been arrested on a charge of assault and discharged.

Mr. Strong asked Justice Seabury in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court for permission to perform an autopsy on Hickey's body, and its result absolutely clears Riley of any connection with Hickey's death.

DRUG KILLS DOCTOR, OVERCOMES WOMAN

Brooklyn Physician and Companion Found Unconscious from Morphine in Hotel.

AN ACCIDENT, SHE SAYS

As They Took Opiate to Sleep—Tells Police She Secretly Married Dr. Van Deinse.

Dr. William F. Van Deinse, Jr., 32 years old, of 1,820 Cornelia Street in the Ridgewood part of Brooklyn, and a woman, identified by the police as Madeline Hackett, 26 years, of Little Falls, N. J., were found overcome by an overdose of morphine yesterday evening at about 6 o'clock in a room on the third floor of the Belmore Hotel, 135 East Twenty-fifth Street. They were hurried to Bellevue Hospital, where the man died about an hour and a half later. The woman's condition was reported late last night as critical.

According to the police, George Rich, mnager of the Belmore Hotel, said that the couple went there on Monday night about 11 o'clock and registered as W. Baldwin and wife of Paterson, N. J. As neither of them was seen all day yesterday, a bellboy was sent to their room, and, getting no response after repeated knocks, returned and informed the manager. With employes of the hotel, Rich went to the room and forced an entrance.

The man and woman were found, both lying in bed, the man unconscious, and the woman in a stupor. When efforts to rouse them had failed, Patrolman Eaack, on post near the hotel, was called in, and he sent in a call for an ambulance to Bellevue Hospital, which was answered by Dr. Ende.

In the meantime Detective Stapleton, attached to the East Twenty-second Street Police Station, arrived at the hotel and started an investigation. After working with the woman, she was sufficiently revived by the doctor to tell him and the detective that the man was Dr. William F. Van Deinse, and to give his address.

The woman said she was the wife of Van Deinse, and told the police, with incoherence, that she and the doctor had been married secretly not very long ago on account of the opposition of their parents, and that they met each other before under similar conditions without the knowledge of their families.

According to the story that the woman told the police, the doctor after their marriage had continued his work, still living in Ridgewood Heights. On Monday evening they met each other in Manhattan and went to a theatre. After the performance they had supper and then went to the hotel. The woman said that they found they were unable to sleep, and the doctor suggested an opiate.

Having brought with him a satchel and instrument case, according to the woman, the doctor procured a hypodermic needle and, after giving the woman an injection, administered one to himself. She said that on his advice they both also took some tablets following the injection. Then they were able to sleep.

Among the possessions of the woman the police found some cards, with the name of Miss Madeline Hackett of Little Falls, N. J. On the back of one of these was written the address, 33 Market Street, Newark, N. J. The woman later told the detective that she had lived at that address. Asked who was her nearest relative, she gave the name of her father, John Hackett, 26 Ridge Avenue, Little Falls. She said she knew of no reason why the doctor should wish to end either his own life or hers, and denied any intention to commit suicide.

At the home of Dr. Van Deinse in Ridgewood it was learned that he had a wife and several children there. None of the family could be seen last night, but it was understood that they had received word of his death. The wife and children of Dr. Van Deinse live in an apartment house at the address that was obtained by the police, and on the ground floor of the same building is his professional sign, showing him to be a medical practitioner. From persons who were acquainted with the family it was further learned that Dr. Van Deinse came originally from Little Falls.

The father of Dr. Van Deinse, William F. Van Deinse, Sr., is the proprietor of a drug store at 274 Smith Street, Brooklyn. Associated with him in this business is a brother of the dead man, Louis Van Deinse. At the home of Dr. Van Deinse's father, 341 President Street, Brooklyn, nothing could be learned last night. The house was closed and none of the neighbors knew of the whereabouts of the family. It was learned that Dr. Van Deinse was graduated about ten years ago from the Long Island Medical College.

RIVAL STRIKERS FIGHT.

I. W. W. Bakers Attack Union Men and Many Are Beaten.

A mass meeting of the Industrial Workers of the World at Apollo Hall in Clinton Street, called to complete the organization of a rival union to the Kosher Bakers' Union, whose members are on strike, was attended by riotous scenes yesterday afternoon, when some of the strikers invaded the hall.

The I. W. W. speakers began to denounce the leaders of the strike and of the United Hebrew Trades which is supporting it. Louis Sales, Secretary of the new I. W. W. bakers' union, said that Max Kasimirsky, the principal strike leader, was rewarded by his union far in excess of his deserts. One of the leaders of the United Hebrew Trades, he said, was able to wear diamonds, and another had a salary of $50 a week out of the earnings of poorly-paid workers.

A band on the platform played the "Marseillaise" between the speeches, and special policemen were in the hall to keep order. Suddenly a large crowd of the striking members of the Kosher Bakers' Union burst into the hall and hooted and jeered whenever an I. W. W. man began to speak. The strikers shouted that the I. W. W. forces were filling the places of strikers.

A fight was started, and was carried to the street, where a large crowd collected. The special policemen were powerless when they tried to restore order, and a number of policemen from the Delancey Street station finally appeared and cleared the street, but not before a number of persons sustained serious bruises. One I. W. W. man was very badly beaten at Clinton and Broome Streets.

When order was restored the I. W. W. men and the strikers accused one another of starting the row. Some of them told of knives, revolvers, and blackjacks being used, but the police could find no evidence of such weapons.

HORSE IN AN EXCAVATION.

Tangled Up in Service Cables, and Has to be Hoisted Out.

For three hours—from 5 o'clock to 8—last night a horse belonging to the Phoenix Cheese Company of 345 Greenwich Street was in a twelve-foot excavation at Greenwich and Watt Streets. Kicking and struggling, it tore a mesh of cables belonging to the Edison Company and the Fire Department and others, and before it could be taken out some of the cables had to be cut away. No service was interrupted.

The driver of the horse had turned it over to a youth, James Gibson of 55 Clarkson Street, to take back to the stables. It was one of a team, and was a little frisky. The excavation is being made by the Consolidated Telegraph and Electric Company. No men were in the hole when the horse dropped into it. Its weight broke the harness, and this saved the wagon and other horse from being pulled in.

The S. P. C. A. men took charge of the rescue work, aided by firemen. They rigged a derrick, a man descended and fastened a cradle of blankets attached to ropes around the horse, and it was pulled up not much hurt.

WHITMAN WAS FOR GAYNOR.

That Was When Mayor Ran for Justice, He Tells Brooklyn Republicans.

District Attorney Charles S. Whitman surprised the Brooklyn Young Men's Republican Club at its dinner last night with reminiscences of his first days in politics, when he said he supported Mayor Gaynor, then running for the Supreme Court bench.

"Efficient Citizenship" was the title of the dinner, which was held at the Imperial, Red Hook Lane and Fulton Street, Brooklyn. The interest of the 500 diners was centred in the District Attorney. His entrance to the hall and his presentation to the diners occasioned applause lasting several minutes. In the course of his speech Mr. Whitman said:

"My first plunge into politics was when I campaigned for William J. Gaynor for Supreme Court Justice."

There was an outburst of laughter when the diners appreciated the pungent reservation contained in the rhetorical use of the pause in this statement, which follows:

"I was glad to support him, and I have never had reason to regret that I supported him—for the bench."

Preceding speakers were lavish in their praise of Mr. Whitman. Congressman William M. Calder said that he had made the city safer to live in. Controller William A. Prendergast mixed his compliments to the District Attorney with some good-natured satire on the amount of laudation which Mr. Whitman had received. The other speakers were Darwin R. James, Jr., President of the club, and the Rev. Nehemiah Boynton.

110 FINED IN CLEAN-UP.

Host of Janitors, Shopkeepers, and Property Owners in Court.

One hundred and ten janitors, storekeepers, and property owners were summoned to Jefferson Market Court yesterday morning for minor violations of corporation ordinances, and all were fined $1 by Magistrate Herbert. Most of the summonses were issued for persons leaving garbage cans uncovered, and throwing refuse on the street.

Magistrate Herbert again reiterated that he was heartily in favor of the plan to clean up the city, and said that he would be very severe with any persons brought before him for a second offense.
